Henry C. Beattie, Jr., Electrocuted for Murdering Wife

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 24.—Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., before his death in the electric chair at 7:23 a. m. today confessed to the murder of his wife. The statement was given out in the rotunda of a downtown hotel, as follows:

"I, Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., desirous of standing right before God and man, do on this the 24th day of November, 1911, confess my guilt of the crime charged against me. Much that was not true but the awful fact, without the harrowing circumstances, remains. For this action I am truly sorry and believing that I am at peace with God and am soon to pass into His presence, this statement is made."

Beattie's confession was followed by the following statement by the attending ministers:

"This statement was signed in the presence of the two attending ministers and is the only statement that can and will be made public by them. Mr. Beattie desired to thank the many friends for kind letters and expressions of interest and the public for whatever sympathy was felt or expressed."

In a torrential downpour of rain, the twelve witnesses to the execution toiled through the murky down up the hill from which the penitentiary looks down upon the city. They were conducted single file through gates of steel bars to the chamber where Beattie was to offer his atonement. There was no conversation.

Within the chamber all was in readiness. The chair, a solid structure of oak, would ordinarily have appeared like the chairs seen in scores of ill-faried throughout the land. In the somberly bare chamber, however, it was sinister. Straps dangled from its arms and back and shining steel clamps gleamed in the light of the electric like tentacles outstretched to clasp a victim.

Beattie Awaits Summons

The witnesses were seated, six abreast, in an angle of the room. They shuffled their feet uneasily and when one leaned forward to speak to another his action was received with frowns. Major Wood and two deputy wardens addressed the witnesses, going through some small formalities demanded by the law. Then with his two men trooping behind, he passed out into the building where Beattie awaited the summons in his cell adjoining.

From the death chamber the voice of the warden could be plainly heard reading to the doomed man the final summons. "The warden's voice droned on, it seemed to the witnesses, interminably. In reality the compliance with the law occupied only a brief moment. Then, with Beattie between them the deputy wardens began their progress toward the chair only a few feet away.

The Death Chamber

When the procession followed by Supt. Wood started a signal was given which plunged the death chamber into blackness save for a single light immediately over the chair. This was so hooded that it outlined the chair in a circle of blazing radiance, so intense that the remainder of the room seemed in utter darkness. The witnesses scarce could see each other. The prisoner saw nothing but the chair.

There was no delay in preparing for the end. Beattie took his place, the prison surgeon and the electrician adjusted the straps, a half dozen clamps were quickly thrown into place and snapped. The cap, resembling a leather football head harness, was adjusted and the men stepped back.

The warden raised his hand. Instantly Beattie's body stiffened with such violence that the straps creaked with the strain, the clamps rattled as though they were castanets in the hands of death and then that which once had been Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., relaxed. It was just 7:23 a. m. when the shock was applied. One minute later Beattie was dead.

The surgeon had gone forward and

The contested divorce case of David G. Rollins against Winston J. Rollins which was opened before Judge Irwin in the session of the divorce court yesterday afternoon was resumed at the opening of this morning's session. Mrs. Rollins entered suit on the grounds of desertion and later Mr. Rollins filed a cross-libel, also claiming desertion. Farley and Tierney appear for Mr. Rollins and Albert S. Howard for Mrs. Rollins. At the conclusion of the case the court dismissed both libels.

Mrs. Rollins testified that her husband left her on March 4, 1905, and that he has not lived with her since. At that time she and her three daughters were living with her mother. Her husband has not spoken to her since then with the exception of once, that being last winter when she went to see his mother who was sick.

On cross-examination Mrs. Rollins said she was married in 1883 and told of the different employments her husband had been in from the time they were married until he left her. She admitted that her mother had attended the hardware store which he conducted in Bridge street at one time and also that she (the mother) trusted his wife when he was working for an insurance company.

Mrs. Rollins was asked if she didn't lock her husband out of the house on the night of March 4. She answered that she locked the door at about 1:30 o'clock, but did not lock it in any unusual manner. She denied hearing any pounding on the door or rapping on her window on the night in question. She also said that she did not know that for several nights after that that he kept in the firehouse in Fourth street. She said that alone he left her that he never tried to have him return, neither did she ever apply to the court for separate support.

Mrs. Rollins admitted that two days after Mr. Rollins was left property by his mother that she caused the property to be attached.

Returning to the night of the alleged desertion, Mrs. Rollins said that her husband came home at 10 o'clock, remained in the house about half an hour and then went out. When he did not return at 11:30 o'clock she looked for him at the time. Two days later, on a Monday, he returned the key to his wife.

Mrs. May Belle Bradford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rollins, said she remembered her father leaving the house on March 4th and since that time she has not spoken to him.

Miss Eva Gertrude Rollins, another daughter, testified to seeing her father leave the house with a dress suit case in the morning of the day of the alleged desertion.

Mr. Tierney at this point informed the court that he and Mr. Howard had agreed that the property belonging to Mr. Rollins, which had been attached by his wife, is assessed at $6300.

Winston J. Rollins, testifying in his own behalf, said that he was in the hardware business for a couple of years, but was forced into insolvency about 1903. He said that after his marriage he and his wife went to live with his mother-in-law and that the latter furnished the house and he paid the household expenses. Witness wanted his wife to leave her mother's home and go to live in another place, but he said she refused to leave her mother.

Continuing, Mr. Rollins said: "As a general rule I visited the firehouse in Fourth street every night. On the night of March 4, 1905, I left the firehouse at about 10:30 o'clock and went to my house. I tried my key but could not turn the lock. Then I rang the bell and receiving no response went around the house and rapped on the windows, but being unable to arouse anyone, went across the street to the firehouse and slept there. I remained there for a week when I was notified that I would have to secure other sleeping quarters."

On cross-examination Mr. Rollins denied that he visited the house at about ten o'clock on the night of March 4th as testified to by Mrs. Rollins.

Major W. Wright, a former member of the Lowell fire department, testified to having seen Mr. Rollins try to get into his house on a night in March, 1905, and also that Mr. Rollins had spent several nights at the firehouse in answer to a question asked by Mr. Howard. Mr. Wright admitted that he had been the libellant in a divorce case brought during the early part of the week and that Mr. Rollins was one of the witnesses in the case.

After considering the evidence in the case Judge Irwin ordered both libels dismissed.

The Tell Tale Letter

The finding of a letter, supposed to have been sent to his wife, in his home in Cambridge, in March 1908, by John W. Bolster, caused the latter to play the part of a detective and in consequence of what he witnessed he advised his wife of being unloyal to him, their once happy home was broken up and a suit for divorce was entered and this morning the case was tried before Judge Irwin.

The libellant is John F. Bolster and the libellee who contests the divorce is Mrs. Edith J. Mason Bolster, formerly of Cambridge, but now of Jacksonville, Fla.

Mr. Bolster testified that he was married in September, 1903 and lived happily with his wife until March 25th, 1908 when he found a letter on the floor of their home. The envelope was missing and the letter started off with "My dear." He conferred with his brother and as a result they went to Cornhill street in Boston that night and after waiting for about half an hour Mr. Bolster said he saw his wife meet a man. The pair went to the restaurant of a Boston hotel and upon leaving went to a Chinese restaurant and then repaired to an office building in Cornhill street.

Mr. Bolster returned to his home and the next morning, in the presence of another person he said he accused his wife of having been in the company of a man the night before. He said she denied it at first, but later admitted the truth.

He further said that his wife gave him the name of the man whom she had been with. Judge Irwin asked for the name of the man, and the witness named him. Mr. Bolster said he immediately broke up his home and went to live with relatives.

Found for Plaintiff

The law case of Stahl vs. Gray, a suit on a note, was heard before Judge Irwin yesterday. William H. Bent appeared for the plaintiff and Mr. Gray appeared in his own behalf. Mr. Gray said he had signed the note as an accommodation and received no benefit from it. The court found for the plaintiff.

The Jury Session

The jury in the case of Thomas Fox, pro uni against Arthur P. Babcock, was charged this morning by Judge Morton and retired at 10:15 o'clock. The court then suspended sitting until Monday morning at which time a sealed verdict will be returned.

The plaintiff in this case, a small boy, fell through an opening in a piazza railing on the third floor of a tenement at 27 Rogers street on July 16, 1910 and was injured. J. J. and W. A. Hogan appeared for the plaintiff and John J. Harvey.

A STORY OF TRAVELS

AT HOME AND ABROAD IN SEARCH OF HEALTH

Interesting indeed are many of the statements made in connection with the introduction of the remarkable new tonic "Tona Vita" that is being introduced in this city.

Among such statements is the following interesting account of a prominent society woman, whose name is temporarily withheld from publication by request.

Upon ordering medicine over the telephone it was delivered to her by one of the specialists, who was sent here to introduce "Tona Vita."

"You see," she said, "I have been suffering from a complication of stomach trouble and nervousness. I have been to the east shore and abroad, and have been treated by several noted specialists on stomach trouble and nervous diseases. I was only relieved temporarily, but since taking your medicine—which consists of four bottles of 'Tona Vita' and two of 'Lobach's Laxative'—I feel so good that every day seems like a holiday to me."

"One must suffer to appreciate life to its fullest extent, and as I have suffered most of my life, now that I am well again I enjoy life so much more."

She is one of Lowell's wealthy society leaders, a prominent church worker, and gives very liberally to charity.

She is so thankful over her recent recovery of good health that she has for five bottles of "Tona Vita," which she has promised to distribute among the poor people who are suffering and cannot afford to buy medicine.

Many people seem to be amazed at the remarkable results which are made by the new remedy. Many cases of nervousness, stomach trouble, and general breakdown at from ten to fifteen years' standing are reported to have been relieved in a very short time. The satisfaction that it has given is truly gratifying in nearly every case.

Since the introduction, "Tona Vita" appears to have been a much sought-for article and it is due to the wide-awake business methods displayed by the Hall & Lyon Drug Co., that the remedy can be found on sale in this city.

"We are receiving many calls who complain of nervousness, stomach and bowel trouble, headaches, backache, constipation, cold feet, impaired digestion, spots before the eyes, dizziness, listlessness, sleeplessness, and depression of spirits, all of which are certain indications that they are suffering with debility."

"Many Lowell people who feel worn out, half sick and depressed all the time, but who in reality do not know what is really the matter with them are unquestionably victims of this malady, 'nervous debility.' It is an all-too-common complaint in all the large cities, and it is therefore likely to be found existing in any family here."

From 9 a. m. to 8 p. m., the specialists are meeting the public at the Hall & Lyon Drug Co., increasing interest marks each succeeding day in the introductory sale of this remarkable new tonic. Many visitors from outlying districts come each day expressly for the purpose of procuring the tonic.

Walden of Fitchburg, recent democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, expressing his approval of Mr. Walden's determination to investigate the alleged corrupt political practices in New Bedford at the state election.

The governor, in his letter, says:

"I am glad to learn that you are to investigate the alleged vote buying in New Bedford, for I believe you are in a position to render a great public service to the commonwealth by so doing. I shall co-operate with you personally and officially in every possible way. I shall also ask Gen. A. Williams, of the state police, to place his force at your disposal in searching out the sources of political corruption at New Bedford."

"I hope that your inquiry will not stop with the punishment of guilty voters, but will also overtake whoever may be responsible for the corrupt use of money in connection with an election in this state."

"Since the last state election my attention has been repeatedly called to the prodigious use of money at the polls in this state, particularly in the great number of paid workers employed and the virtual bribery of large numbers of voters under the pretext of paying them for the use of their conveyances. At the beginning of my present term of office I called the attention of the legislature to these campaign evils and I shall carry this matter much further in urging the next legislature to more drastic action."

WOMAN HAS $11,000

She Was Arrested on a Charge of Larceny

BOSTON, Nov. 24.—With eight bank books in her possession in addition to gold, silver and bills and diamond lockets, representing a total value of more than $11,000, Catherine McCann, aged 71, apparently very feeble and poorly clothed, was arrested about 5:30 yesterday afternoon in an anteroom department store charged with the larceny of seven shirtwaists valued at $31.50.

The arrest was made by Inspectors

Abbott and Knox, of police headquarters, after the woman had been followed by Miss Edith Thompson, a store detective. It is claimed by Miss Thompson that she followed the aged woman about the store more than half an hour until finally she went to the shirtwaist department. There it is alleged, she put the seven waists under her long cape.

The McCann woman was taken to the superintendent's office, where it is said the property was recovered. She was then turned over to the headquarters inspectors and taken to Pemberton square in a cab.

She was identified by Inspector Douglas, who was in charge. At first she denied having seen him but later admitted that Douglas had arrested her more than 15 years ago for shoplifting. It is alleged.

The bank books she had been carrying representing $10,600.54. The books are on the Industrial Trust company, Newport; People's Savings bank, Providence; City Savings bank, Fall River; two on the Fall River Savings bank; two on the Union Savings bank of Fall River; and one of the Savings bank of Newport. The books of the latter showed a deposit of more than $4000. The bank book entries indicate that on some days the prisoner had deposited as high as $400.

She also had $479 in bills, $17.50 in gold, $1.20 in English money and $2.42 in silver, nickels and cents. In a chain bag, which she wore suspended on a cord about her waist were found three diamond lockets, each worth about $100.

It is claimed by the police that the woman had a system for beating the large department stores and that she had been arrested through periodical raids.

Her method, so the police say, was to enter a store and steal all she could without detection. On the day or so following she would go to the stores from which she had stolen articles, offer the excuse that the articles were not just what she wanted and have cash refunded. The police think that in this part of the game she must have had the services of a confederate.

The woman said she lives in Fall River, but refused to give any street or number. The police of Fall River will be asked to make an investigation. In one of the bank books was the address 112 11th street, Newport, R. I.

KILLED HIMSELF

Man Was Refused Drink of Whiskey

BOSTON, Nov. 24.—Upon the refusal of a bartender to serve him another glass of whiskey, John T. King drew a thirty-eight caliber revolver from his pocket and pressing the barrel against his temple with a dramatic outburst declared, "Then I'll never drink again," pulled the trigger instantly, at the saloon of Doherty Brothers, 708 East Sixth street, South Boston, yesterday. He was about 50 years old, a carpenter by trade and of late had been lodging in the Commercial Point section.

About three months ago King tried to commit suicide in the Thomas N. Hart school, East Fifth street, by inhaling gas.

LARGE IMPORTS

OF PERFUMERIES AND COSMETICS INTO UNITED STATES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Twenty million dollars worth of perfumeries, cosmetics and other articles of this character were imported into, and exported from the United States in the last dozen years, and more than 2½ million dollars worth of it in the single year, 1911. This illustrates the great variety of articles now forming the international commerce of the United States and is an explanation of the constant demands made upon the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor for greater detail in its statements regarding this growing commerce.

A dozen years ago, in the fiscal year 1900, the total value of articles imported under the general title of "perfumeries, cosmetics, and all toilet articles" amounted to only a half million dollars, and the exports, one-third of a million. In 1906 the imports passed the million dollar line, and the exports passed the half million dollar line. In 1911 the imports exceeded 1½ million dollars and the exports for the first time exceeded one million dollars in value. Taking the 12 fiscal years beginning with 1900 and ending with 1911 the total value of articles imported under this general title amounted to $12,060,447, and those exported to $6,733,636. While the mere item of 2½ million dollars worth of this class of merchandise imported and exported in a single year forms but a very small part of the 3½ billion dollars value of foreign commerce in that year, the rapid growth indicates the increasing disposition of the citizen of the United States to draw upon all parts of the world for comforts and conveniences and of the citizen of foreign countries to look to the United States for articles of higher grade of manufacture and luxuries.

France supplies by far the largest part of our imports of the class under discussion. Of the 1½ million dollars worth of this class of merchandise imported in the fiscal year 1911, 1,113 million dollars worth came from France; Germany and England ranking next as sources of supply, but far below France, the total from Germany being $28,456, and from England, $52,195. The total number of countries, however, from which merchandise of this character is imported is over 30 and includes, aside from nearly all the European countries, Japan, China, Turkey in Asia, Cuba, certain other of the West Indies, and several of the countries of South America.

The exports under this head are even more widely distributed, the total number of countries and colonies to which articles classed as perfumeries and other toilet preparations are exported being more than 30, even

France, from which we draw such large quantities, buying more or less from the United States. To England we exported of this class of merchandise in the fiscal year 1911, $174,730 value; to France, $42,412; and to the other European countries in less sums. Canada was the largest customer, $174,736; Peru, $48,369; the Philippine Islands, $40,586; Panama, $37,410; Australia, $31,774; Cuba, $31,624; the British West Indies, $31,440; China, $29,292; and Brazil, $18,867; while considerable quantities went to Hongkong, the Straits Settlement, Japan, Colombia, Chile, Argentina, Ecuador and Venezuela.

The class of articles grouped under this general title of "perfumeries, cosmetics, and all toilet preparations" is chiefly made of cologne and other toilet waters, cosmetics, powders, toilet grease, paints, pastes, pomades, dentifrices, etc., nearly one-half of the total imports being placed in the tariff group, "containing alcohol, or in the manufacture or preparation of which alcohol is used," and imported at a rate of duty averaging 71.2 per cent, and about an equal value in another group, "not containing alcohol," upon which the average rate of duty is 60 per cent. Bay rum, which is included in this general class, amounts to less than $1000 per annum in value of imports.

ports, while the two great groups above noted range over a half million dollars each.

The growing demand for articles of this character is illustrated not only by the growth in imports and exports but also by the increased domestic production. The census reports show the value of manufactures under the general head of perfumeries and cosmetics, in 1880, 2½ million dollars; in 1890, 4½ million; in 1900, 7 million; and in 1905, over 11 million dollars, against a total importation in that year of less than 1 million dollars value.

WOMEN DOCTORS

STATE FEDERATION URGES APPOINTMENT AS INSPECTORS

BOSTON, Nov. 24.—At a meeting of the executive board of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs yesterday it was decided that as the federation is a state rather than a local organization, it is not advisable to sign a petition to the Boston board of health, advocating the appointment of women physicians as medical inspectors in the schools. The board recommended that the question of medical inspection in the state be referred to the public health committee of the federation, with instructions to advocate the appointment of a skilled physician, regardless of sex, in places where only one is employed, and the appointment of at least one woman physician where more than one is employed. It also recommended that all examinations of girls should take place in the presence of the school nurse, the school teacher or the child's mother.

For Cold Hard Cash

With the high hopes and fond aspirations of youth, the people of Lowell saw the Scott Tailoring Co. make their debut but a few short weeks ago. History makes fast. You saw their wholesome enthusiasm, their boundless ambition, their careless energy. Outwardly you saw all the characteristics that people have learned to admire and to associate with success. You didn't see behind the scenes—the internal structural weakness that renders enthusiasm, ambition and energy ineffectual—that blights hopes and aspirations, ere they pass the flimsy stage of dreams.

IT IS ONE THING TO OPEN A TAILORING STORE STOCKED WITH HIGH PRICED WOOLENS AND IT IS ANOTHER THING TO KEEP IT OPEN
IT IS ONE THING TO GIVE THE PEOPLE FANCY WOOLENS AT LOW PRICES AND IT IS ANOTHER THING TO MAKE MONEY ON THE TRANSACTION.
IT IS ONE THING FOR MITCHELL, THE TAILOR, TO MAKE A SUCCESS AND IT IS ANOTHER THING FOR IMITATORS TO IMITATE THAT SUCCESS.
NAPOLEON USED TO SAY HE KNEW 20 WAYS TO PUT AN ARMY INTO ENGLAND BUT NOT ONE WAY TO GET THE ARMY OUT AGAIN.

Minus the hopes, ambitions and aspirations of the Scott Tailoring Co., I today offer the people of Lowell this beautiful stock of woollens at Mitchell's prices. Bought originally to market for $15, $18, $20 and $25 to order, at these figures even the stock showed a loss to the Scott people. By the cold, hard cash route, Mitchell, the Tailor, acquires those same woollens and offers them at a price to net 5 to 7 per cent profit on the investment.

HARBOR IMPROVEMENT

Estimates of Amount of Money to Be Spent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Estimates for continuing the work of river and harbor improvement throughout the country, made public at the war department yesterday and covering the fiscal year ending June 30, 1912, show a strict adherence to the new administration policy of asking congress to appropriate only for those improvements which have received the approval of the army corps of engineers after the most thorough investigation. No new projects of any great importance are provided for in the estimates and unless congress takes the bit in its teeth and disregards the recommendations of Gen. W. H. Bixby, chief of engineers, the "pork barrel" method of river and harbor work will have been eliminated for a second year.

The appropriations asked for aggregate $29,623,698 as against $30,095,698 for the current year. The estimates will be sent to congress by the secretary of the treasury and President Taft in his message will urge that they be strictly adhered to. They are divided as follows:

Under continuing contracts, $12,114,988.
Rivers and harbors (general including Mississippi river commission, and examinations, surveys and contingents), $17,215,350.
Under California debris commission (expenses), $15,000.
Prevention of deposits in New York harbor, $153,260.
These estimates, it is explained, are intended to cover all the minimum requirements for the prosecution and maintenance of the various improvements. They were made up from estimates prepared on the same basis by the various district engineers, this being done to keep within the limited total estimates deemed advisable for the fiscal year of 1912 and on the supposition that river and harbor work will be provided for hereafter by annual appropriation. The estimates are to be divided between the river and harbor and sundry civil bills and are to be applied to 242 works.

General Bixby's Comment

In connection with the estimates General Bixby, chief of the engineers, says in part:

"Liberal appropriations are considered proper and desirable for snagging and other work necessary to make natural channels available wherever waterborne commerce exists or is reasonably prospective. It is believed that expenditures for such improvements are almost always useful and advantageous to the general public, especially since the introduction and rapid development of small gasoline motor boats for combined freight and passenger transportation. In many cases it is apparent that the failure to use a waterway is due not so much to lack of channel depth as to the presence of snags and other obstructions which can be removed at comparatively small cost, thus making the natural channel depths fully available throughout the year. When the boat commerce develops or its requirements become greater the existing clear channel will be in its best condition for further and more extensive improvements."

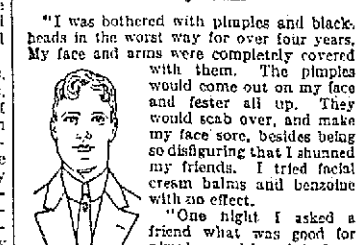

"Improvements adopted by congress, and not provided for in the estimates, have been omitted either on account of insufficiency of funds now available, on account of lack of urgency or of relative importance, on account of defective projects which were adopted many years ago and are in need of examination with a view to revision or abandonment, or in case in which recommendations for appropriations for new projects have recently been submitted to congress in special reports."

"Under existing law re-examinations of existing projects are made by the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors in compliance with resolutions by either the committee on commerce of the senate or the committee on rivers and harbors of the house of representatives; but these re-examinations are subject to the limitation that no enlargement of the scope of the project can be considered, so that desirable extensions of projects can not be recommended. It is believed that a similar provision of law authorizing the chief of engineers to cause a re-examination of projects, at least those not heretofore passed upon by the board of engineers for rivers and harbors, would be in the public interest. Projects reported in the river and harbor act of March 3, 1899, as unworthy of further improvement by the United States or considered by the chief of engineers as in need of revision could in this way be fully investigated, local interests could be heard, and formal report thereon made for the consideration of congress. It would seem advisable in connection with any such re-examination to grant authority to consider and report upon any modifications in the nature of enlargements in scope of projects believed to be desirable, when such modifications are recommended by district officers or otherwise brought

PIMPLES SO DISFIGURING HE SHUNNED FRIENDS

Face Completely Covered. Black-heads, Too. Lasted Four Years. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment and Face is Now Smooth.

"I was bothered with pimples and black heads in the worst way for over four years. My face and arms were completely covered with them. The pimples would come out on my face and fester all up. They would scab over, and make my face sore, besides being so disfiguring that I shunned my friends. I tried facial cream, balms and benzoline with no effect. "One night I asked a friend what was good for pimples, and he advised me to try Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment which I did. I would wash my face first with hot water and Cuticura Soap, and then put on some Cuticura Ointment. Let it stay on five minutes, and then wash my face again with the Cuticura Soap. It would draw the blackheads out as nice, and the pimples, oh say, it was one grand relief to go among my friends and be jolly again. After using two cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment, my face is as smooth as if there never had been a pimple on it. I cannot speak too highly of the Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and I hope others will profit by them as much as I have. I know they will after giving them just one trial." (Signed) Arthur E. Caswell, R. F. D. No. 2, Portsmouth, N. H., May 6, 1911.

Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold throughout the world, a liberal sample of each, with 32-p. book on the skin and scalp will be sent free, on application to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. 24, Boston.

to the attention of the department. "If desired by congress for its consideration in providing for new works, reports could be submitted by the board of engineers for rivers and harbors and the chief of engineers upon the relative importance of the various improvements recommended as worthy of being undertaken by the United States, the order in which the works should be taken up, and the rapidly with which they should be completed, upon methods of standardization by which the waterways of the country could be improved uniformly in proportion to their capacities and to the existing or probable demands of general commerce, or even report upon a systematic scheme of such improvement embracing all waterways, whether heretofore examined and reported upon or not."

HARVARD VS. YALE

Both Elevens are Ready for the Great Contest Tomorrow

CAMBRIDGE, Nov. 24.—Here for a dry field on which to play the 52nd football game between Harvard and Yale in the stadium tomorrow began to disappear at sunrise today when a southeast wind swept down on the Charles and thoroughly soaked a soil that had not fully recovered from last Saturday's downpour.

The only cheering prospect was the prediction of the weather bureau that the storm would be of comparatively short duration and that clear weather might be expected by afternoon and certainly tomorrow.

But the turf in the stadium is holed on the Charles river marshes and does not dry readily, so that at 10 a. m. today the field was almost as sodden as those on which Yale met her only defeat this year, at West Point and on Yale field.

It was the fervent hope of both teams that the culminating contest might be fought out on ground that was dry and ready responsive to quick work and sure footing, but with the rain today the odds on Yale, which were quoted at 5 to 3 last night, narrowed to 10 to 3, with many wagers at even money.

The rain seriously interrupted the final day's practice substitute for both teams. It had been expected that Yale would come over from Newton and spend two hours this forenoon in getting used to the lights and shades of the big amphitheatre, but with the downpour the Harvard management asked the visitors to postpone their visit and not tip the turf to pieces.

At 1 o'clock the matter was being debated by the coaches and the Harvard management.

A big demonstration was planned for the Harvard team this afternoon with thousands of the alumni joining the undergraduate body in marching to the field and cheering their team.

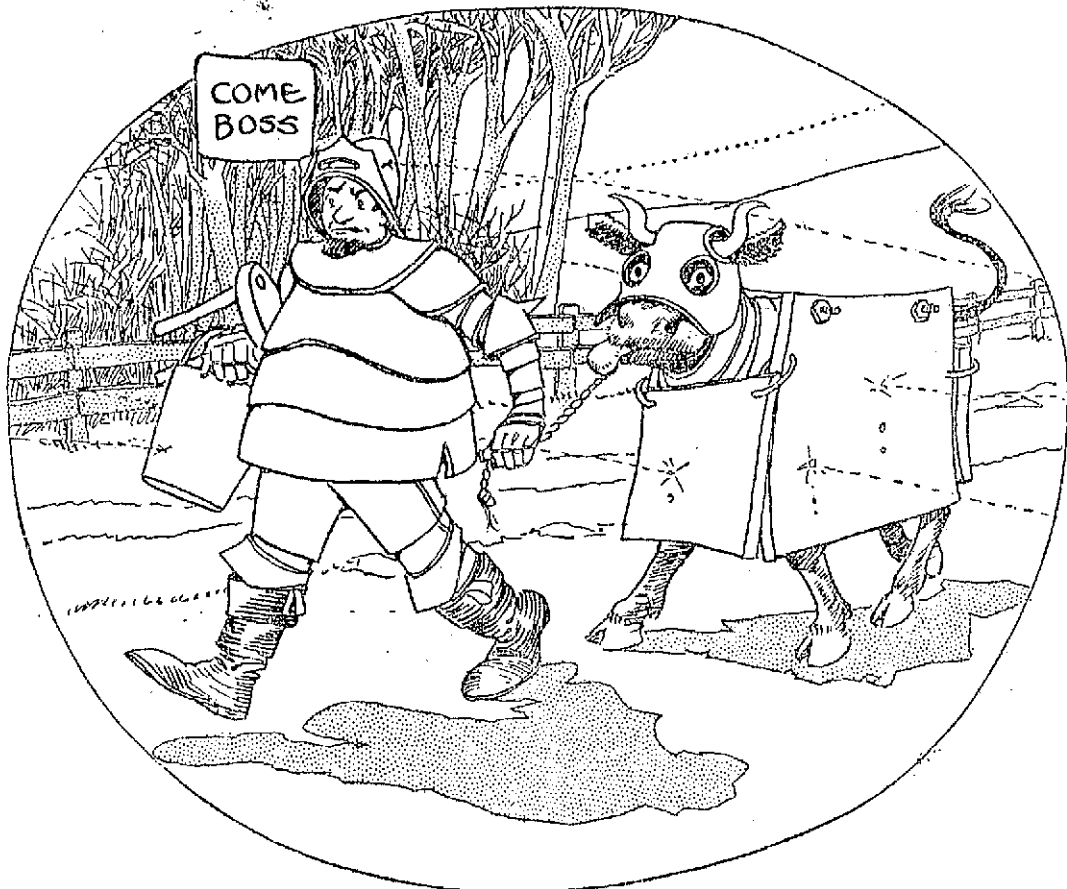

The hotel accommodations of Boston were extended to their utmost limits today and even then there was an overflow to the boarding houses, while nearly every restaurant was taxed to its limit.

It is estimated that three thousand automobiles will be parked about the stadium, while the Metropolitan park commission will let down the bars to the Charles river boulevard in order to prevent congestion in the narrow street in front of the stadium.

Football tickets were as scarce today as the proverbial hen's teeth, even speculators finding it difficult to acquire their customary lunches to flash complacently in front of the passersby. Quotations ranged from $10 to $20 a pair.

ACROSS FROM CITY HALL

COUNCILMEN LOSE

They are Legislated Out of Office

PITTSFIELD, Nov. 24.—Clerk of Courts Frank P. Cande received yesterday a rescript on the charter question from Chief Justice Rugg of the Massachusetts supreme judicial court, who upholds in every particular City Solicitor Warner's contention that the councilmen elected last year for two years are legislated out of office, and the chief justice orders a writ of mandamus to be issued requiring City Clerk Alfred C. Daniels to issue election warrants for two common councilmen from each ward.

After reviewing charter legislation last winter with special reference to sections 41 and 42 bearing on the case in question, the chief justice says:

"The charter as a whole does not warrant the construction that the councilmen, whose terms of office, but for the adoption of the new charter, would not have expired until the end of 1912, hold their offices notwithstanding the new charter. Such a construction would involve either (1) three councilmen from each ward for the year 1912, although heretofore the law permitted only two from each ward, and hereafter will permit only two from each ward, or (2) the election of only one common councilman from each ward at the municipal election for 1911. Either construction is untenable.

"The charter manifests the plain purpose that the number of common councilmen shall be two, and two only, from each ward. As has been pointed out, section 12 requires the election of two common councilmen from each ward at the municipal election of 1911.

"The inevitable conclusion is that under the provisions of the newly adopted charter the terms of all the common councilmen expire this year, notwithstanding the provisions of the previous charter, and at the election first held under the newly adopted charter that all members of the common council shall be elected—that is, to say, two from each ward. While the new charter is in most respects identical with the old, it is, under the form of said chapter 732, a new enactment adopted anew by the voters. Let a writ of mandamus issue requiring the city clerk to prepare and issue the election warrants for two common councilmen from each ward."

BROKE OPEN SAFES

But Burglars Did Not Get Any Loot

BURLINGHAM, R. I., Nov. 24.—Safebreakers visited this town during the night and after breaking open the safes in a two-story mill office, departed without a penny of loot. Today is payday at the Hope, worsted mills at Whipple and the anchor mills of the American Woolen company at Grantville and the burglars evidently believing the money to be in the safes, visited both offices and after blowing the doors off the two safes in the Hope mill and the strong box at the Anchor mill, two miles away, were able to find nothing of value in them. A box of private papers was taken from the Hope mill office but this was found beside the railroad track where the burglars had left it after discovering that the papers were of no value to them. In the Anchor mills an envelope containing a small amount of money and a small amount of stamps was overlooked by the burglars.

LAWRENCE FIREMEN

Dismissed from Dept. After a Hearing

LAWRENCE, Nov. 24.—Electrician Garfield Berry and hoseman Edward J. Noyes, were dismissed from the service at a hearing yesterday afternoon, following their suspension because of an incident growing out of yesterday morning's fire at 503 Essex street.

Chief Engineer Carey suspended the men and preferred charges in writing, alleging that they wilfully failed to notify Lieut. Smith of a hole in the cellar that he was approaching. The chief claimed that he saw the men nudge each other as the lieutenant neared the hole.

Smith said that he had warned some of the firemen and Daniel J. O'Neil, driver for Chief Carey, said that he had warned Lieut. Smith of the hole. Hoseman Hayes said that he heard Lieut. Smith warn some of the firemen of the depression. The charges were sustained and it was unanimously voted to dismiss the men. Hayes has been a member of the fire department several years and Berry was appointed about three years ago.

VERDICT OF GUILTY

Bosworth Convicted of Murder of Woman

BURLINGTON, Vt., Nov. 24.—A verdict of guilty, accompanied by a recommendation of capital punishment, was returned today by the jury that had heard the evidence in the case of Arthur Bosworth, charged with the murder of Miss Mabel Labelle at Essex Junction.

he told the court. "I was supposed to get up in the audience and disconcert one of the actors and then go on the stage myself. But I got so sick after passing the whiskers on that I had to go to the dressing room instead."

"Then I tried to take off the whiskers, but I found I could not get them off without pulling the skin, too. Some of the hair stuck to my face for days and my eyes were injured so I couldn't work for more than three months."

Bosworth, who is represented by a woman attorney, Mary Agnes Mahan, claims he sold Dolph cologne, which experts testified is harmless.

The arguments were finished yesterday.

HOW THE BOXING GAME WAS KILLED IN ENGLAND

By TOMMY CLARK.

FIGHT followers in England, according to present indications, are likely long to rue the day that Jack Johnson, world's heavyweight champion, last stepped foot upon English soil. Had Johnson not visited that country since winning the title from Jeffries he would never have been matched against Bombardier Wells, England's best heavyweight. And had that match never been made, notwithstanding that the fight did not take place, there never would have been the current agitation and action against boxing in general.

Viewed from every angle, excepting that of the greedy promoters, the match should never have been made. It was directly responsible for the starting of a crusade that long ago exceeded its original scope and has now practically clamped down the lid on boxing in England. Today only short distance bouts are really permissible in public places, although, of course, private rights are still held sacred. In other words, the National Sporting club and a few other organizations that are equally bona fide institutions, with a genuine membership, to which the bouts are restricted, are the only ones that can go ahead without fear or even certainty of interference.

In this country it is evident that the present situation is only partially understood and that it is not realized as being of so serious a nature as is actually the case. And until there is some amelioration in the laws or some loophole discovered in the existing phraseology there will be no open-to-the-public bouts of the English regulation twenty rounds—bouts like those Hugh McIntosh staged at the Olympia annex last season and that he had been counting upon during the approaching winter season. Anything that passes beyond the limitations of an exhibition or that savors of being a real, actual contest for supremacy is, for the moment at least, barred to the public generally.

That the Owen Moran-Jem Driscoll battle for twenty rounds, for which all preparations have been made at Birmingham, England, is eventually to fall through seems assured. In fact, court proceedings have already been instituted to prevent the two principals from committing a felony on the 2d of next month. The Moran-Driscoll fight possesses just the features that the reformers are most anxious to eliminate. It is for a large purse—one of the largest purses, in fact, ever fought for in England. It is a twenty round affair, and even the principals themselves would hardly have the courage to declare that it was an exhibition rather than a genuine mill, in which both men were anxious to put over a knockout punch.

The reformers have based their agitation and their alleged arguments very largely upon an assertion of theirs to the effect that boxing is brutal when it passes beyond the borders of a mere exhibition contest and that numberless deaths have resulted from this brutality of the prize ring. The actual figures, however, instead of being a further argument in their cause, work exactly the other way and show that deaths have been decidedly few and far between.

Dr. Charles W. Elliot, former president of Harvard, sailed for a long foreign tour recently. On board ship he talked with the reporters about college athletics. One of the press men asked the doctor if he had gone to the Princeton-Harvard football game. "No," the traveler replied. "I'm not interested. The game is too dangerous. It's not a good thing for colleges. You never hear of professional football games, and no college should have a sport that the professionals are afraid to play. Oh, yes, I believe it's more dangerous than prizefighting, because the injuries received in prizefighting are seldom as permanent as those got in football played by college elevens."

Well, well! There are apparently some things that even presidents emeritus of great universities do not know about sports. "You never hear of professional football games." No? We venture the statement that about everybody interested in athletics except Dr. Elliot knows there is professional football in all the English speaking countries of the world.

It would seem that Captain Anson was deserving of something better at the hands of the present club owners of the National league than to have Charley Murphy for his sponsor in his efforts to become president of the National league. Whatever chance Anson may have had vanished just as soon as Murphy went behind his boom. Incidentally Murphy should be familiar enough with conditions in his league to realize that there is not a chance for Anson, and he should not humiliate the veteran by announcing his candidacy.

Not since the dispute over Merkle's failure to touch second base in the baseball game which lost the pennant for the New York Nationals has the athletic world been so aroused as it is at present over the field goal by which Princeton defeated Dartmouth recently.

Wherever football enthusiasts gather, De Witt's kick is the center of discussion. Stories vary as to the antics which the ball performed, but the fact that it finally bounded between the goal posts and over the crossbar is indisputable.

It was an awkward moment for Referee Bill Langford when the incident occurred, for it must have been plainly evident that it meant trouble ahead whichever way he decided.

The rule is unmistakable on the point, however, and Langford was present at meetings of the intercollegiate rules committee where just such a possibility was considered. He decided that the kick completed the requirements necessary to score a field goal. Walter Camp, Parke H. Davis and other leading football authorities support him. Such an incident will probably never again happen on the football field, as the laws of chance and physics make it improbable that De Witt could make that kick again in 10,000 attempts. As a purely sporting proposition it seems no more than right that when such an improbable achievement is realized the credit should go to the side which kicked the ball.

Thus there is no good reason why Bill Langford should be criticised or the rule book changed.

In view of what occurred it is interesting to record a statement credited to Dr. James A. Babbitt, a member of the rules committee. Dr. Babbitt stated in Philadelphia recently that at a meeting of the football rules committee some one suggested a ruling for just such a play as occurred. According to Dr. Babbitt, the members of the committee considered the play an impossible one and laughingly dismissed the suggestion.

M. J. Thompson of Mount St. Mary's college, who refereed the game between Exeter and Andover academies, ruled just the opposite when the ball which Mahan of Andover dropped kicked, hit the ground after just clearing the rush line and then bounded over the bar. Thompson ruled it was a touchback.

To Capron of Minnesota belongs the credit of being one of the greatest quarterbacks the west has produced in years. He has all the speed, generalship and dodging ability of his predecessor, former Captain McGovern, and in addition has the build and weight which make him an invaluable player. Time after time he outran the fastest men on the Chicago team in the recent game and outguessed the shrewdest generals of the Maroon squad in placing his plays.

In checking the ends he always waited for holes. If he saw a hole inside of the end he took advantage of it before it could be filled by the Maroons, while if there was no hole in sight he went around.

All of this might have been done by a McGovern, but Capron in his line hitting did something McGovern never could have accomplished. Time after time the Minnesota quarterback plowed through the line unresisted and on one occasion staggered along for a ten yard gain, with no less than four Chicago tacklers hanging on him. His handling of punts almost is flawless. He seldom misjudges them and never misses them. In running back the ball his dodging comes into play, and this, aided by his use of the stiff arm and the manner in which he carries his weight, enables him to withstand shocks that would down a lighter man. He will be given the position on the all western team.

Captain Pickering of Minnesota Eleven, Who Is Accused of Professionalism

Present Day Fighters Lacking In Footwork

THOSE who regularly attend the boxing shows of today cannot have failed to notice one fact in connection with the modern glove artists. They all lack what is known as footwork. They have never been taught the art of stepping in and stepping back, which used to form the foundation or basis of the instruction in boxing as taught by the old time professors, such men as Mike Donovan, Billy McLean, Johnny Clark, Bobby Colbert and others of that school.

It is this lack of footwork which for the most part produces so much clinch-work can step in and step back in such a way that it is rarely that his opponent will be able to grab and hold him. It is a dangerous business to step in and clinch with a man who can hit hard and is quick on his feet. It is the proper play with such a man to keep just beyond his reach.

In the days of Young Griffo, that clever boxer, or his compatriots, Jack McAnulla, Charley McKeever, George Dixon, Joe Walcott or any one of a dozen boxers who knew how to use their feet, asked nothing better than to have a man rush into close quarters with them. Griffo especially would get himself for such a man and before he could get away would land half a dozen punches that would cut the rusher to ribbons. Then Griffo would get out of reach and the baffled boxer, who had been a punching bag for him, would be "up in the air." The majority of the younger generation of boxers seem to be able to step in well enough, but then they anchor and come to a clinch, and this fault makes many of them really second raters, who, if they could use their feet as well as they do their hands, would be top-notchers.

Chief Meyers Didn't Need to Warm Up—He Never Cooled

DURING a fanning bee in a St. Paul theater recently, before Bill Brennan, the National league arbitrator, was due for his monologue act, he told of several amusing incidents of the season, one of them concerning Chief Meyers, the Giants' regular catcher.

As Bill tells it, the Giants were playing the Cardinals at St. Louis, with the sun beating down as only a July sun in Missouri can come down. It was about time for the game to commence and McGraw had finished his task of hitting grounders to the infield and was on his way to the bench when he noticed Meyers hadn't donned his mitt.

"What's the matter, Chief? Aren't you going to warm up? You know you are going to catch."

"Warm up," cried the Chief. "Why, I have never cooled off since the 12th of April."

ing and hugging in the boxing contests. The men are eager to get into close quarters and they step in fast enough, but they do not know how to get away, and they clinch and hold until the referee warns them to break or until they are separated by that official. Now, a man who has been taught proper foot-

FOOTBALL conditions in high schools and colleges are radically different, as the candidates for freshman honors will readily testify. In preparatory school a man often is coddled along, merely because he happens to possess some ability. In college no one is worked harder, abused more or has his faults pointed out with more precision and openness than the star player. There is no letup on account of a good performance and coaches are geniuses for discovering defects in what, to the majority of spectators, seems a perfect performance.

Work of the freshman often is as severe as that of the candidate for the "regular" team. In the conference colleges and indeed in most schools throughout the country, the yearlings are taught from five to seven times as many formations as are the varsity men, and, although they are not expected to perform them flawlessly, they must go through them in a manner which will keep the varsity men guessing at all stages.

Before every game the coach of the freshman team, usually some former star player of the school, is sent to see the coming opponent in action. There he watches closely for new formations and returning he gives these formations to his charges. "They are drilled in them one or two days and then sent against the varsity. Each new formation requires a new set of signals and this in itself is no slight work. The varsity men are sent out to break up these formations and in order to lighten the burden freshman players usually are called by the names of the men whose positions they are playing on the coming opponents. The slightest tendency on the part of the varsity players to go slow or to let the freshmen off easily is called to task by the coaches, so naturally they go at the freshmen as they would at the team against whom they are supposed to be playing.

"Substitutes are trying to make good," declared a freshman player recently, "and they don't have any mercy on us whatever. The varsity men will 'lay down' once in awhile and give us a little rest, but the substitutes always want to make a good appearance and we are the sufferers. I would rather go through three scrimmages against the varsity than one against the substitutes."

Days when the freshman was looked upon as a necessary evil to college life are passing, at least on the football gridiron, and the youngsters are assuming an importance second to that of no other class. One of the most famous of western football coaches recently declared all the success his teams had met with in the last four years was directly attributable to the freshmen, and further declared that without the assistance of the yearlings his team never would have won a game.

There are many stories of varsity scrummages with the freshman teams and usually the tale is of disaster to the yearlings. Once in awhile, however, the freshmen turn the tables and soundly trounce the older and more experienced players.

Since the rule prohibiting interfreshman competitions the lot of the youngsters is not pleasant. The youngsters are obliged to go through a season of football work fully as wearing as that given the varsity candidates without the pleasure of competition, and often the only reward they secure, besides their class numerals, is a trip to one of the "big games" played by the varsity, which they are permitted to watch from the grand stand.

No man with a vestige of business in him can withstand the work of a freshman football season, for it is all work and no play, and the best the beginner can expect from his coaches is to pass unscathed. Once in awhile a freshman player is hailed as a coming star, but in the great majority of instances he escapes any notice save an occasional "bawling out" by the teacher of the team.

Day after day they are called to go up against men who have had from two to three years more experience than they, who outweigh them and who have attained their full strength, and they must fight these men with all their strength and occasionally outplay them.

Football coaches are forever prying promising material to "come out" for football, and usually the freshman squad outnumber the varsity two to one for the first week or two of the season. Gradually there is a thinning out, however, as the unpromising are dropped by the coaches and the less courageous leave of their own accord. By midseason there are few more men on the yearling team than on the varsity, and each of these has earned his place by as great an effort as that expended by any of the older men. At the end of the season the score or more who have retained places on the squad have fully earned the class numerals awarded them, and the letters of the freshman class often are as great an honor on the campus as is the college letter.

Whatever may be said of football as a college sport, freshman football is one of the most valuable courses one athletically inclined can take, according to this coach, and the man who goes through the season has the making of a player in him. The average college freshman just from preparatory school, where he was clothed in the difficulty of senior, usually has an advanced case of self esteem, and this is especially true if he has starred in any form of athletics or has been a prominent figure in his school. He enters the college with the idea that he amounts to something and usually it is a hard thing to remove this idea—unless he goes in for football.

Stars In Some Sports Often Fail In Others

"I HAVE heard of many cases," says an old time athlete, "of men who were accused of being quitters solely because they couldn't make good in one sport as they had in another. For instance, there was a lad at Pennsylvania, well known for his ability as a water polo player, who simply fumbled in football. Water polo is no child's game, and this man could stay below with the best and rough it as hard as any one. Still, when it came to football he wasn't there."

"Pennsylvania had also the case of a first rate sprinter, a real champion at the dashes, who showed all the courage in the world at anything up to a quarter of a mile, no matter how hard he had to go, and still in a football suit couldn't get up his courage to go at the tacklers. He had what has been described as the sprinter's natural hesitation—the desire to save his legs. "In the football days at Columbia there was a fellow who was a first class bicycle rider, as daring as they make them and an adept at basketball, another rough sport. He tried to play end on the football team, but gave it up because, as he said himself, he could not get his feet off the ground. The dive tackle was an impossibility to him. He said he couldn't rid himself of the dread of letting loose at the man with the ball."

"Columbia, too, had a man who was reputed yellow in football and afterward went out to row. A graduate came to Coach Rice, who put this man in his boat, and said: "Rice, that fellow's a quitter. Better get him out." For answer Rice put the crew through a rough time row, bringing the graduate along with him in the coaching launch. After the exhausting trip, in which both men watched the man all the way, Rice turned to the other man and said, "Well, is he a quitter?" And the graduate had to admit there wasn't any yellow in the man in question. The oarsman rowed in two of the toughest races Columbia has had in recent years and never showed the least sign of cowardice.

"I've heard of a case at Yale of a man who was a champion hurdler, but football showed him up. He simply could not carry the ball, fast though he was. It is football that furnishes the hardest test of these men who excel in other lines of sport. There seems to be a special sort of courage required of men for football and another in other games."

"Two known men who were arrant cowards as far as fighting was concerned who ran the most bruising races on the track and never displayed the least unwillingness to punish themselves. They probably suffered more than they would have if they had been in a fist fight, but they couldn't get themselves to face the idea of a personal encounter."

ALEXANDER GREATEST PITCHER OF YEAR, SAYS GRIFFITH

CLARK GRIFFITH says the greatest pitcher he's seen in the National league this season is Alexander of the Philadelphia Nationals. "He not only has everything," says the Little Fox, "but he's game to the end of it. You couldn't land his goat with a regiment of cavalry."

"I tried it in my first mixup with the Phillies last spring. Alexander was pitching and the count 1 and 1 in the tenth round. We were at bat with the first man up, and three balls drifted by. "That's why no one wanted you last fall," I passed him on the coaching lines. "They tell me up in Syracuse the yellow is a foot thick. You're gone now, you big quitter."

"That's where I made my mistake," continued Griffith. "This kid walks with in about ten feet of third base and hands me this: 'Say, you big, fat headed boob, you never saw a regular pitcher work before. Why, you big stiff, I'll show you something now you never heard of before. Take a look at this,' and all he did was to shoot the next three over, strike out his man and beat us 2 to 1 in sixteen innings. He'll be the greatest pitcher in either league before long, and there won't be any one out there after his goat. Not more than once anyway."

DIXIE IV. TO COMPETE ABROAD

MECHANICIANS AT WORK ON DIXIE BEFORE STARTING IN RACE

THE fast motorboat Dixie IV., which was severely damaged through running ashore while racing at Buffalo recently, will be taken abroad this winter and raced at Monaco and other places. The country will be represented at the Monaco races if present plans are carried out. The dates for the Monaco meeting have been set for April 1 to 15 and will be usual commencing with an exhibition of competing yachts. Already it is certain that the entries will outnumber those received last year, and seven new fast boats are reported to be building on the other side of the races. Among these will be a new first class racer for the Baron de Caters, the Belgian aviator. An innovation in the shape of a special class for auxiliary yachts will be introduced next year.

ASSAULT ON OFFICER

His father was on the right side and he went over to the left. Officer Lynch arrested him and brought him over to the box. Then the crowd scattered. The three men were intoxicated.

Officer Frayley was then called, and he testified to going with the wagon on to a call in Centralville at 11:15 o'clock on Nov. 11. He said he handcuffed both Daigle and the father, and the latter also tried to strike Officer Lynch in the wagon, but the son finally quieted his father and they were both taken to the station.

When cross examined by Lawyer Donahue, the witness said Officer Lynch was not intoxicated on that night, for he examined him after Daigle, Sr., had made a charge that the patrolman was drunk. When questioned if anyone struck Daigle, Sr., in the wagon, he answered "No." He also stated that Daigle, Sr., was not staggering when taken out of the wagon.

Captain Atkinson, who does night duty in the station, testified that he saw the two Daigles in the station. Their breath smelled strongly of liquor, they were staggering and they were both drunk. He saw the officer's head which was bruised and said his eye was bloodshot and his coat bloody. Relative to Houde, the captain said he saw him for the first time in the superintendent's office on the following Sunday evening.

Supt. Welch was then sworn in and he testified as follows: "I saw Houde when he was brought in by Inspector Laffan and Officer O'Brien on the Sunday following the assault. I questioned him about what happened the evening before and he told me he struck him. He admitted kicking the officer, but said it was when he was standing, and that he kicked him in the legs. He also said he did not want to be arrested and therefore did not go home that night, but went to a friend's home and spent the night there, drinking about 12 bottles of beer."

This concluded the testimony for the government and eight witnesses were sworn in for the defense. The first one called to the witness stand was Ernest Daigle. He said he was talking business with a man named Bazin near the lunch cart in Lakeview avenue. His son Oscar went by and asked him if he was coming home. At this point Officer Lynch came along and grabbed the boy and threw him down. Both of them fought for a while and then Officer Lynch came along. Both officers struck my son and then I told them there was no use of killing him to arrest him. They took him to the box and then Officer Noonan returned, grabbed me and struck me on the head with his stick. He broke my hat and glasses. I did not see anyone strike the officer, and I did not strike him. The witness then showed marks on his leg and thumb, which were caused, he said, after he was in the wagon. He said he never interfered with the officer or tried in any way to prevent the arrest.

On cross-examination the witness said he took one glass of beer during the evening. He said the officer came along at about 11 o'clock. He also stated he was coming from his shop in Hall street. He denied that his son was drunk. "My son," continued the witness, "was with me about a half minute when the officer came along." He said he did not recognize Houde that night. He did not hear the officer say a word before grabbing his son. He admitted being before the court and fined $20 for assault and battery. He said he has been living in Lowell 23 years and that he is a plumber by trade, and he also stated that it was in his shop that Gailfoux was murdered. He said the officer struck him with a club in the wagon.

The next witness for the defense was Moses Houde. His testimony was partly as follows: "I was coming out of the lunch cart on the night of the alleged assault, and Officer Lynch was going up Lakeview avenue with a drunken man. The officer returned and punched me, saying: 'Move along, I moved away, and the officer jumped on Oscar Daigle and said, 'I'll take you in.' They both went down. There was no loud talk around the place and young Daigle was not drunk. There were four people near the lunch cart. I tried to get Daigle away from the officer and in so doing, I kicked him on the shin bone. The other received his injuries on the head when he fell, his head coming in contact with the car stone. I did not see Daigle strike the officer before the latter caught him." When cross-examined the witness said he had two glasses of beer during the evening, one at 7 o'clock and the other at 10:30 o'clock. He denied kicking the officer in the face, but admitted kicking him in the leg.

Oscar Daigle, testifying in his own behalf, said he was talking with his father near the lunch cart, but was not making any noise or creating any disturbance. "The first thing happened," continued the witness, "was when the officer grabbed me by the shoulder and threw me down. I did not say one word. There were four men talking, but they were not obstructing the sidewalk. I did not strike the officer with my fist; he had hold of me and I had hold of him. Both officers called me 'crazy.' As to his injuries, he might have received them when he fell on the sidewalk. I only had two beers during the evening."

When questioned as to why the officer should cause his arrest, the witness said Officer Lynch has it in for him, for about a year ago he (Daigle) prevented the officer from arresting a man in his home without a warrant. The witness also admitted being once fined $20 for assault and battery and $10 for drunkenness.

Omer LaSalle was then called to testify and he said he was standing near the lunch cart when the trouble occurred. He heard the officer say "move," and then he saw him grab Oscar Daigle. The latter was not staggering and there was no noise. He did not see any blow struck on the part of the Daigles. When asked how many drinks he had that night, the witness answered he never touched it.

At this point the court adjourned, and the case was continued till Monday morning.

Drunken Offenders

The drunken offenders were not very numerous; five of them were brought before the court and out of this number four were fined $2 apiece, while the other, a second offender, was fined $5.

William Tighe, who yesterday admitted his guilt of drunkenness, and whose sentence had been deferred till today, was this morning fined $2 and ordered to furnish bonds in the sum of $100 to keep the peace for a term of six months.

Larceny

Napoleon Lacourse, charged with drunkenness and larceny of a pair of cuff buttons, the property of the Knox Five and Ten Cent store, entered a plea of not guilty. After hearing the testimony of Mr. Chas. H. Miller, manager of the store, and two clerks, the court found the defendant guilty and imposed a fine of $15.

Capias Issued

Hugh McKay, who was arrested on a charge of assault and battery on his wife, and who was bailed out, did not show up this morning when the case was called, and a capias was issued for his arrest.

THE SPENCER CASE

Will be Given to the Jury Tomorrow

SPRINGFIELD, Nov. 24.—The case of Bertram G. Spencer, on trial in the Hampden county superior court for the murder of Miss Martha B. Blackstone in this city, will go to the jury tomorrow. After an early recess today court and counsel held a brief conference, at the conclusion of which it was expected that the final arguments would be made this afternoon and the judge's charge to the jury would be deferred until tomorrow.

The government's case in rebuttal ended today and the defense put on a few witnesses in its rebuttal. The first witness of the day was Dr. Fuller, one of the government's alienists, whose cross examination was taken up. Yesterday, on direct examination, Dr. Fuller said that, in his opinion, Spencer knew right from wrong, knew that there was a penalty for wrongdoing and was not prompted by impulses that were irresistible. He characterized Spencer as a high grade lunatic. Under cross examination, the witness explained what was meant by the term "high grade imbecile." The government's last witness was another alienist, Dr. Tuttle, medical superintendent of the McLean hospital for the insane at Waverley, Mass. Dr. Tuttle testified that after making two examinations of Spencer and considering all the evidence in the trial he was of the opinion that the prisoner knew right from wrong and was not governed by irresistible impulses. Spencer created no disturbance at the forenoon session today. He hardly looked at the witnesses and seemed to be uninterested in their testimony.

A square deal for the city and the citizens will be James E. Lyle's, the jeweler, policy if elected.

Italy May Attempt to Dictate Them

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 24.—Neutral commerce is seriously threatened by the proposed blockade of the Dardanelles by Italy and Turkey's consequent defensive measures. The ambassadors of the foreign powers here are conferring on the subject, as it is believed that Italian action will not be delayed much longer. It is thought that Italy may even try to force the Dardanelles and dictate her terms of peace at Constantinople.

LYNN, Nov. 24.—Mrs. George Taylor, 45 years old, of 82 Chestnut street, this city, was killed by the Maine express from which she was alighting in the Central station at 8.45 o'clock last night. She was returning from Portland, where she had been to visit a sick sister and it is believed she attempted to get off the train before it came to a full stop and slipped. Her body fell under the wheels. No one witnessed the accident it is said. She was alive when picked up, but she died in the ambulance on the way to the Lynn hospital. She is survived by a husband and several children.

RAWSON BEATEN

Was Counted Out in Fifth Round

FALL RIVER, Nov. 24.—Freddie Yelle of Taunton won over Tommy Rawson of Boston last night in the fifth round of a bout that was slated to go 12. The climax came when Yelle had whipped a stinging left to the Huber's stomach.

There was a howl of protest from Rawson and his seconds, for it appeared to many at the ringside that the referee was too speedy in his counting. There is no question but what Rawson was on the mat when the count of 10 sounded. In another instant Rawson was on his feet and eager to continue, but the referee had left the ring.

The spectators protested that Rawson was justified in putting up the kick that he did. In the first four rounds the fighting was terrific at times with Yelle having the advantage in the third round, although a slight one. The other three rounds were even. Rawson was the aggressor but lacked steam in his blows while Yelle's lefts and rights counted in the highlighting.

Young Brosseau of Attleboro won over Kid Willets of this city in eight rounds, the Attleboro lad being by far the more clever and his jabbing won the decision.

Jack Minor stopped Kid Tessler, both of this city, in the third round, Tessler quitting.

LAWRENCE BOUTS

LAWRENCE, Nov. 24.—Three star-bouts were the card at the Unity club here last night. Al Limerick of Haverhill and Tom Flanagan of Cambridge fought 10 fast rounds to a draw. Bonnie Green of Boston quit in the second round of a scheduled 10-round bout to Dick Pollard of Maine. Steve Kennedy of Lawrence and Albert Yelle of Boston ended in the fifth round when Kennedy, it was claimed, fouled Yelle and the latter was awarded the decision by the referee. About 700 fans attended.

HURLEY WINS EASILY

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 21.—After he had defeated Jim Smith, the Westchester farmer, in a 10 round to hero last night, Bill Hurley of Glens Falls was touted as being ready to fight any middleweight in the country. Manager Miller said he would post $1000 for a fight for Hurley to fight anywhere and any time.

Hurley had the better of Smith in the whole 10 rounds and several times the sounding of the gong was all that saved Smith from going down. Hurley sent in the cleaner punches and he also displayed much better ring generalship.

Both men were well cut up. It was a hard battle for both and the crowd was sprinkled all over the floor. Smith's eye and nose were cut and his lip split open, while Hurley's nose bled profusely and at times interfered with his work.

BATTLING DOWNEY WINS

ADAMS, Nov. 24.—Batling Downey of Adams got the decision by a narrow margin over Tony Marozzo of Boston in 12 hard, fast rounds before the North Berkshire A. C. here last night. Marozzo shadowed Downey during the first six rounds, but in the seventh Downey took the aggressive and showed improvement.

Marozzo used a strong left jab, which landed on his opponent's face with considerable force and aggravating frequency. Downey seemed unable to get away from it. Downey's work was more deliberate and his heavy right and left swings to the head and body were landed with telling effect. Downey came up particularly strong in the last round.

Young Foster and Young Lamouroux, both of Adams, went six fast rounds to a draw. Kid O'Neil and Young O'Hearn, both of Adams, went four rounds to a draw.

If elected, James E. Lyle, the jeweler, promises the city the same attention that has made his business a success.

YALE STUDENTS

STARTED FOR CAMBRIDGE THIS AFTERNOON

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 24.—There was a general exodus of students from Yale this morning, all bound for Boston to he early on the grounds for the Yale-Harvard game tomorrow. Yale men are sanguine of the outcome of the contest. Few here were willing to give odds, however, but plenty of spare cash will be carried to Cambridge for wagering.

BANKERS ASSOCIATION
NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 24.—Detroit today was selected as the meeting place of the 1912 convention of the American Bankers association, in session here. The time of the next convention will be named by the executive council at its meeting in the spring.

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

The sworn daily average circulation of The Lowell Sun for the year 1910 was

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilote, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 2, 1911. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.

Chancellor Lloyd George favors woman suffrage and promises that a bill extending the franchise will be passed next year. That should silence the militants for a while.

Already the local stores are getting ready their wares for the Christmas shoppers. They evidently expect the holiday trading to begin early. The sooner the better for everybody.

Governor Foss' stand pat republican council has dropped Prof. Dropers and several other appointees of His Excellency. The members evidently feel that they don't need any more dropers.

Lowell will hereafter be regarded as a great centre for the woman suffragists. But of what good will the added vote of the women be if they all vote as directed by their husbands, fathers or brothers?

The counters for the primaries next Tuesday will have a tedious job. With 130 officials on the ballot and 27 precincts, the task may be imagined. Then the special ballot for women on the school board will complicate matters still more.

Col. Watterson's advice as to the proprieties of the journalistic profession strikes the ideal that we can hardly hope to see realized. We do not believe that even the Louisville Courier-Journal of which he is the editor comes anywhere near the high standard set by the colonel. But it is well, however, to have a high standard toward which every effort is directed.

THE PRIMARIES IN LYNN

According to the Lynn item the primary election of last Tuesday did not bring out a large vote. Only a few offices were to be filled and there were less than a dozen candidates. After all we may have reason to rejoice rather than bewail the large number of candidates seeking office under our new charter. There are but two members to be elected to the Lynn council, for the water board and public property department, and two members of the school board. Had there been a contest for mayor there would have been more general interest, although the mayor under the new charter is little more than an ordinary member of the municipal board. His distinction gives him very little additional power.

THE LAUGH IS ON MAYOR FITZ

The whole state is laughing at Mayor Fitzgerald and other officials of Boston who have been entertaining a certain Judge De Clamency, known as Duke De Novers. This delightful gentleman came loaded down with French titles of nobility. He even was honored by sitting on the bench with the presiding judge of the municipal court. All went well until it was found that this "nobelman" was having bogus checks passed upon the Touraine hotel where he was an honored guest. After getting into the hotel to the tune of $100 he was brought up before Judge Sanderson, who adjudged him to be a common and notorious thief and sentenced him to not less than six nor more than ten years in prison. It is understood that he had been paying attention to several young heiresses and but for the rudeness of the police who had him sent to prison, he might have "copped off" a whole fortune and got the heiress thrown in. He certainly made a great impression in cultured Boston.

THE LOS ANGELES CONTEST

In the election at Los Angeles on December 5 the women may decide upon the question of experimenting with socialism. The city is committed to very extensive projects of municipal ownership, such as harbor improvements, aqueducts, street railways and plants to supply power. To complete these enterprises eighteen million dollars in bonds must be sold, but if the socialists get control at the next election it is argued that the success of these undertakings will be jeopardized. For this reason there is considerable anxiety as to the outcome of the election as $3,000 women have registered for the purpose of having a share in the decision of these great problems. It is alleged that certain college women in Los Angeles are appealing to the women in favor of the socialistic theory which seems to meet their approval. Job Harriman, one of the attorneys now defending the McNamara's, is the candidate for mayor and George Alexander, the present mayor, is seeking re-election with the endorsement of the Good Government Association. There is a sentiment in favor of a change that will be progressive and it is possible that the army of women voters will try to sustain socialism as promising the "municipal Utopia" which the women long to bring about. There is danger that the independence, the initiative and responsibility of the individual may be sacrificed for theories that promise much but which wherever tried are disappointing in results.

PAY OF POLICE OFFICERS

It is not surprising of course that the police officers of this city are agitating for an increase in wages in view of the great increase in the cost of living. No doubt they feel the effect of high prices like every other class of wage earners. At present the policeman's pay is $2.75 per day. A great many cities and towns pay more and a considerable number also pay less. The city of Worcester, we believe, pays the same rate of wages, while Fall River pays $2.92 per day, but neither city has adopted the pension system.

If conditions favored an increase of pay for the police department at the present time, we should be sorry to utter a word against it, but unfortunately the present status of the municipal finances does not warrant higher wages for the employees of any department. It was on this ground that a demand for two dollars a day for employees of the park department was recently turned down. The street department wants more money for necessary work but cannot get it. Besides, there are other employees of the city, including clerks and school teachers, who are entitled to consideration in any proposition to increase wages in the city departments. The time may soon come when this question will be taken up and passed upon with fairness to all concerned, and yet with due regard to the city's financial resources. The police board should let this question of increasing wages await the pleasure of the new city government.

SEEN AND HEARD

Judge Fessenden, who is presiding over the session of the superior court without juries at the local court house in Gorham street this week, is a strict as well as an efficient jurist and yesterday morning surprised those in court by issuing a verbal order excluding all but members of the bar from sitting within the enclosure in the court room.

A clergyman, who is interested in charitable work in a poor quarter of New York, was listening on one occasion with much interest to a woman who proudly told him of the reformation of her husband's character. "John's got a new job," said she, enthusiastically.

"That's good," said the clergyman. "What is he doing?" "Oh, it's a fine job," repeated the woman. "He's boring worms into antique furniture."

Lord Curzon, when a young man at college, once found his hand written "Only one BROMO QUININE" Look for the signature of E. W. GROVE. Used the World over to Cure a Cold in One Day. 25c.

ing stand him in good stead. Writing two letters, one to a relative, the other to a chum, he enclosed them in wrong envelopes. It chanced that in the second letter he had made some uncomplimentary reference to his relative, and on discovering the mistake he had made he awaited developments with anxiety. There presently came a letter from the uncle. "I have tried hard to decipher your epistle," it ran, "but your writing is so atrocious that I cannot make head or tail of it. However, I guess the drift of it to be that you need some money, you rogue, so I enclose a check."

"Yes," dogs are undoubtedly sagacious animals," Jones said to his friends, "but none of your dog stories will beat this. My friend Johnson had a most intelligent retriever. One night Johnson's house caught fire. All was instant confusion. Old Johnson and his wife flew for the children and bundled out with their pretty sharp. About one of the children had been left behind but up jumped the dog, rushed into the house, and soon reappeared with the missing child. Everyone was saved, but Rover dashed through the flames again. Presently the noble animal reappeared, scorched and burned with—what do you think?"

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Courier Citizen: "The Malden health authorities have inspected the Chinese laundries and ordered five of them cleaned up. Laundries, barber shops and bakeries everywhere should be closely supervised by those employed to look after the public health and kept up to a proper hygienic standard. Modern sanitation demands such inspection and it should be constant and thorough."

LOWELL SUFFRAGETTE FAME

Lawrence Telegram: Lowell promises to be a stronghold for suffragettes. Since the new charter went into effect this fall in that city over 5500 women have registered as voters. The women only vote for school committee but apparently they are desirous of using the ballot and will undoubtedly become active workers in the woman suffrage cause. The women of Lawrence have the same privilege under the new charter here, but apparently they were not as anxious to vote as the fair sex in Lowell. The women will not have an opportunity to register here before the preliminary election as there will be no registration after Nov. 19, consequently there will be few women voters at the preliminary election.

PENNYPACKER'S BOOK

Johnstown Democrat: Ex-Gov. Pennypacker has gratified his enemies by writing a book which is a severe indictment of him than any of them would have thought of attempting. His efforts to exculpate his administration in connection with the building and furnishing of the Palace of Grant is in the last degree an offense against decency and the truth of history.

The great mistake in prosecuting the men involved in that monstrous conspiracy was in failing to make Samuel W. Pennypacker a defendant.

GIFT FOR CHURCH WORK

New Bedford Standard: Cardinal Gibbons has received from James J. Ryan of Philadelphia a gift of $50,000 for the Catholic university at Washington. The money is designed for the establishment of a chair in scripture. Mr. Ryan is a Philadelphia builder, who constructed the famous Catholic cathedral at Richmond, Va., and is connected with leading Catholic clubs and societies.

THE RESIDUE MESSAGE

Fall River Globe: Considering that he has but recently delivered some 300 speeches about the country defining his views and attitude on public questions, one might suppose that President Taft would experience some difficulty in finding speech that he hadn't already thrashed out in public with which to fill up his message to congress.

WANT BEAUTIFUL HAIR? THEN TRY THIS SHAMPOO

[Maid Marion on Beauty] "It is a well-known fact that wet shampoos work injury to both hair and scalp, as all contain more or less potash and 'free' alkali, necessary to create a lather. These two chemicals reduce the vitality of the hair glands and delicate tissues, and drenching the head to remove the lather usually aggravates the condition."

"A very fine dry shampoo that is cleansing and beneficial to hair and scalp can be made by mixing 4 ounces of ether oris root or corn meal with 4 ounces terebinth. A tablespoonful sprinkled on the head, then brushed well through the hair, cleanses and exfoliates the scalp, takes every particle of dust and oil from the hair, and leaves it soft, glossy and easy to do up."

EX-SENATOR DRYDEN OF NEW JERSEY IN CRITICAL CONDITION

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 24.—The family of former Senator John F. Dryden, president of the Prudential Insurance company, who was operated on for gallstones Friday last, are very much alighted by his condition. After he was operated on he showed remarkable vitality for two days, but later had a change for the worse. He is 72 years old.

Little Mary Recites for Anty Drudge.

Anty Drudge—"Now say it again, Dearie. It's every word true."

Little Mary—"See my nice, new party frock,
So clean and fresh and bright.
Anty washed it with Fels-Naptha;
That's why it is so white."

So Much Less Work.

"Through Mrs. Dr. Robinson, I learned first of your Fels-Naptha soap and trust I need not say that I am a convert. I used it without much hope of success, but I was surprised at the result. The following week I tried it on a large washing and was delighted beyond measure. I will use no other soap as long as I can get Fels-Naptha. I tell every lady about it that I come in contact with, for I feel it is a duty I owe every working sister. I laughingly told a gentleman that a man did not love his wife if he did not provide her with Fels-Naptha soap. My family says I am half crazy about it, but I have no much less work, so much more time for other things and so much less fatigued when my washing is done that I feel I cannot speak too highly of Fels-Naptha soap or speak of it too often. All my neighbors will endorse every word I have written and I could write pages."

Mrs. J. B. MARRIS

Clothes Whiter Than Ever Before.

"I have been using Fels-Naptha soap for almost six months and consider it the only soap for dining room, kitchen and laundry. My silver and glass never looked so bright and beautiful as it does since using Fels-Naptha soap, and the clothes, table linen, etc., are whiter than ever before."

KATHARINE HAYMAN

Fels-Naptha Don't Injure the Clothes.

"On account of the illness of my washwoman, I had a chance to give Fels-Naptha soap a thorough test and I wish to say that I am more than pleased. It doesn't injure the clothes in the least. It just makes the dirt let go and leaves them clean and white as snow. Several highly advertised and labor-saving soaps have come under my notice, but none seems to fill the bill like Fels-Naptha. My husband just asked me if I was trying to make a name for myself as a washwoman. I said no, but with Fels-Naptha soap I can be independent of a washwoman if I wish."

Mrs. G. N. STACED, Louisville, Ky.

Fels-Naptha Soap Did It.

"There are so many worthless soaps (especially of the laundry variety) on the market now that I feel it is a duty to you, and certainly a pleasure to tell you how highly we appreciate Fels-Naptha. I have used the soap since first introduced to us by one of your agents, nearly five years ago, and feel safe in saying that it is superior to any upon the market today. When we have an unusually large washing and cannot turn on low prices I have accomplished the task my husband

EMILY ARLES, Johnstown, Pa.

Boon to Housekeepers.

"Never before in my experience as a housekeeper have I felt called upon to write my thanks to any of the numerous firms who have 'Aids to Housekeepers' on the market, but since I first used Fels-Naptha soap I have been filled with gratitude to the person who gave to housekeepers this great labor-saving soap. I have sung its praises until my friends think it is really quite a joke, because for everything my want to thank you for the great comfort and pleasure its use has brought to me and I say sincerely that you have introduced an article which will be a boon to the housekeeper."

Mrs. EMERY, Dayton, Ohio.

Every Spot Clean Off.

"I never before wrote a testimonial for anything, but my sense of what is due you prompts me to send you this unsolicited statement of the worth of your splendid soap—Fels-Naptha. During the winter our stovepipe (in the hallway) and the snow melted and ran into the spot forming a sort of crescent water. I saw it, which scattered, on the floor and washboards. It was a most unpleasant mark on an otherwise clean floor. We had supposed we should have to hire a painter to scrape the floor and washboards and then re-varnish and paint, as we had tried kerosene in vain and other things too—to remove the unsightly black-spotted stain. Imagine my surprise and delight when my girl applied Fels-Naptha soap. Ever since the stain off and the wood was as clean as new, and I appreciate the value of such a household friend, and kindly commend it to all housekeepers who want a good thing."

Mrs. M. D. McKee

Grand Rapids, Mich.

Only Soap He Could Use.

"Crossing the continent last summer, I noticed a newsboy on a train in Arizona in the wash room with the private soap box. I asked him if ordinary soap was not good enough for him and he replied that crossing through alkali country, Fels-Naptha was the only kind that could be used without cracking the hands or face and he advised me to never travel without it. My wife uses Fels-Naptha soap for washing and other domestic purposes and told me last evening that it was the most satisfactory soap she had ever used."

VICTOR KAUFFMANN

Washington, D. C.

Fels-Naptha comes in a red and green wrapper.

THREE SET FREE

The Men Were Accused of Murder

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 24.—John L. Lee, counsel for Rev. C. V. T. Nicholson, the Boston minister, accused of murdering Miss Avis Linnell, succeeded yesterday in freeing three men of the charge of murder after each had been twice convicted and sentenced to die.

He attributes his success largely to the fact that he was shrewd enough not to introduce the testimony of Gen. Bolton, a merchant-farmer of Buckingham county, who claims to have witnessed every detail of the murder in a dream the night it occurred three years ago.

At both the other trials Bolton was used by the defense and on each occasion his testimony seems to have had anything but the desired effect on the jury because of its weird, uncanny nature.

When the name of Bolton was called today in court, Lee announced that he would not put him on the stand.

"But the prosecution may use him if it cares to," he suggested.

"We don't care to have anything to do with dreamers," retorted State Attorney Polk.

At the previous trials the defense made use of Bolton's testimony with a view of showing that the two alleged witnesses for the prosecution fabricated their testimony largely on the basis of the dream which was reported about Buckingham county for several weeks before they came forward and offered their services to the state as witnesses.

The case involved the murder of the Stewart brothers in that county, who were robbed and then burned to a crisp along with their home. It was tried here on a change of venue. Three men were accused of the crime, Edward Jones and Richard Perkins, negroes, and Dallas Wright, a white man of prominent connections in the county. Jones was acquitted yesterday morning soon after the case against Perkins was not pro'd.

Yesterday afternoon Gov. Mann promptly pardoned Wright, who had failed to get a new trial on a technicality in Henric county jail, where Wright has been confined for safe-keeping, he channeled for a while last summer with Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., condemned wife murderer, who paid the death penalty in the electric chair this morning. Wright frequently cheered up Beattie with the assurance that there was hope so long as there was life.

THE DEATH PENALTY

Will Not be Restored in Rhode Island

PROVIDENCE, Nov. 24.—Capital punishment in this state is not to be restored, the legislative committee on the revision of the criminal laws declining to recommend it.

The new laws which have been in course of reconstruction for the past two years will be presented to the incoming legislature early this winter.

The demand for the restoration of capital punishment for murder was made by ex-assemblyman Bullock at Pawtucket soon after the slaying of a merchant in that city by William Trent, a highway robber. The proposition was strongly opposed by leading citizens of the state, including ex-Chief Justice John H. Stinson.

With a swift majority in the new house of representatives, a stubborn contest looms up for the speakership

ZEMO MAKES ASTONISHING ECZEMA CURES

"WE PROVE IT."

Every day ZEMO gives relief and cures men, women and children in every city and town in America whose skins are on fire with torturing ECZEMA, rashes and other itching burning, scaly, and crusted skin and scalp humors.

ZEMO and ZEMO (antiseptic) SOAP, two refined preparations, will give you such quick relief that you will feel like a new person.

We give you three reasons why we recommend and endorse ZEMO and ZEMO SOAP for all skin and scalp conditions.

1st. They are clean, scientific preparations that give universal satisfaction and are pleasant and agreeable to use at all times.

2nd. They are not experiments, but are proven cures for every form of skin or scalp ailments, whether on infants or grown persons.

3rd. They work on a new principle. They do not glaze over the surface, but they penetrate to the seat of the trouble and draw the germ life from underneath the skin and destroy it.

In this way a complete cure is effected in every case of SKIN OR SCALP EREPTION.

now held by William C. Bliss of East Providence.

In the fight against Speaker Bliss, who is a candidate for re-election, is ex-Speaker Roswell B. Durehard of Little Compton, who held the chair for three years. Another aspirant for the honor is Richard W. Jennings of Cranston, for whom several leading Republicans are making a fight.

In the event of a compromise, it was stated last night that Speaker Bliss might withdraw if the position of republican leader of the house was conceded to him.

At the same time, it was stated that the city of Pawtucket is to seek biennial municipal elections, provision to be incorporated in the charters of the cities by the general assembly. Newport may not be included in the sweeping movement.

Newport has a city charter unique in this state, and elects its municipal officers in December. Mayor Fletcher of this city is in favor of biennial elections in Providence. In Pawtucket it is said that the sentiment is equally as strong. Woonsocket, Central Falls and Cranston are also reported in line.

USED $1000 BILL

REAL ESTATE MAN WANTED TO LIGHT HIS CIGAR

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 24.—Sigurd Hartig, a real estate dealer, formerly of Cincinnati, accidentally lit a cigar with a $1000 bill here yesterday.

He intended to burn only the end of a bit of yellow paper at the edge of the bill for the edification of his friends. Samuel Haller joined the group just as Hartig lit the cigar.

"Give me a light, Sir," said Haller, seizing the bill. Before Hartig could recover the bill was in flames. The two men quarreled and were separated by a city detective who reported the incident to the police. A small corner of the bill and a few shreds were recovered and will be sent to the treasury department at Washington by Hartig in an attempt to have the loss made good.

COLLEGE CLUB

HELD MEETING AT THE WHISTLER HOUSE

The November meeting of the College club was held yesterday afternoon at the Whistler house in Worthen street, there being a large attendance of members. Mr. Harry Kimball, of Boston, spoke on one of the recent economic plans for the prevention of poverty, the saving of insurance to the people at the lowest cost by the savings bank. Under the state law prominent banks of the commonwealth have the system in full working order, and many employers in large concerns have influenced and taught their employees to provide for themselves by this method.

It was announced that at the December meeting of the club, Mrs. Christabel Kidder will give a dramatic reading, and guest tickets will be sold for the benefit of the playground fund.

Mrs. Olney and Miss Spear were hostesses.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

That this is a day of clean plays is amply demonstrated by the success of the new comedy, "The Kid," which is to be presented at the Opera House on Monday, Nov. 27th. It has been said of this play that it is as sweet as a clover field in full bloom. There is not a jarring note to it, there is said to be a genuine wealth of laughter to the story and the ingredients of heart interest and romance have been happily blended. The piece was written by Della Clarke, the well known author-actress. She will appear here in the leading character and will be surrounded by a picked company of actors, all of whom are well known on Broadway.

TEN NIGHTS IN A BARROOM

Five acts and eleven scenes, covering a period of ten years in the lives of Simon Sindle, Sammie Schel, Joe Morgan and the other characters, are portrayed in "Ten Nights in a Barroom," which comes to the Opera House next Tuesday, Nov. 28th, for an engagement of one day, matinee and night. Popular prices will prevail, and seats are now on sale.

BILLY THE KID

"Billy the Kid" comes to the Opera House Wednesday and Thursday, Nov. 29 and 30. Like "Uncle Tom's Cabin" this play will find a warm welcome, and the advance sale of seats already foretells its great popularity. Seats for all performances are now on sale.

CY WHITTAKER

All of the humorous characters introduced in the novel have been retained in the dramatization of "Cy Whittaker's Place," prominent parts being given "Cy," Little Emily, Angie Philmore, Asaph Tidwell, Bailey Bangs, Herman Atkins, Phoebe Dawes and Henry Thomas. All of the quaint characters will be admirably played by a cast of uniform excellence.

MAUDE ADAMS

Above all else, "Chanticleer" must be acted by a person able to disclaim vocal capability of interpreting the lyric note so predominant through each of the acts. Very few English actors possess this quality and who but Miss Adams is at hand with the subtlety, delicacy and firmness of method needed to reach such a note and to keep it from seeming out of key. In France their great actor Guitry's chief difficulty in the role was to fight against a perfectly well intentioned but equally perfectly misplaced laugh which such as scenes as these brought from the audience. For when these passages of tenderest charm were spoken by this actor, who is over six feet tall, a huge figure of a man, the awkwardness of his movements invariably ruined the beauty of the lines. Miss Adams, on the other hand, physically is absolutely suited to "Chanticleer" and can never strike the eye of the spectator as being grotesque. Indeed, with a little thought, it can be well understood how Miss Adams remained always the undoubted choice.

KEITH'S LOWELL THEATRE

The Elks turned out in large numbers last night in honor of the Red Sox quartet and the boys gave a few extra numbers in honor of the Elks. Only a few more performances remain and none should miss this week's strong bill. In addition to the ball player-vocalists the bill includes the Four Harps in one of the most wonderful acrobatic acts ever presented on the stage. Their lofty work is simply marvelous. Lucille Laverne, the dainty comedienne and her company which includes James "Fats" Brown, former Lakeview theatre favorite presents a fine comedy sketch entitled "How Jasper Fixed It," a most ingeniously funny playlet. Madden and Nugent have a laughable bit entitled "Too Many Darlings." Carlin and Penn get a divorce in German dialect and sing funny parodies. Monroe and Mack, as "The Two Recruits" have a roaring black face act that gets the audience everything. Paul LeCroix is a mad hatter indeed for the stunts he does with a collection of silk ties he wears description, and last but by no means least the Elks present one of the finest musical acts in vaudeville. That most attractive of all musical instruments, the harp is seldom attempted by the vaudeville performer, but the Elks are real artists on the harp and they are excellent singers into the bargain. Their bill is a high class offering and is greatly enjoyed by all who have witnessed it. There are also new pictures. Manager Stevens has arranged for a particularly strong bill for Thanksgiving week.

Thanksgiving Day Seats

Seats for the Thanksgiving day performances at Keith's are now on sale and may be secured by applying at the box office. On account of the great demand for holiday seats no mail or telephone orders will be received. All who desire seats for the holiday must secure them at the box office.

FLESHY PEOPLE SUFFER FROM SKIN TROUBLES

Fleshy people are often troubled with itching and irritation of the skin caused by perspiration and chafing, which frequently develops into eczema or other skin trouble, and if neglected, may become chronic. It matters not how long you have suffered or what kind of skin troubles you have, the new remedy Cadum should be given a trial. It has proved a blessing to thousands who have suffered for years from distressing, stubborn and disgusting skin diseases. Cadum is soothing and healing wherever the skin is inflamed, irritated or diseased. It is antiseptic, and prevents infection from disease germs. It acts quickly upon eczema, pimples, sores, eruptions, ulcers, rashes, rough skin, chudings, itching piles, etc. All druggists sell Cadum at 10c and 25c.

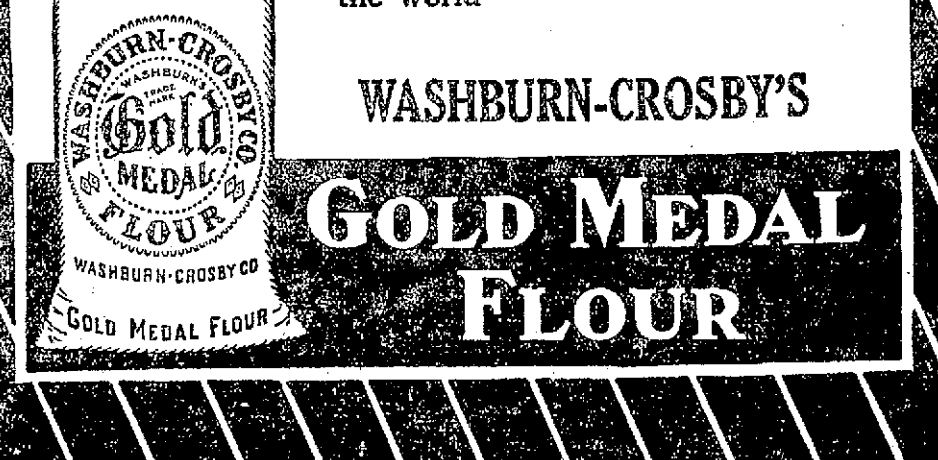

HATHAWAY THEATRE

"The Struggle," Anthony Williams' great comedy drama, appears to have suited all comers at the Hathaway theatre for this week, judging from the favorable comments that have been passed on it, although the patrons of the theatre would like to see Mr. Meek have a little more to do. He works hard enough in his great fight scene with William Walsh to make up for the time that he is not in the dialogue. The last fight of the hero and

No Need for a Pastry Flour

If you buy flour from low-grade wheat—
Flour imperfectly ground—
Flour not properly sifted—
Then you'll need another flour—a better flour—when you come to make dainty desserts.
But, if you buy Gold Medal Flour—
Made of premier wheat—
20 times ground—sifted 10 times through silk—
You'll need no better flour for anything. You can't get any better.

It's a bad mistake, for any purpose, to get inferior flour.
You save nothing by it. You get less bread—immensely poorer bread. And part of it can't digest.
Flour is all-important.
If you knew, as we know, all the vast difference, you would always insist on the leading flour of the world—are just as advertised, and as good, if not superior, to all other vaudeville offerings in the city, is the fact that the daily attendance at this popular playhouse continues to hold at its maximum figures. If the show wasn't superior in quality and quantity, price considered, than any other local offering, it is only natural to suppose that its patronage would drop. Local theatre-goers are particularly about the entertainment provided them, more so than in many other cities of the east, a fact that is fully realized by the management of the Merrimack Square theatre. The offering for this week is only one of the long series of successes which has characterized the regular bills at this playhouse, and will continue in the future. The Seven New York Hippodrome Lions, directed from a long and successful run at the metropolis. Our Stock company, Melvin and Thatcher, Ah Ling Poo are some of the bright features. The photo-plays are the best shown. Next week's bill will again be unusually entertaining. Patrons are reminded that there are 1500 seats, including the orchestra circle and all reserved chairs, on sale at every matinee, with the exception of Saturdays, Sundays and holidays, for 10 cents. Box seats, 25 cents. Reserved seats for Thanksgiving day, afternoon and night, are now on sale. The first show on Thanksgiving day will start at 12 o'clock noon.

FOUND IN CELLAR

Starved Man Died After Removal to Hospital

LYNN, Nov. 24.—Starvation and old age are given as the cause of the death, early yesterday in Lynn hospital of Peter McCall, a wealthy hermit, whose home was at 46 Wardwell avenue.

Wednesday noon McCall was found by Miss Anna McCall, his niece and neighbor, in a helpless condition at the foot of a flight of cellar stairs in his home, gasping for want of water and food. His non appearance about the yard of his home during the two days previous led the neighbors to become anxious and start an investigation.

They were unable to gain entrance to the house by the front or rear doors. Then they called the 83-year old man. Their answer came faintly from the cellar. He said he would let them in. After an anxious period of waiting at the rear door, the niece again called to her uncle and he told her to enter by way of her bulkhead.

As she stepped into the cellar she found the aged man lying in a heap at the foot of the stairs, unable to move. It is supposed that he fell there sometime Sunday evening while looking up for the night and had lain there, unable to summon help, nearly 60 hours.

Wednesday afternoon he was conveyed to the Lynn hospital where it was found that in the fall Mr. McCall had sustained injuries to his back and spine, which had completely crippled him.

McCall had lived alone 10 years. Although he seldom mixed with his neighbors he was well liked. He came from Ireland about 1848.

He leaves two nephews, the Rev. Michael J. McCall of St. Joseph's Church, Boston, and the Rev. Peter McCall of Hingham, also several distant relatives in Boston suburbs.

CAUGHT IN GALE

SLOOP DRIVEN INTO A REEF AND FOUNDERED

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 24.—The sloop Bertha B., in which Lee Libby left Winter Harbor before the gale of Nov. 12 for this port with a load of lobster feed and has not since been seen, has been raised in Flint island passage, where she was lost, but Libby's body was not found. It was supposed the sloop took the gale while at anchor at Flint Narrows, was driven onto a reef and foundered, saving her tender and having her houses washed clear of the deck. Captain Libby was the sole occupant of the sloop and probably was washed overboard while endeavoring to save his craft. Libby was 30 years old and leaves a widow and four children.

ANITA CAMPERS

HELD DANCING PARTY AT PAW-TUCKETT BOAT HOUSE

The Pawtucket boat house was last night the scene of a pretty gathering, the affair being a social and dance by the Anita Campers, an organization composed of well known young men, whose headquarters are at Mountain Rock, where they own a beautiful camp.

Clarke's orchestra furnished music for the occasion and a varied dance order was rendered preceded by a charming concert.

The officers of the dance were: Joseph Channing, general manager; Miss Jennie Payette, assistant general manager; Adeline Payette, floor director; Miss Bertha Fontaine, assistant floor director; Annie Duval, chief aid; Adolph Brasseur and Wilfred Robillard, assistant chief aids; Edmond Matte, treasurer; Miss M. Lavalley, E. Dumont, J. Payette, L. Lavalley, B. Fontaine, V. Robillard, B. Brasseur, J. Favreau, J. Matte, A. Cantin and T. Leblanc.

HELD BANQUET

SAM WALTER FOSS CLUB ENTERTAINS FAMILIES

The members of the Sam Walter Foss Literary club entertained their families at Highland hall, Wednesday evening, A. 7 o'clock, a banquet was served. After the tables were cleared away, a fine program was presented, which included: Songs, by Mr. Walter Bruce; readings by Mrs. Chas. Lovejoy; remarks by Rev. Dr. Wood, who, with Mrs. Wood, were guests of the club for the evening. An orchestra consisting of Mr. W. H. Downs, violin; Miss Grace McAvoy, cornet; and Mrs. Frank Hatley, piano, rendered some fine music during the supper hour, also later in the program.

The hall and tables were beautifully decorated, the work of Mrs. Albert French, chairman; Mrs. Frank Cheney, Mrs. W. H. Upham, Mrs. Harry Cady and Mr. C. E. Doty.

WAR PICTURES

ON EXHIBITION AT ARMORY LAST EVENING

An exhibition of Civil war paintings executed by Paul Philippoteaux, one of the greatest of modern French artists and painter of the famous picture, "The Battle of Gettysburg," was given in the Armory last evening under the auspices of Company G, Sixth regiment. The paintings, each of which is 28 feet by 18, were arranged along the wall.

Among the subjects shown are: Battle of Belmont, Battle of Fort Donelson, Battle of Shiloh, Battery Robinette at Corinth, Surrender at Vicksburg, Lee's Surrender, Inauguration, Bay of Naples, Oriental Market Scene, Water Carriers, The Road to the Road to Siberia, Scene at North Cape and Congress of Nations.

The exhibition lasted from 5 to 9 o'clock, and during that time war time melodies were played by Miner's orchestra.

A LINEN SHOWER

A linen shower was tendered Miss Mabelle Rogers at the home of Miss Elizabeth Sharkey, 224 Concord street, Wednesday evening, by friends who wished her happiness in the new sphere which she is about to enter. Those who entertained were the following: Piano, selections by Mr. Richard Curdin, Master John Sharkey, Misses May and Margaret O'Brien and Loretta Rogers; songs, by the Misses Lilla Shea, Madeline Bolan, Eva Bonoli, Mary Kelly, Elizabeth Sharkey and the Misses Mabelle and Emma Rogers. A buffet luncheon was served and the party came to a close at a 10 o'clock, everyone having spent a most enjoyable evening.

BARGAINLAND

HEINZE ELECTRIC CO.

Lowell Concern Has Opened a Branch Office in Detroit

The Heinze Electric company of this city opened a branch office at Detroit, Mich. this week with Mr. Pierre J. Legare, brother of Postmaster Joseph A. Legare, in charge. Pierre Legare has been connected with the Heinze company for several years and inasmuch as he is conversant with the business there is no doubt but that he will be able to build up a big western trade.

The company has had a representative in the western district for a number of years, but had no branch office. The new office is located at 870 Woodward avenue.

Business is rushing at the local plant in Lawrence street, the full complement of employees working full time. There are enough orders ahead to warrant the plant running overtime, but owing to the fineness of the work the management does not believe it feasible to work its employees overtime.

The Heinze company is now preparing for its exhibits at the automobile shows in New York, Chicago and Boston this spring as well as at the motor boat and engine show to be held in New York in February. It is expected that the company will have a number of new appliances to exhibit at the different shows, the principal one being that of a high tension magneto. Up to the present time the Heinze company has made a specialty of low tension magnetos, but the demand for the high tension has caused the exports in the employ of the company to turn their attention toward the high tension magneto.

Parish Reunion

The members of the Sacred Heart parish are making monster preparations for the parish reunion which is to be held in the school hall in Moore street on November 29 and 30 and December 1 and 2. Considerable enthusiasm is being displayed, especially among the women of the parish, and it is expected that the reunion will be one of the most successful affairs ever conducted by the parish.

New Buildings

That section of the city in the vicinity of upper Lawrence street known as the Grove is being built up very rapidly, many new structures being under the course of construction at the present time. The large building at the corner of Lawrence and South Whipple streets, belonging to Mr. Greenwood is rapidly nearing completion and the new three story tenement flat which is being erected at the corner of Agawam and Griffin streets by Patrolman Patrick J. Conroy is well under way. The building which occupied the site of the new structure has been moved to the adjoining lot on Griffin street.

In Wretched Condition

Traffic through Lawrence street between Watson and South Whipple streets is greatly discommoded owing to the condition of the street, though after the many improvements now under way have been made the street will be put in a better condition than it was before the improvements were started.

That portion of the street where the new bridge was put in is in wretched shape. Inasmuch as the street has not been repaved and the electric car tracks are higher than the roadway it is dangerous for traffic. The sidewalk on the east side of the street has not as yet been put back into its former condition, and pedestrians, especially on rainy days, find it very inconvenient walking.

In the vicinity of the firehouse, one side of the street is blocked by the work on the sewer and it is necessary for those who use the electric cars to change at the corner of Agawam and Lawrence streets and walk several hundred yards to the cars at the other end of the sewer.

THE CHURCH DEBT

Presbyterians Hold Bazaar to Reduce It

A bazaar, the proceeds of which will be used to reduce the church debt, opened last night at the First Presbyterian church in Appleton street. There was a large audience present at the opening and the sales tables or booths did a rushing business.

The candy booth was in charge of one of the classes of girls in the Sunday school, and the chairman was Miss Bell, their Sunday school teacher. The other members of the committee were Misses Jessie Buchanan, Bessie Scott, Amelia Holmes, Jennie McDowell, Maude Turpin, Mary Butcher, Alice McCoy, Jennie McFarland, Ethel Harris and May Blakeley.

The needlework booth was in charge of the Norman club, the chairman being Mrs. J. M. Craig, and her assistants, Misses Alice Ramsay, Mattie Macadam, Cora Harris, Grace Harris, Agnes McCord, Charlotte Buchanan, Margaret Taylor, Emily Winders, Violet Russell, Abby Hitchens, Barbara Hitchens and Jennie Ray.

A booth that was a veritable grocery store was in charge of the boys in Miss Russell's Sunday school class. The members in charge are J. B. Cuddeh, chairman; H. R. Dick, J. A. Taylor, William Cuddeh, James Allister, Finley Grey, Bob Green, David McLaughy and others of the class.

The apron booth was under the auspices of the Willing Hand society. The chairman of this booth committee is Mrs. S. T. Farrell and her assistants are Mrs. Frank George, Mrs. Thomas Lees and Mrs. Thomas Sutherland.

There was also a tea parlor where tea and chocolate with genuine Scotch Presbyterian oatmeal cakes were served, also fancy cakes if one desired. The committee in charge of this booth was: Mrs. John McDonald, the chairman; Mrs. Paul McDonald and Mrs. John Griffin, and they were assisted by Miss Florence Ramsey and Miss Louise Gennell. They also had for sale many kinds and sorts of Scotch and Irish teas.

A class of boys had a "bucket shop," where one was given three rubber balls to throw into three buckets placed at the end of an alley about 20 feet in length. The boys in charge were Bernard J. Kirk, Robert Buchanan, David Ramsey and Lewis Daniels.

The ice cream booth was in charge of the C. E. club. The chairman was Hugh Ramsey and the others on his committee were Norman Scott, Adam McGulley, Donald McGulley, Magnus Sutherland and William Jamison. At 8 o'clock a play was given by the young people of the Pawtucket Congregational church. The play was entitled "Mrs. Oakley's Telephone," in which the role of Mrs. Oakley, a bride, was played by Mrs. A. S. Parker; Constance, her friend, Mrs. L. A. Ayer; Mary, the cook, Miss Cora Cummings; and Emma, the maid, Miss Grace Mansfield.

LOWELL CHORAL SOCIETY. The Lowell Choral society held a rehearsal last night at the Y. M. C. A. hall in Hurd street. The organization shows great improvement in each succeeding rehearsal and the members are very enthusiastic over the concert which is to be given on Jan. 30.

The directors met at the conclusion of the rehearsal and voted to engage a number of exceptional soloists for the concert, the names to be given out later. Effort has been made by a number of members to bring in honorary members, and this has proven so successful that the number now is very large.

Bronchitis Cured

MISS MAE RODGERS

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is invaluable for all throat and lung troubles. It gets at the cause and cures—gives permanent, not temporary, relief. The experience of Miss Rodgers is an example of its marvelous remedial qualities.

"For some time I was a sufferer from bronchitis and spent a great deal of money doctoring, until I heard through a friend of the wonderful merits of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. 'Early in the fall I began taking it, and since then have been entirely free from the bronchial attack. I consider it my duty to thank you but I have not enough words to say in praise of this wonderful Pure Malt Whiskey as a medicine that is good for every one.'—Miss Mae Rodgers, 202 S. Grove St., East Orange, N. J.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

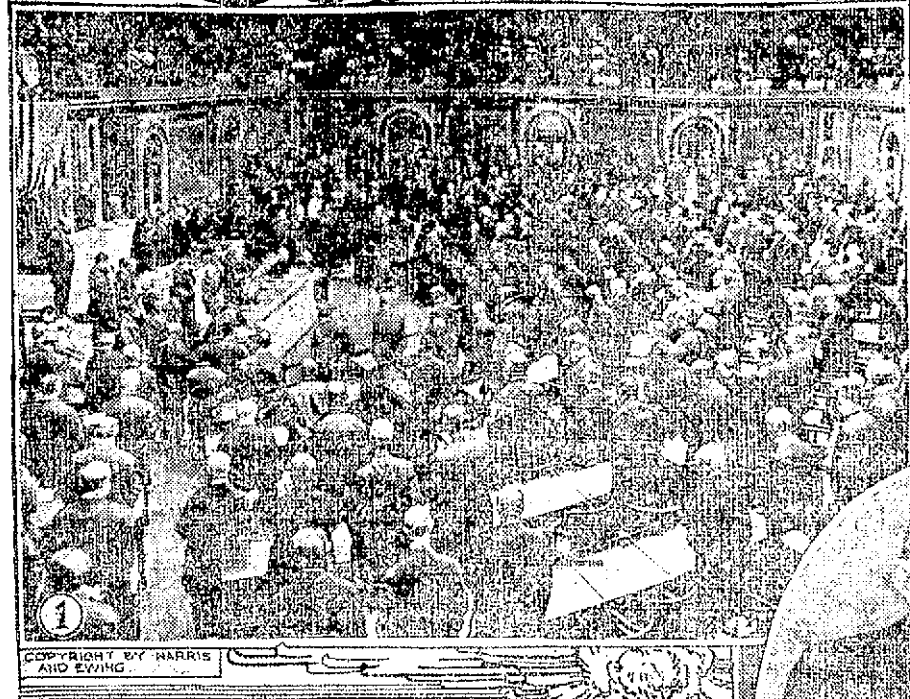

has to its credit fifty years of success without a question as to its merits as a curative agent. It overcomes all weak, enfeebling, and rundown conditions of the body, brain and muscles, giving the system power to throw off and resist colds, coughs, grip, catarrh, bronchitis and asthma and it is a wonderful remedy in the prevention and cure of consumption, pneumonia, stomach troubles, malaria and low fevers, taken as directed. Prescribed by doctors and recognized as a family medicine everywhere.

Sold by druggists, grocers and dealers in sealed bottles, price $1.00. If you can't procure it, let us know and we will tell you how to obtain it. Write for free doctor's advice and book of recipes for colds and sick room.

COUNTRY HAS "ON ITS HANDS" AGAIN

By CHARLES N. LURIE.

NOT in lightness of heart or elevation of spirits does the congress of the United States assemble in Washington on the first Monday of December this year for the first regular session of the Sixty-second congress. There are several grave and pressing matters to fill the minds of the members, and before them looms the shadow, cast before, of 1912.

Well or ill as the senators or representatives act in the coming months of the session, they will be blessed or cursed in the campaign of next year, in which a president will be made—or, perhaps, unmade. The acts of the present session will figure very prominently in the pages of the campaign text books, in the editorial columns and in the stump speeches. It behooves the lawmakers to look sharp to their deeds and utterances. By such will they and their parties be judged when the great decision is made in the coming summer and fall months. It is no wonder that the furrows of care are already discernible on the brows of the statesmen gathered under the big dome.

That much for the general situation in Washington. Of specific questions to be acted upon there is no lack, although their importance, individual and collective, exceeds their quantity. In other words, the important subjects to be considered are not numerous, but they are weighty. Among them are the revision of the tariff, monetary reform, international arbitration and the ever present trust question. The last named has been brought into prominence by the nation wide discussion of the Sherman law and the suits against the big corporations. The steel trust and the sugar trust have been investigated by congressional committees.

The Tariff Revision Question. First in order to be laid before the house of representatives (in which, according to the constitution, all measures for the raising of revenue for the government must originate) is the tariff. The tariff board appointed by President Taft in 1909 in accordance with the act authorizing him "to employ such persons as may be required to secure information to assist the president in the discharge of the duties imposed on him by this action [section 3 of the tariff act of 1909] and the officers of the government in the administration of the customs laws," has ended its labors so far as the wool and cotton schedules are concerned and has completed its report to the president. Its head is Professor Henry C. Emory, professor of political economy in Yale university.

Of course the text of the report or reports has not been divulged in advance of submission to congress, but it is known that the documents are exhaustive and contain a great mass of information covering the two industries. It will be recalled that President Taft vetoed three tariff bills—the wool, cotton and farmers' free list measures—the work of the special session called to consider the subject of reciprocity with Canada, on the ground that he had received no information from the tariff board in regard to the schedules involved, which are some of the most important of them all.

1.—Opening of house of representatives. 2.—Champ Clark. 3.—Oscar W. Underwood. 4.—James R. Mann. 5.—Henry D. Clayton. 6.—Senate office building. 7.—Robert M. La Follette. 8.—The capitol.

The house is Democratic, the senate is Republican—at least nominally, for no man knows just how some of the men in the upper national house classify themselves. It is fairly certain that the house will not send to the senate a bill providing for a general revision of the tariff, but will attempt to attain the same end by means of a series of bills, each revising a separate schedule. The policy will be fought by the standpatners, the conservative Republicans, in both houses. They have already raised the cry of "no tinkering with the tariff," asserting the danger to business of long continued agitation.

View of a Protectionist.

One of their spokesmen said recently: "If another revision of the tariff must come it should come in the shape of a general tariff bill framed with just regard to the interdependence of the producing interests and with such an adjustment of rates and schedules as shall secure uniformity, consistency and fair play. If the country wants more tariff revision and if it wants that revision to be in the direction of free trade the country has the right to have and the power to compel the enactment of such a tariff. If, on the contrary, the country wants a tariff that shall be adequately protective of all forms of American labor and industry the country will say so and get that kind of a tariff. In any case the country should decide this question as a whole and not in chunks. That is the only safe and sensible and equitable way of settling the tariff question."

The Democratic attitude is simply that a general revision of the tariff is impossible with the upper house in control of their political enemies, and it is better to give the country a measure that for which it voted in 1910 (in the congressional election which returned the Democratic party to power in the popular wing of the capitol) than not at all.

The Arbitration Treaties.

A strong effort will be made at this session to induce the senate to modify its view that its prerogatives are assailed in the proposed arbitration treaties with Great Britain and France and to induce it to withdraw the amendments which are disliked by President Taft and others. There will be much interesting discussion of these treaties, no doubt, in view of the fact that lovers of peace with international reputations, like Colonel Roosevelt, are not agreed on their advisability or necessity in their present forms.

Of all vexed questions that confront the legislators none has greater explosive potentiality than the trust business. The Sherman law has its enemies in the house and the senate, who desire its repeal, while acknowledging the demand of the country for legislation that will curb the tendency toward monopoly in "big business."

Their viewpoint is well illustrated by the statement made a few days ago by the head of one of the big manufacturing companies that has been attacked savagely. He said:

"The Sherman law is now twenty-one years old. During the greater part of its life its vast potentialities for good or harm seem to have been forgotten alike by the corporations and the government. The twenty-one years that have elapsed have witnessed revolutionary changes in the underlying business conditions of the United States. It ought not to be too much to ask of the American congress to urge it to recognize in some new, precise and effective legislation that the country and the world have moved."

Sherman Law Upheld by Democrats.

Such is the view of a critic of the Sherman anti-trust law who holds, with others, that the decision of the supreme court, reading the word "reasonable" into the act to preclude the words "restraint of trade" has not made it entirely clear how much combination or which form of combination is permitted or prohibited by the law. But it is an interesting fact that the Sherman law, authored by old John Sherman, one of the staunchest Republicans of his day, and passed by a Republican congress, now finds some of its strongest and ablest defenders among the Democratic members of the senate and the house of representatives. One of them is Speaker Champ Clark.

The currency reform matter, brought to the attention of the country by the national monetary commission, headed by former Senator Aldrich, will engross the attention of our serious minded lawmakers.

But, after all, this session will probably be one of personalities rather than of measures in the opinions of many close observers of men and affairs in the national capital. The presidential bees are buzzing loudly on both sides, but more numerous, it should be said, in all fairness, on the Democratic than on the Republican side of the two chambers. That may be due, in part, to the fact that there is a Republican in the White House now, and open aspiration to the honor of nomination might savor somewhat of disloyalty to the nominal chief of the party. In the senate there is La Follette of Wisconsin, one of the progressives' leaders, recently endorsed for the presidency in a convention of the men who see a breakup in the Republican ranks. In the lower house one of the most conspicuous Republicans is James R. Mann of Illinois, the floor leader of the minority and one of the ablest parliamentarians that have ever sat in the historic chamber.

Three Influential Democrats.

On the Democratic side there is Champ Clark, who sits in the "seat of the mighty," the speaker's chair, that was shorn of some of its power in order to curb Uncle Joe Cannon. Working with him on the floor are his two influential Alabamian colleagues, Henry D. Clayton and Oscar W. Underwood, the latter of whom might be said to be looming in Democratic councils, if the word looming were not somewhat out of date. But Underwood is a big figure, nevertheless, in his own quiet, efficient way, and there are men on both sides who say that if the Democratic nomination goes to a southerner next year it will go as far south as the gulf states in which the Democratic floor spokesman has his home. But that is a question on which the proceedings of the Sixty-second congress, second session, will have an important bearing.

SOVEREIGNS, PRINCES, ELEPHANTS AND GEMS AT DURBAR

MAKING FLAGS, FIREWORKS AND SOUVENIRS FOR THE DURBAR.

FOR thousands of years India has had its durbars of varying degrees of magnificence. Nine years ago its record for splendor was surpassed when the formal assumption of the crown of Hindustan by Edward VII. was proclaimed in Delhi. But the durbar which is now engrossing the attention of India's three hundred millions of persons is the finest est of all in the long history of the giant peninsula. As in ancient days all roads led to Rome, so for the past several months all Indian roads have led to Delhi, the ancient capital of India, in which the durbars, or proclamations of the sovereign, take place. When it was announced that the ceremony would be held not in Delhi which was the seat of the grand moguls and the scene of much Indian history, but in Calcutta, the modern capital of the country, a chorus of protest arose from Ceylon to Cashmere. Unchanging oriental India would not hear of the transfer, which amounted, in its tradition weighted mind, almost to sacrilege. In Delhi all the durbars had been held and in Delhi should be this one, the greatest of them all. Great Britain, rendered wise in its estimate of the Indian mind by centuries of experience, yielded the point. It is to Delhi, then, that King George and Queen Mary have gone with their suits, setting out from England in the steamship Medina, converted into a royal yacht. In India they will travel in special trains and in automobiles especially built for durbar use. At Delhi have concentrated the long trains of the semi-independent and tributary princes, each with his host of retainers, clad in the kaleidoscopic colors which delighted the eyes of Britons and foreigners at the coronation of King George. And in Delhi have been gathered also the herds of burden bearing elephants which play so important a part. By the size of the elephant which you ride are you judged if you are an Indian prince at the durbar.

The durbar is the solemn, stately assumption by a sovereign prince of India of his dignity as head of his house. Every one of the great lords of India, such as the Maharajah of Mysore, the Nizam of Hyderabad, the Maharajah of Baroda, etc., has his durbar, or similar ceremony. But the greatest of all durbars is the proclamation of the king of Great Britain and Ireland as emperor of India. Queen Victoria was the first British sovereign to assume the crown of India, in 1877. On New Year's day, 1877, the proclamation of Victoria as empress of India was made at Calcutta, Madras and Bombay, but the scene of the chief ceremony was in Delhi. The features of the durbar then, as were those of the durbar in 1903 when King Edward was proclaimed, are virtually those of the present, durbar—the assemblage of native princes, nobles and gentry, with a great concourse of other folk, the massing of the military as symbolical of British might in India, the ascension of the throne by the viceroy (in the present case by the sovereign himself), the sounding of trumpets, the reading of the proclamation and the firing of salvos of artillery. These are the formal, official features of the durbar. There are others of a more social nature.

King George and Queen Mary are the first British sovereigns to visit India and receive in person the homage of their Indian subjects, although King Edward and King George both visited India as Princes of Wales.

A great camp city has been built near Delhi for the accommodation and housing of the throngs at the durbar. Naturally the durbar in Delhi is a far less exclusive function than the coronation in Westminster abbey, and there will be many American and foreign visitors in Delhi. It is estimated that nearly a quarter of a million persons will be assembled in Delhi by Dec. 12, when the festivities begin. On Dec. 14 comes the investiture, and in January a great court will be held in Calcutta.

No feature of the durbar has attracted more attention and received more advance notice than the great display of jewels that will be made by the very wealthy Indian princes. Some of the most famous diamonds, pearls, rubies, etc., in the world are owned in India, and they will be displayed for the edification of the onlooker and the envy of rivals. King George and Queen Mary are taking the crown jewels, including the Kohinoor.

ARTHUR J. BRINTON.

ECHO OF GETTYSBURG AFTER NEARLY HALF A CENTURY

ALMOST fifty years after the last shot was fired in the frightful carnage of the three days' battle at Gettysburg, the greatest battle ever fought on American soil, the echoes of the battle are still rolling. They were heard loudly a few days ago, when the Loyal Legion rejected the name of Major General Daniel E. Sickles, United States Army, retired, on the ground that the criticisms of his conduct at Gettysburg were justified by the facts.

For forty-eight years the Meade-Sickles controversy has afforded material for the writers of history. One of the principals passed away almost forty years ago, the other is an old, old man, one of the three surviving corps commanders of the Union armies, and certain, despite his vigor of mind and body, soon to take his place with his fathers. But the questions involving these two men are hinged upon matters of individual judgment, and as such they are immortal. As long as men talk and write about the titanic struggle at Gettysburg, with opportunity for the expression of opinion upon men and measures, so long will they range themselves upon the side either of the commander of the Union army at Gettysburg, George Gordon Meade, or the commander of the third corps (until he received the wound which cost him a leg), Daniel Edgar Sickles.

The dispute concerns the defense of the left of the Union line at Gettysburg from the attack by Longstreet and Lee. Geary's division of the twelfth corps had been ordered by Meade, for reasons of military exigency, to take up a position at Little Round Top. This was on the first day of the battle. The division remained there until the following day, when it was withdrawn to rejoin its corps, the twelfth, on the right of the Union line. Sickles was then ordered to occupy the ground formerly held by Geary, but, being dissatisfied with the position, moved to the front about three-fourths of a mile, remaining there until, later in the day, after heavy fighting and great losses, the corps was driven back to the main line by Longstreet's attack. It is admitted by General Meade's defenders that the orders to Sickles were vague, but they assert also that Sickles was slow in obeying orders and that his delay was responsible for much loss of life.

The revival of this historic dispute, one of the bitterest growing out of the great war, is another chapter in the history of a long life marked by the attainment of high honors, but also by disappointments and troubles. General Sickles was born in New York city Oct. 20, 1825. As far back as 1851 he was prominent in public life, being a member of the convention which nominated Franklin Pierce for the presidency. In the life of New York city he was a conspicuous figure for very many years. As corporation attorney he drew up the bill authorizing the establishment of Central park, which has been a possession of the city since 1857. In 1853 he held federal office as secretary of legation in London. He spent several years in the diplomatic service.

General Sickles entered the Union service as colonel of the Seventieth New York Infantry in June, 1861, and war effaced it from the public mind. This was his shooting in a Washington street of Philip Barton Key, United States attorney of the District of Columbia, whom Sickles accused of guilty conduct with his wife. Sickles was a member of the house of representatives at the time. He was indicted on the charge of murder, tried and acquitted, the trial lasting twenty days. The affair made a tremendous sensation at the time owing to the high standing of the persons involved. Key was the son of Francis Scott Key, author of the left the army in 1869 as major general on the retired list. In 1897 he received the congressional medal of honor "for most distinguished gallantry in action at Gettysburg, July 2, 1863, displayed on the field of battle before and after the loss of his leg while commanding the third army corps."

On Feb. 27, 1859, occurred the event which overshadowed the life of Sickles until the rapidly moving tragedy of the

"Star Spangled Banner," and a member of a prominent Maryland family. The future general forgave his wife fully, and they were reconciled. Three years after the shooting he died in retirement. In 1871 General Sickles was married again to a young Spanish woman, but the marriage proved an unhappy one and the couple did not see each other for many years until they met recently. BURT JAMES

STOKES TESTIFIES SMOKE INSPECTOR PUT TO DEATH

Millionaire Tells of His Dealings With Lillian Graham

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Lillian Graham, the show girl who, with Ethel Conrad, is charged with attempting to kill W. E. D. Stokes, the millionaire horsemann, last June, burst into tears in the courtroom today when Stokes declared on the stand that he had refused to give her $500 because he was married "and the incident might be misinterpreted." Miss Conrad, who was with her in the defendant's seat, comforted her by words and caresses. Stokes testified that he met the Graham girl in 1906 and had entertained her at his country place at Lexington, Ky. He gave her money on several occasions, he said, making her a present of several hundred dollars at Lexington in 1907. Later, he testified, the Graham girl had lived in the Ansonia hotel in this city, of which he was owner. He gave her money to go to Paris, he said, and saw her upon her return in 1908. When he saw her in May last, he said, she was seeking a position on the stage and wanted $500. "I told her I would not give her a penny," he testified. "I impressed on her the fact that I was married and that the incident might be misinterpreted. I also told her it would be a bad practice."

Lillian threatened to kill herself afterward, he said, and once he had knocked a bottle of poison from her hand. She had several stormy interviews with him, he declared, the burden of each being a demand for money but he was steadfast in his refusal to pay her anything. Stokes' wife, whom he married a little more than a year ago, was an interested listener in court today. Mrs. Stella Singleton, wife of a wealthy mining man, and Miss Graham's sister, sat through the proceedings and once shook her fist at Stokes on the witness stand. When Stokes left the stand for the mid-day recess he joined his wife without looking at the defendants and Mrs. Singleton who glared at him from their seat nearby.

Confers With the Gas Commissioners

Smoke Inspector Hollowood has been in conference with the Electric Light and Gas commissioners relative to a special ordinance to govern the emission of smoke by railroad engines in Lowell. The provisions of the smoke law as adopted by the city council except locomotive engines. In Boston they have a special ordinance for locomotive engines and Mr. Hollowood thinks Lowell should have a special ordinance, too. He expects to hear from the commission within a few days.

HIS HEAD CUT

J. C. KNOWLES MET WITH PAINFUL INJURY

J. C. Knowles, an employee of the Lowell Knife factory in Rock street, and residing at 2 Maple street, received a bad cut in the head yesterday while at his work. The wound was treated and bandaged, and this morning the man returned to work. At 12:15 o'clock his afternoon, the wound opened up and bled so much that it was thought best to have the man removed to the hospital and the ambulance was called. A nurse was taken to the Emergency hospital, where proper treatment was given him.

ANOTHER DUEL

PARIS, Nov. 24.—Another sword duel in connection with the Curpignin case took place today between Gustav Thery and Pierre Mortier, a writer in Gil Blas. M. Mortier was wounded twice, once in the arm and once more seriously in the wrist. After this the encounter was stopped, as honor had been satisfied.

Henry C. Beattie, Jr., Electrocutted for Murdering Wife

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 24.—Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., before his death in the electric chair at 7:23 a. m. today confessed to the murder of his wife. The statement was given out in the rotunda of a downtown hotel, as follows:

"I, Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., desirous of standing right before God and man, do on this 23rd day of November, 1911, confess my guilt of the crime charged against me. Much that was published concerning the details was not true but the awful fact, without the harrowing circumstances, remains. For this action I am truly sorry and believing that I am at peace with God and am soon to pass into His presence, this statement is made."

Beattie's confession was followed by the following statement by the attending ministers: "This statement was signed in the presence of the two attending ministers and is the only statement that can and will be made public by them. Mr. Beattie desired to thank the many friends for kind letters and expressions of interest and the public for whatever sympathy was felt or expressed." In a torrential downpour of rain, the twelve witnesses to the execution tolled through the murky dawn up the hill from which the penitentiary looks down upon the city. They were conducted single file through gates of steel bars to the chamber where Beattie was to offer his atonement. There was no conversation.

Within the chamber all was in readiness. The chair, a solid structure of oak, would ordinarily have appeared like the chairs seen in scores of libraries throughout the land. In the sombre bare chamber, however, it was sinister. Straps dangled from its arms and back and shining steel clamps gleamed in the light of the electric lights tentacles outstretched to clasp a victim.

Beattie Awaits Summons

The witnesses were seated, six abreast, in an angle of the room. They shuffled their feet uneasily and when one leaned forward to speak to another his action was received with frowns. Major Wood and two deputy wardens addressed the witnesses, going through some small formalities demanded by the law. Then with his two men trooping behind, he pressed out into the building where Beattie awaited the summons in his cell adjoining. From the death chamber the voice of the warden could be plainly heard reading to the doomed man the final summons. The warden's voice droned on. It seemed to the witnesses, interminably. In reality the compliance with the law occupied only a brief moment. Then, with Beattie between them the deputy wardens began their progress toward the chair only a few feet away.

The Death Chamber

When the procession followed by Supt. Wood started a signal was given which plunged the death chamber into blackness save for a single light immediately over the chair. This was so hooded that it outlined the chair in a circle of blazing radiance, so intense that the remainder of the room seemed in utter darkness. The witnesses could see each other. The prisoner saw nothing but the chair. There was no delay in preparing for the end. Beattie took his place, the prison surgeon and the electricians adjusted the straps, a half dozen clamps were quickly thrown into place and snapped. The cap, resembling a leather football head harness, was adjusted and the men stepped back. The warden raised his hand. Instantly Beattie's body stiffened with such violence that the straps creaked with the strain, the clamps rattled as though they were castanets in the hands of death and then that which once had been Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., relaxed. It was just 7:23 a. m. when the shock was applied. One minute later Beattie was dead. The surgeon had gone forward and

BOY FOUND GUILTY

He Was Charged With Assault With Dangerous Weapon

Hollis W. Chapman, aged 15 years, and residing at Dunstable, was arraigned before Judge Hadley in the juvenile session of the police court this afternoon on a complaint charging him with assault with a dangerous weapon, it being alleged that he fired a charge of shot at an automobile driven by Charles Tully. During the course of the testimony it was brought out that there is a sort of a feud between the Chapmans and the Tullys. The court after considering the evidence in the case found the defendant guilty and placed him in the hands of the probation officer.

Mr. Tully transports children to and from school in his automobile, he being hired by the town authorities. Last Friday afternoon, it is alleged that while he was driving through one of the roads in the vicinity of a brook a gun was discharged and about a dozen shots perforated the side of his auto. He made an investigation of the surrounding premises and located Chapman who, he says, admitted that he had fired a shot, but said he was aiming at a shell in the brook. The police of the town were notified and the arrest of Chapman followed. Mr. Tully, while on the stand, said that there was a bitter feeling on the part of the Chapmans and when the defense was put on it was said that Mr. Tully had a personal feeling against the boy as well as the parents.

Mr. Tully claimed that the shooting was deliberate on the part of Chapman, while on the other hand Chapman stuck to the story that he was shooting at a shell in the brook and had no intention of harming Mr. Tully.

Several witnesses for the government intimated that the Chapman boy had been expelled from school, but Chapman in explaining the incident said he was not expelled from school but was told that he would have to see the head school committee before returning. He said some boys had been placing cartridges in the furnace in the basement for the purpose of having some fun when they went off and on one occasion he was in the basement with several boys and that the boys took turns in throwing water into the fire causing the ashes to fly out through the door accompanied by a volume of smoke. He denied throwing water in the furnace but said he had opened the door to see if the water had extinguished the fire.

Judge Hadley in summing up the evidence said that he felt the boy inclined to shoot Mr. Tully, but owing to his age and immaturity it might prove a lesson, he ordered him placed on probation for one year.

CREW PICKED UP

After Spending 17 Hours in Small Boat

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Six shipwrecked sailors of the schooner James Maxwell, Jr., bound from Brunswick, Ga., to New York, reached port today on board the Morgan liner Bloco. They comprise the schooner's entire crew and were picked up off Cape Charles Wednesday, after spending 17 hours in a small boat. They said that the schooner had been buffeted by wind and wave for two days, becoming dismantled and was settling with her decks awash in the heavy seas when they left her.

THE LUSITANIA

WAS TOSSED ABOUT LIKE A CORK

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Through giant seas that tossed her about like a cork, the liner Lusitania made port today, hours behind her schedule and at a speed 25 per cent below normal. Passengers and owners declared that they ran into a gale Wednesday which lasted 24 hours. Many were hurled from their berths and few slept through the night, while mountainous waves swept the entire length of the promenade deck. Many of the crew slept only after washing themselves to their bunks.

A STORY OF TRAVELS

AT HOME AND ABROAD IN SEARCH OF HEALTH

Interesting indeed are many of the statements made in connection with the introduction of the remarkable new tonic "Tona Vita" that is being introduced in this city.

Among such statements is the following interesting account of a prominent society woman, whose name is temporarily withheld from publication by request.

"Upon ordering medicine over the telephone it was delivered to her by one of the specialists, who was sent here to introduce 'Tona Vita'."

"You see," she said, "I have been suffering from a complication of stomach trouble and nervousness. I have been to the sea shore and abroad, and have been treated by several noted specialists on stomach trouble and nervous diseases. I was only relieved temporarily, but since taking your medicine—which consists of four bottles of 'Tona Vita' and two of Laxative—my stomach is better and I feel so good that every day seems like a holiday to me."

"One must suffer to appreciate life to its fullest extent, and as I have suffered most of my life, now that I am well again I enjoy life so much more."

She is one of Lowell's wealthy society leaders, a prominent church worker, and gives very liberally to charity.

She is so thankful over her recent recovery of good health that she has for five bottles of 'Tona Vita' which she has promised to distribute among the poor people who are suffering and cannot afford to buy medicine.

Many people seem to be amazed at the remarkable records which are made by the new remedy. Many cases of nervousness, stomach trouble, and general breakdown of from ten to fifteen years' standing are reported to have been relieved in a very short time. The satisfaction that it has given is truly gratifying in nearly every case.

Since the introduction, 'Tona Vita' appears to have been a much sought for article and it is due to the wide-awake business methods displayed by the Hall & Lyon Drug Co., that the remedy can be found on sale in this city.

"We are greeting many calls who complain of nervousness, stomach and bowel trouble, headaches, backache, constipation, cold feet, imperfect digestion, spots before the eyes, timidity, listlessness, sleeplessness, and depression of spirits, all of which are certain indications that they are suffering with debility."

"Many Lowell people who feel worn out, half sick and depressed all the time, but who in reality do not know what is really the matter with them are unquestionably victims of this malady, 'nervous debility.' It is an all-too-common complaint in all the large cities, and it is therefore worthy to be found existing in any family here."

From 3 a. m. to 5 p. m. the specialists are meeting the public at the Hall & Lyon Drug Co. Increasing interest marks each succeeding day of the introductory sale of this remarkable new tonic. Many visitors from outlying districts come each day expressly for the purpose of procuring the tonic.

Walsh of Hingham, recent democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, expressing his approval of Mr. Walsh's determination to investigate the alleged corrupt political practices in New Bedford at the state election.

"The governor, in his letter, says: 'I am glad to learn that you are to investigate the alleged vote buying in New Bedford, for I believe you are in a position to render a great public service to the Commonwealth by so doing. I shall co-operate with you, personally and officially, in every possible way. I shall also ask Gen. Whitney of the state police to place his force at your disposal in searching out the sources of political corruption at New Bedford.'"

"I hope that your inquiry will not stop with the punishment of guilty voters, but will also overtake whoever may be responsible for the corrupt use of money in connection with an election in this state."

"Since the last state election my attention has been repeatedly called to the prodigal use of money at the polls in this state, particularly in the great number of paid workers employed and the virtual bribery of large numbers of voters under the pretext of paying them for the use of their conveyances."

"At the beginning of my present term of office I called the attention of the legislature to these campaign evils and I shall carry this matter much further in urging the next legislature to more drastic action."

MR. JAMES S. HASTINGS, MANAGER OF OUR DRAPERY AND RUG DEPARTMENT WILL ATTEND TO SPECIAL WORK OF ALL KINDS

WOMAN HAS $11,000

She Was Arrested on a Charge of Larceny

BOSTON, Nov. 24.—With eight bank books in her possession in addition to gold, silver and bills and diamond lockets, representing a total value of more than $11,000, Catherine McCann, aged 74, apparently very feeble and poorly clothed, was arrested about 5.30 yesterday afternoon in an uptown department store, charged with the larceny of seven shirtwaists valued at $31.50.

The arrest was made by Inspectors

Abbott and Knox, of police headquarters, after the woman had been followed by Miss Edith Thompson, a store detective. It is claimed by Miss Thompson that she followed the aged woman about the store more than half an hour until finally she went to the shirtwaist department. There, it is alleged, she put the seven waists under her long cape.

The McCann woman was taken to the superintendent's office, where it is said the property was recovered. She was then turned over to the headquarters inspectors and taken to Pemberton square in a cab.

She was identified by Inspector Douglas, who was in charge. At first she denied having seen him but later admitted that Douglas had arrested her more than 15 years ago for shoplifting, it is alleged.

The bank books she had bore entries representing $10,690.54. The books are on the Industrial Trust company, Newport; People's Savings bank, Providence; City Savings bank, Fall River; two on the Fall River Savings bank; two on the Union Savings bank of Fall River, and one on the Savings bank of Newport. The books of the latter showed a deposit of more than $4000. The bank book entries indicate that on some days the prisoner had deposited as high as $400.

She also had $470 in bills, $17.50 in gold, $1.20 in English money and $2.42 in silver, nickels and cents. In a chamber bag, which she wore suspended on a cord about her waist were found three diamond lockets, each worth about $100.

It is claimed by the police that the woman had a system for beating the large department stores and that evidently most of the money and valuables she had were acquired through perambulation.

Her method, so the police say, was to enter a store and steal all she could without detection. On the day or so following she would go to the stores from which she had stolen articles, offer the excuse that the articles were not just what she wanted and take cash refunded. "The police think that in this part of the game she must have had the services of a confederate."

The woman said she lives in Fall River, but refused to give any street or number. The police of Fall River will be asked to make an investigation. In one of the bank books was the address 112 11th street, Newport, R. I.

KILLED HIMSELF

Man Was Refused Drink of Whiskey

BOSTON, Nov. 24.—Upon the refusal of a bartender to serve him another glass of whiskey, John T. King drew a thirty-eight caliber revolver from his pocket and pressing the barrel against his temple with a dramatic outburst declared, "Then I'll never drink again," pulled the trigger dying instantly, at the saloon of Doherly Brothers, 793 East Sixth street, South Boston, yesterday. He was about 50 years old, a carpenter by trade, and of late had been lodging in the Commercial Point section.

About three months ago King tried to commit suicide in the Thomas N. Hart school, East Fifth street, by inhaling gas.

LARGE IMPORTS

OF PERFUMERIES AND COSMETICS INTO UNITED STATES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Twenty million dollars worth of perfumeries, cosmetics and other articles of this character were imported into, and exported from the United States in the last dozen years, and more than 2½ million dollars worth of it in the single year, 1911. This illustrates the great variety of articles now forming the international commerce of the United States and is an explanation of the constant demands made upon the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor for greater detail in its statements regarding this growing commerce.

A dozen years ago, in the fiscal year 1900, the total value of articles imported under the general title of "perfumeries, cosmetics, and all toilet articles" amounted to only a half million dollars, and the exports, one-third of a million. In 1909 the imports passed the million dollar line and the exports passed the half million dollar line. In 1911 the imports exceeded 1½ million dollars and the exports for the first time exceeded one million dollars in value. Taking the 12 fiscal years beginning with 1900 and ending with 1911 the total value of articles imported under this general title amounted to $12,050,447, and those exported to $6,723,625. While the mere item of 2½ million dollars worth of this class of merchandise imported and exported in a single year forms but a very small part of the 2½ billion dollars value of foreign commerce in that year, the rapid growth indicates the increasing disposition of the citizen of the United States to draw upon all parts of the world for comforts and conveniences and of the citizen of foreign countries to look to the United States for articles of higher grade of manufacture and luxuries.

France supplies by far the largest part of our imports of the class under discussion. Of the 1½ million dollars of articles classed as "perfumeries, cosmetics and toilet preparations" imported in the fiscal year 1911, 1-3 billion dollars worth came from France; Germany and England ranking next as sources of supply, but far below France, the total from Germany being $52,450, and from England, $32,199. The total number of countries, however, from which merchandise of this character is imported is over 30 and includes, aside from nearly all the European countries, Japan, China, Turkey in Asia, Cuba, certain other of the West Indies, and several of the countries of South America.

The exports under this head are even more widely distributed. The total number of countries and colonies to which articles classed as perfumeries and other toilet preparations are exported being more than 30, even France, from which we draw such large quantities, buying more or less from the United States. To England we exported of this class of merchandise, the fiscal year 1910, $174,736 value; to France, $42,412; and to the other European countries in less sums. Canada was the largest customer, $202,648 worth in 1911; England next, $174,736; Peru, $48,868; the Philippine Islands, $10,936; Panama, $57,410; Australia, $31,774; Cuba, $31,824; the British West Indies, $31,440; China, $29,292; and Brazil, $18,887; while considerable quantities went to Hongkong, the Straits Settlement, Japan, Colombia, Chile, Argentina, Ecuador and Venezuela.

The class of articles grouped under this general title of "perfumeries, cosmetics, and all toilet preparations" is chiefly made of cologne and other toilet waters, cosmetics, powders, theatrical grease paints, pastes, pomades, dentifrices, etc., nearly one-half of the total imports being placed in the tariff group, "containing alcohol, or in the manufacture or preparation of which alcohol is used," and imported at a rate of duty averaging 71.3 per cent, and about an equal value in another group, "not containing alcohol," upon which the average rate of duty is 60 per cent. ports, while the two great groups above noted range over a half million dollars each. The growing demand for articles of this character is illustrated not only by the growth in imports and exports but also by the increased domestic production. The census reports show the value of manufactures under the general head of perfumeries and cosmetics in 1890, 2½ million dollars; in 1890, 4½ million; in 1900, 7 million; and in 1905, over 11 million dollars, against a total importation in that year of less than 1 million dollars value.

WOMEN DOCTORS

STATE FEDERATION URGES APPOINTMENT AS INSPECTORS

BOSTON, Nov. 24.—At a meeting of the executive board of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs yesterday it was decided that as the federation is a state rather than a local organization, it is not advisable to sign a petition to the Boston board of health, advocating the appointment of women physicians as medical inspectors in the schools. The board recommended that the question of medical inspection in the state be referred to the public health committee of the federation, with instructions to advocate the appointment of a skilled physician, regardless of sex, in places where only one is employed, and the appointment of at least one woman physician where more than one is employed. It also recommended that all examinations of girls should take place in the presence of the school nurse, the school teacher or the child's mother.

For Cold Hard Cash

With the high hopes and fond aspirations of youth, the people of Lowell saw the Scott Tailoring Co. make their debut but a few short weeks ago. History makes fast. You saw their wholesome enthusiasm, their boundless ambition, their careless energy. Outwardly you saw all the characteristics that people have learned to admire and to associate with success. You didn't see behind the scenes—the internal structural weakness that renders enthusiasm, ambition and energy ineffectual—that blights hopes and aspirations, ere they pass the flimsy stage of dreams.

IT IS ONE THING TO OPEN A TAILORING STORE STOCKED WITH HIGH PRICED WOOLENS AND IT IS ANOTHER THING TO KEEP IT OPEN
IT IS ONE THING TO GIVE THE PEOPLE FANCY WOOLENS AT LOW PRICES AND IT IS ANOTHER THING TO MAKE MONEY ON THE TRANSACTION.
IT IS ONE THING FOR MITCHELL, THE TAILOR, TO MAKE A SUCCESS AND IT IS ANOTHER THING FOR IMITATORS TO IMITATE THAT SUCCESS.
NAPOLEON USED TO SAY HE KNEW 20 WAYS TO PUT AN ARMY INTO ENGLAND BUT NOT ONE WAY TO GET THE ARMY OUT AGAIN.

Minus the hopes, ambitions and aspirations of the Scott Tailoring Co., I today offer the people of Lowell this beautiful stock of woollens at Mitchell's prices. Bought originally to market for $15, $18, $20 and $25 to order, at these figures even the stock showed a loss to the Scott people. HARBOR IMPROVEMENT

Estimates of Amount of Money to Be Spent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Estimates for continuing the work of river and harbor improvement throughout the country, made public at the war department yesterday and covering the fiscal year ending June 30, 1912, show a strict adherence to the new administration policy of asking congress to appropriate only for those improvements which have received the approval of the army corps of engineers after the most thorough investigation. No new projects of any great importance are provided for in the estimates and unless congress takes the bit in its teeth and disregards the recommendations of Gen. W. H. Bixby, chief of engineers, the "pork barrel" method of river and harbor work will have been eliminated for a second year.

The appropriations asked for aggregate $29,925,698 as against $30,995,698 for the current year. The estimates will be sent to congress by the secretary of the treasury and President Taft in his message will urge that they be strictly adhered to. They are divided as follows:

Under continuing contracts, $12,154,958.
Rivers and harbors (general including Mississippi river commission, and examinations, surveys and contingents, $17,345,450.
Under California debris commission (expenses), $15,000.
Prevention of deposits in New York harbor, $15,260.
These estimates, it is explained, are intended to cover all the minimum requirements for the prosecution and maintenance of the various improvements. They were made up from estimates prepared on the same basis by the various district engineers, this being done to keep within the limited total estimates deemed advisable for the fiscal year of 1912 and on the supposition that river and harbor work will be provided for hereafter by annual appropriation. The estimates are to be divided between the river and harbor and sundry civil bills and are to be applied to 242 works.

General Bixby's Comment

In connection with the estimates General Bixby, chief of the engineers, says in part:

"Liberal appropriations are considered proper and desirable for snagging and other work necessary to make natural channels available wherever water borne commerce exists or is reasonably prospective. It is believed that expenditures for such improvements are almost always useful and advantageous to the general public, especially since the introduction and rapid development of small gasoline motor boats for combined freight and passenger transportation. In many cases it is apparent that the failure to use a waterway is due not so much to lack of channel depth as to the presence of snags and other obstructions which can be removed at comparatively small cost, thus making the natural channel depths fully available throughout the year. When the boat commerce develops or its requirements become greater the existing clear channel will be in its best condition for further and more extensive improvements."

"Improvements adopted by congress, have been either on the estimates, or in the case in which recommendations for appropriations for new projects have recently been submitted to congress in special reports."

"Under existing law re-examinations of existing projects are made by the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors in compliance with resolutions of the senate or the committee on commerce of the house of the house of representatives; but these re-examinations are subject to the limitation that no enlargement of the scope of the project can be considered, so that desirable extensions of projects can not be recommended. It is believed that a similar provision of law authorizing the chief of engineers to cause a re-examination of projects, at least those not heretofore passed upon by the board of engineers for rivers and harbors, would be in the public interest. Projects reported in the river and harbor act of March 3, 1899, as unworthy of further improvement by the United States or considered by the chief of engineers as in need of revision could in this way be fully investigated, local interests could be heard, and formal report thereon made for the consideration of congress. It would seem advisable in connection with any such re-examination to grant authority to consider and report upon any modifications in the nature of enlargements in scope of projects believed to be desirable, when such modifications are recommended by district officers or otherwise brought

Face Completely Covered. Blackheads, Too. Lasted Four Years. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment and Face Is Now Smooth.

"I was bothered with pimples and blackheads in the worst way for over four years. My face and arms were completely covered with them. The pimples would come out on my face and fast all up. They would scab over, and make my face sore, besides being so disgusting that I shunned my friends. I tried facial cream balms and benzoline with no effect. "One night I asked a friend what was good for pimples, and he advised me to try Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment which I did. I would wash my face first with hot water and Cuticura Soap, and then put on some Cuticura Ointment. It stayed on five minutes, and then wash my face again with the Cuticura Soap. It would draw the blackheads out as nice, and the pimples, oh my, it was one grand relief to go among my friends and be jolly again. After using two cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment, my face is as smooth as if there never had been a pimple on it. I cannot speak too highly of the Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and I hope others will profit by them as much as I have. I know they will after giving them just one trial." (Signed) Arthur E. Caswell, R. F. D. No. 2, Portsmouth, N. H., May 8, 1911.

Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold throughout the world, a liberal sample of each, with 32-p. book on the skin and scalp will be sent free, on application to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. 8A, Boston.

"If desired by congress for its consideration in providing for new works, reports could be submitted by the board of engineers for rivers and harbors and the chief of engineers upon the relative importance of the various improvements recommended as worthy of being undertaken by the United States, the order in which the works should be taken up, and the rapidly with which they should be completed, upon methods of standardization by which the waterways of the country could be improved uniformly in proportion to their capacities and to the existing or probable demands of general commerce, or even report upon a systematic scheme of such improvement embracing all waterways, whether heretofore examined and reported upon or not."

HARVARD VS. YALE

Both Elevens are Ready for the Great Contest Tomorrow

CAMBRIDGE, Nov. 24.—Hope for a dry field on which to play the 32nd football game between Harvard and Yale in the stadium tomorrow began to disappear at sunrise today when a southeast rainstorm swept down on the Charles and thoroughly soaked a soil that had not fully recovered from last Saturday's downpour.

The only cheering prospect was the prediction of the weather bureau, that the storm would be of comparatively short duration and that clear weather might be expected by afternoon and certainly tomorrow.

But the turf in the stadium is based on the Charles river marshes and does not dry readily, so that at 10 a. m. today the field was almost as sodden as those on which Yale met her only defeats this year, at West Point and on Yale field.

It was the fervent hope of both teams that the culminating contest might be fought out on ground that was dry and readily responsive to quick work and sure footing, but with the rain today the odds on Yale, which were quoted at 6 to 5 last night, narrowed to 10 to 9, with many wagers at even money.

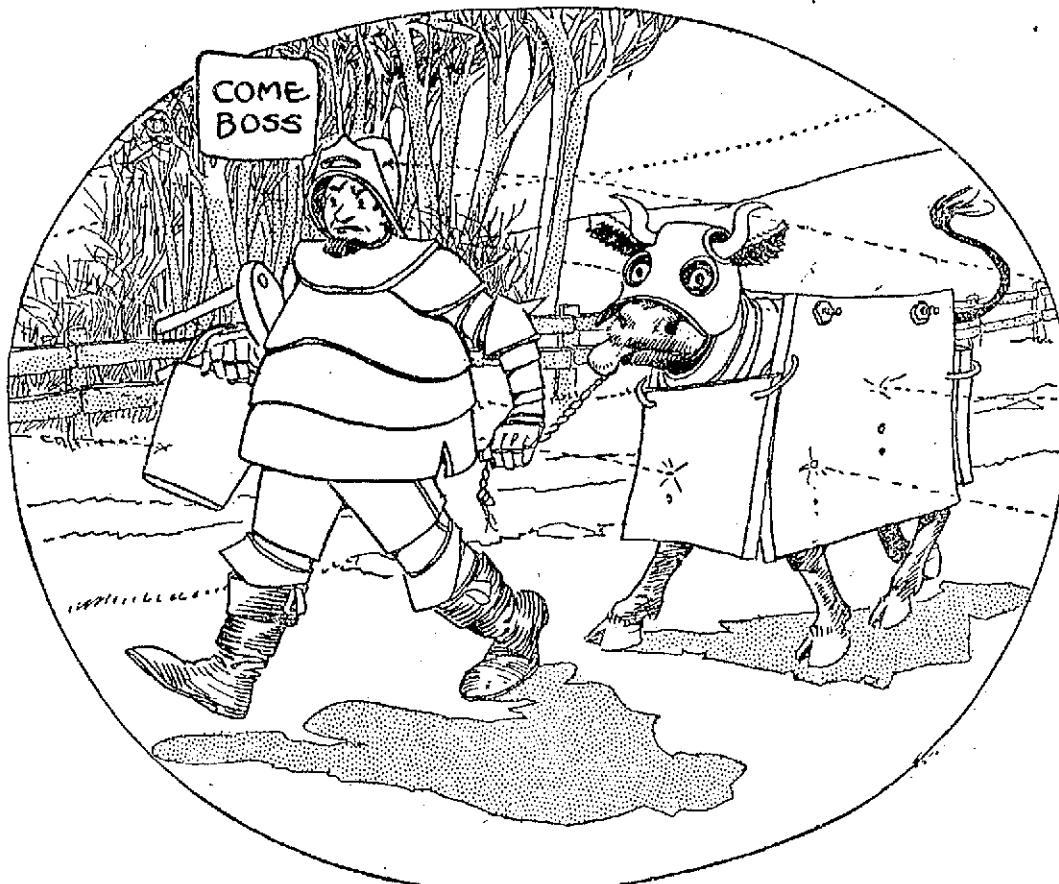

The rain seriously interrupted the final day's practice schedule for both teams. It had been expected that Yale would come over from Newton and spend two hours this forenoon in getting used to the lights and shades of the big amphitheatre but with the downpour the Harvard management asked the visitors to postpone their visit and not rip the turf to pieces.

At 1 o'clock the matter was being debated by the coaches and the Harvard management.

A big demonstration was planned for the Harvard team this afternoon with thousands of the alumni joining the undergraduate body in marching to the field and cheering their team.

The hotel accommodations of Boston were extended to their utmost limits today and even then there was an overflow to the boarding houses, while nearly every restaurant was taxed to its limit.

It is estimated that three thousand automobiles will be parked about the stadium, while the Metropolitan park commission will let down the bars to the Charles river boulevard in order to prevent congestion in the narrow street in front of the stadium.

Football tickets were as scarce today as the proverbial hen's teeth, even speculators finding it difficult to acquire their customary bunches to flash complacently in front of the passerby. Quotations ranged from $10 to $20 a pair.

COUNCILMEN LOSE

They are Legislated Out of Office

PITTSFIELD, Nov. 24.—Clerk of Courts Frank P. Cande received yesterday a rescript on the charter question from Chief Justice Ruggs of the Massachusetts supreme judicial court, who upholds in every particular City Solicitor Warner's contention that the councilmen elected last year for two years are legislated out of office, and the chief justice orders a writ of mandamus to be issued requiring City Clerk Alfred C. Daniels to issue election warrants for two common councilmen from each ward.

After reviewing charter legislation last winter with special reference to sections 41 and 42 bearing on the case in question, the chief justice says:

"The charter as a whole does not warrant the construction that the councilmen, whose terms of office, but for the adoption of the new charter, would not have expired until the end of 1912, hold their offices notwithstanding the new charter. Such a construction would involve either (1) three councilmen from each ward for the year 1912, although heretofore the law permitted only two from each ward, and hereafter will permit only two from each ward, or (2) the election of only one common councilman from each ward at the municipal election for 1911. Either construction is untenable.

"The charter manifests the plain purpose that the number of common councilmen shall be two, and two only, from each ward. As has been pointed out, section 12 required the election of two common councilmen from each ward at the municipal election of 1911.

"The inevitable conclusion is that under the provisions of the newly adopted charter the terms of all the common councilmen expire this year, notwithstanding the provisions of the previous charter, and at the election first held under the newly adopted charter that all members of the common council shall be elected—that is to say, two from each ward. While the new charter is in most respects identical with the old, it is, under the form of said chapter 732, a new enactment adopted anew by the voters. Let a writ of mandamus issue requiring the city clerk to prepare and issue the election warrants for two common councilmen from each ward."

BROKE OPEN SAFES

But Burglars Did Not Get Any Loot

BURLINGTON, R. I., Nov. 24.—Safelockers visited this town during the night and after breaking open the safes in two mill offices departed without a penny of loot. Today is payday at the Hope worsted mills at Whipple and the anchor mills of the American Woolen company at Graniteville and the burglars evidently believing the money to be in the safes, visited both offices and after blowing the doors off the two safes in the Hope mill and the strong box at the Anchor mill, two miles away, were able to find nothing of value in them. A box of private papers was taken from the Hope mill office but this was found beside the railroad track where the burglars had left it after discovering that the papers were of no value to them. In the Anchor mills an envelope containing a small amount of money and a small amount of stamps was overlooked by the burglars.

LAWRENCE FIREMEN

Dismissed from Dept. After a Hearing

LAWRENCE, Nov. 24.—Electrician Garfield Berry and Hoseman Edward J. Noyes, were dismissed from the service at a hearing yesterday afternoon, following their suspension because of an incident growing out of yesterday morning's fire at 503 Essex street.

Chief Engineer Carey suspended the men and preferred charges in writing, alleging that they wilfully failed to notify Lieut. Smith of a hole in the cellar that he was approaching. The chief claimed that he saw the men nudge each other as the lieutenant neared the hole.

Smith said that he had warned some of the firemen and Daniel J. O'Neill, driver for Chief Carey, said that he had warned Lieut. Smith of the hole. Hoseman Hayes said that he heard Lieut. Smith warn some of the firemen of the depression. The charges were sustained and it was unanimously voted to dismiss the men. Hayes has been a member of the fire department several years and Berry was appointed about three years ago.

HE SUES DRUGGIST

Man Says False Whiskers Deceived Him

BOSTON, Nov. 24.—In order to fasten false whiskers on his face during an amateur entertainment Frank Dolphi purchased a preparation which proved such a sticker, so he says, that when the time came to take them off he almost had to remove his face, too. And so he is suing for $2000.

The case came up in the superior court yesterday, with Richard M. Brundage, proprietor of the North End drug store, where Dolphi bought the "sticker," as the defendant.

Dolphi claims he made the purchase on June 9, 1907, asking for a gum and getting something else "just as good."

ACROSS FROM CITY HALL

TO BUILD UP THE HEALTH

Take a Tonic for the Blood and You Will Be Surprised to See How Troublesome Symptoms Disappear.

Good health is more nearly a question of pure blood than most people think.

When the blood becomes thin and impure the system breaks down at its weakest point, perhaps the nerves or the stomach. But the trouble is in the blood and when the blood is restored to its normal condition the disease, whether of the nerves or stomach, is cured.

There can be no permanent cure of a trouble caused by thin blood until the blood is built up.

"I had not been well since my baby was born nearly three years ago," says Mrs. O. E. T. Wilde, of No. 1011 Clark street, Cincinnati, Ohio. "I doctored and doctored and nothing did me any good. My physician said I was going down hill as fast as I could go and that there was danger that I would go into consumption. I lost flesh until I weighed only 100 pounds. My stomach was out of order and I had no appetite or ambition. I had a constant cough and looked haggard. I couldn't sleep soundly, would wake up at night and couldn't get to sleep again. I was so short of breath that I couldn't walk upstairs without pausing hard."

"The doctor told me to go to the country and while there my mother said, 'Why don't you try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People?' I had had typhoid fever when I was twenty years old and the attack left me very nervous. I took the pills then and they did me a great deal of good. So I started on them again. Very soon I began to notice that I could sleep soundly at night. This was the first sign of improvement. My nerves became stronger and my appetite became good. The cough left me entirely and so did the shortness of breath. I became strong and well and the neighbors all spoke about how healthy I looked. The color came back to my face and now nobody would think that I was ever threatened with consumption."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y. Send for our free diet book and pamphlet on "Diseases of the Blood."

VERDICT OF GUILTY

Bosworth. Convicted of Murder of Woman

BURLINGTON, Vt., Nov. 24.—A verdict of guilty, accompanied by a recommendation of capital punishment, was returned today by the jury that had heard the evidence in the case of Arthur Bosworth, charged with the murder of Miss Mabel Ladd at Essex Junction.

he told the court. "I was supposed to get up in the audience and disconcert one of the actors and then go on the stage myself. But I got so sick after passing the whiskers on that I had to go to the dressing room instead."

"Then I tried to take off the whiskers, but I found I could not get them off without pulling the skin, too. Some of the hair stuck to my face for days and my eyes were injured so I couldn't work for more than three months."

Burden, who is represented by a woman attorney, Mary Agnes Mahan, claims he sold Dolphi colodion, which experts testified is harmless.

The arguments were finished yesterday.

HE DENIES FRAUD

Rockefeller Says That Merritt Exonerated Him

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—John D. Rockefeller, in a statement given out here last night, answers the charges by the Merritt brothers before the federal grand jury in New York regarding the methods used by Mr. Rockefeller in obtaining control of the Mesaba ore mines and the Duluth, Mesaba and Northern railroad and points out that these charges were denied under oath as long ago as 1895 in the litigation over the Lake Superior consolidated iron mines.

He furthermore submits the text of a paper bearing the date of Jan. 22, 1897, to which are attached the names of Alfred and Leonidas Merritt and "all the other members of the family," by which they declare themselves satisfied that neither Mr. Rockefeller nor his agents committed fraud or made misrepresentations in the matter in question.

Mr. Rockefeller next sets forth what he says are "the facts with regard to the loans" about which the Merritts testified and denies that such loans were ever "called" by him.

"The paper referred to in Mr. Rockefeller's statement says: 'We have become satisfied that no misrepresentation was made by the Merritts in the loan of the Mesaba ore mines to us, or upon the purchase by him from one or more of us of any stocks or interests in any mining or railway company or companies, or upon the pledge by us or either of us to him of stocks and securities belonging to one or more of us; and we hereby withdraw all such charges and claims and exonerate Mr. Rockefeller and his agents and attorneys therefrom.'

Signed by Family
It is signed by 21 members of the Merritt family.

In referring to the loan the statement continues:
"The loans, aggregating $420,000, were made by Mr. Rockefeller in various amounts during the summer of 1893. Mr. Rockefeller never called these loans. In February, 1894, Mr. Rockefeller furnished them an additional sum of $450,000. They sold him 90,000

GUILTY OF MURDER

Negro Convicted in the Second Degree

BOSTON, Nov. 24.—In the United States circuit court at 7 o'clock last night, James Beeks, a colored man, who shot and killed Alexander Allen, of the same race and rating, aboard the battleship Nebraska at the navy yard on May 8, heard without flinching a verdict of guilty of murder in the second degree returned against him by a jury.

Beeks had hoped for an acquittal, or at the worst a manslaughter verdict, but smiled as Attorney Arthur D. Hill, who acted as his counsel, took his hand and said:

"I'm sorry, Beeks, the verdict wasn't different."

"That's all right, Mr. Hill, I'm perfectly satisfied," answered Beeks, with just a suggestion of the rolling accent of the transported southern darky.

The penalty Beeks faces, as imposed by the federal law, carries a minimum sentence of ten years and maximum of life at hard labor. He will go to the federal pen at Atlanta, Ga.

The charge of Judge Putnam to the jury closed at 120 yesterday afternoon. The jury was out just two hours.

"I would do the same thing over again under the same conditions," Beeks told the reporters after the verdict was returned.

FOUND NOT GUILTY

Man Was Tried for Wife Murder

PITTSBURG, Nov. 24.—After 20 minutes' deliberation the jury in the case of George Golden, the wealthy shoe merchant of Wickburg, returned a verdict last night of not guilty.

Golden shot and killed his wife on the night of July 18. He declared he mistook her for a burglar. The prosecution alleged it was deliberate murder.

After being exonerated by the coroner Golden was arrested on complaint of his brother-in-law, but was soon released by the court of Armstrong county on a writ of habeas corpus. Finally, to set at rest suspicion, Golden procured his own indictment for murder and, securing a change of venue, went to trial here Monday.

The case was vigorously fought. The prosecution endeavored to show that Golden frequently quarreled with his wife and that she was about to expose alleged questionable business methods by him when she was shot.

WEALTHY HEIRESS

WHO MARRIED AT 15 IS SEEKING A DIVORCE

ELYRIA, Ohio, Nov. 24.—Wedded in April to 17-year-old Noyes Rand Dawley, Lillian Huntington Dawley, 15 in November, wants a divorce. Yesterday her attorney filed a petition in common pleas court.

In April Miss Huntington was in a fashionable girl's school in New York, and her mother, wife of Commodore W. R. Huntington of the Sandusky Yacht club, took her for the Easter holidays to Asheville, N. C. At Asheville was young Dawley, with his mother. Soon they decided on matrimony and found an Asheville preacher who married them.

The grounds for divorce are not revealed, as the attorney was permitted to withdraw the papers from the court files.

Young Mrs. Dawley is a triple heiress, three estates contributing to her wealth. She inherited largely from William Marsh Rice, for whose murder Albert Patrick is serving a life term in prison in New York. Her grandfather, Huntington, was one of the early Standard Oil capitalists. Among her possessions some day will be some of the crown jewels of Isabella, pawned to equip Columbus for his first voyage.

SOCIETY WOMAN

WAS FINED FOR OVERSPEEDING AN AUTO

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 24.—The right to bullet carried with it a $10 fine in the case of Mrs. Grace Hamilton, a society leader and daughter of John D. Spreckles. She appeared in court yesterday to answer a charge of driving an automobile in excess of the speed limit.

Mrs. Hamilton admitted her violation of the ordinance, whereupon Police Judge Weller said:

"Under the old order of things, this defendant would have been released with a reprimand, but now, by the laws of this state, woman has all the rights and privileges that are granted to the sterner sex, and by the same token she must be subjected to the same penalties. I fine the defendant $10."

SCHOOL BOARD

Paid Tribute to Mr. Sherburne's Memory

BOARD MET IN SPECIAL SESSION LAST EVENING

And Adopted Resolutions of Sympathy—High School Was Dismissed Today Immediately After Assembling—School Board Will Attend Funeral in a Body

The school board met last night in special session for the purpose of taking suitable action on the death of Mr. Frank B. Sherburne. Resolutions of sympathy and regret were passed on President Johnson in calling the meeting to order, said:

"The members of this board fully realize the purpose for which this meeting was called. As one of Mr. Sherburne's pupils, I wish to personally add my tokens of respect to his memory as a man who for 23 years has guided the lives of many into better and more useful channels."

Mr. Simpson then moved that the chair appoint a committee of three to draw up and present suitable resolutions that would express the feelings of the board. The chair appointed Messrs. Simpson, Farrington and Lambert. Principal Irish of the High school was invited to sit with the committee on resolutions. Mr. Simpson reported for the committee, after a short intermission and the report will be spread on the records.

Dr. Lambert then moved, and Mr. Pyne seconded, that the High school assemble today as usual and that it be dismissed without further exercises. The motion was unanimously adopted.

Messrs. Goward and Simpson paid tribute to the memory of Mr. Sherburne. The chair appointed Messrs. Simpson, Farrington and Lambert to attend the funeral in a body. The motion was unanimously carried.

GAME TO BE PLAYED

Mr. McKenize moved that in view of contracts and pledged word to two schools outside of Lowell, that the game scheduled for the local high school team for Saturday be allowed to be played. The motion was carried, 6 to 3, Messrs. Johnson, Farrington and Simpson voting against.

GREAT SUCCESS

WHIST PARTY CONDUCTED BY THE SACRED HEART LEAGUE

The first whist party given by the Sacred Heart league of St. Louis church was held last night in the convent hall of that parish and was a grand success. The attendance numbered over 400 and the game was one of the liveliest for a long time, and the prizes offered were of an exceptionally good quality.

Mr. Narcisse Gauthier, who presided over the affair, started the game at 8.15 o'clock with a few words of praise to the committee in charge, and thanks to the large gathering. The scores at whist were a number of the members of the league.

While the points were being counted, the following entertainment program was rendered: Centralville quartet, "Les Martyres aux Arènes"; operetta, entitled "Les Trois Servantes," on Les Cordons. Messrs. O'Brien and J. T. David, Emeril Brown and A. Elie, the Misses Graciele Dupuis and Regina Caron, with Miss Ida Monaghan at the piano. This little comedy interspersed with light opera music was well received and well received by the large audience. Messrs. George Labranche and Arcile Brunelle made a favorable hit with their comic duets, and they had to respond to many encores. The Misses Alice Pratte and Clemence Simard also sang to advantage, and last but not least, Romeo St. George and Frank Lambert of the Jolly Five, who for ten minutes entertained in a delightful manner with their songs and clog dances. The accompanists of the evening were Misses Antoinette Pratte and Ida Monaghan.

The prize winners were as follows: An special prize offered by Frank Ricard was won by Mr. and Mrs. T. Barthelemy, a clock given by Rev. P. Fortier was won by Miss Eva Tremblay and for the envelope contest, for the one selling the most envelopes containing numbers for prizes, there were three rewards offered: the first, $5, was won by Miss Maria Renaud; the second, $2, was won by Miss Yvonne Fortin; and the third, $1, by Miss Yvonne Lacroche.

The committee in charge of the affair was: J. P. Boudreau, president; S. Renaud, A. Desmarais, E. Masse, J. Marlette, A. Brunelle, V. Delorme, E. Ducharme and H. McDonald.

The pumpkin contest, which consisted of guessing the number of seeds in a 21 pound pumpkin was won by Philippe Maille, who guessed 649, while there were 640. The prize was a $15 rifle given by Eugene Ducharme, sexton of the church.

THE SPENCER CASE

Will be Given to the Jury Tomorrow

SPRINGFIELD, Nov. 24.—The case of Bertram G. Spencer, on trial in the Hampden county superior court for the murder of Miss Martha H. Blackstone in this city, will go to the jury tomorrow. After an early recess today court and counsel held a brief conference, at the conclusion of which it was expected that the final arguments would be made this afternoon and the judge's charge to the jury would be deferred until tomorrow.

The government's case in rebuttal ended today and the defense put on a few witnesses in rebuttal. The first witness of the day was Dr. Fuller, one of the government's witnesses, whose cross examination was taken up yesterday, on direct examination, Dr. Fuller said that, in his opinion, Spencer knew right from wrong, knew that there was a penalty for wrongdoing and was not prompted by impulses that were irresistible. He characterized Spencer as a high grade imbecile. Under cross examination, the witness explained what was meant by the term "high grade imbecile." The government's last witness was another alienist, Dr. Tuttle, medical superintendent of the McLean hospital for the insane at Waverly, Mass. Dr. Tuttle testified that after making two examinations of Spencer and considering all the evidence in the trial he was of the opinion that the prisoner knew right from wrong and was not governed by irresistible impulses. Spencer created no disturbance at the forenoon session today. He hardly looked at the witnesses and seemed to be uninterested in their testimony.

A square deal for the city and the citizens will be James E. Lyle's, the jeweler, policy if elected.

TERMS OF PEACE

Italy May Attempt to Dictate Them

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 24.—Neutral commerce is seriously threatened by the proposed blockade of the Dardanelles by Italy and Turkey's consequent defensive measures. The ambassadors of the foreign powers here are conferring on the subject, as it is believed that Italian action will not be delayed much longer. It is thought that Italy may even try to force the Dardanelles and dictate her terms of peace at Constantinople.

PRISON SENTENCE

Hancock Found Guilty of Manslaughter

TAUNTON, Nov. 24.—A sentence of three years in the house of correction was imposed on Edward Hancock today by Judge White in the Bristol county superior court. Hancock was found guilty of manslaughter yesterday for causing the death of Miss Lottie Thomas and George Hunt in Attleboro on April 19th last. He was operating the automobile when he ran down and killed the young couple.

HUGH F. BRADLEY

Of Red Sox is Slated for Athletics

It looks as if Hugh Bradley, who plays first base for the Red Sox and slugs first base for the Red Sox quarter, now playing at Keith's, will be with Connie Mack's world-beaters next season, judging from the following which appeared in a Philadelphia paper yesterday:

A Hugh F. Bradley of North Grafton and of Worcester for first baseman on Connie Mack's world champion Athletics seems to be the way the Brookfield scout is going to patch up his initial sack problem, now that Davis has gone to Cleveland. Worcester followers of the diamond game know that for several years Connie Mack has liked the way Bradley plays first base position, and also thinks well of him as a hitter.

Bradley didn't get a chance to show what he could do at first base for the Red Sox, and now that Jake Stahl is going to play up the amateur banking game and is coming back to the Boston Americans, it looks as though Bradley will stand a good chance of going to Philadelphia if Connie puts up the right sort of proposition to Taylor, Derick, and possibly Roth. If he makes good, he is the only infielder Connie Mack will have in the spring above his regular custodian. Bradley would come in handy for an understudy or a pace setter, even for Melanes, the former New England lad, who is playing first base for Mack, now that Davis has left the Athletics' lineup.

Pratt, the Dean academy star first sacker, who went to Connie Mack, and who looked to be the goods on the basis of his schoolboy work, didn't stay long enough to get accustomed to the general conformation of Shibe park, and was released unconditionally.

BANK DEPOSITORS

WILL NOT BE ABLE TO SECURE THEIR MONEY

PROVIDENCE, Nov. 24.—The $5,000 two years' note which Thomas B. Taylor, president of the defunct New England Trust Co. of Providence, gave to secure his release from prison, where he was held for two years in default of $350,000 bail to prevent his leaving the state, was defaulted today and Taylor Joseph Burlingame believes that none of the depositors will obtain any of their money. The note was secured by collateral made up of stocks in companies in which Taylor was interested. This collateral, it was stated today by Mr. Burlingame, will be difficult to realize upon.

Taylor left the state immediately after signing the note.

The New England Trust Co. of Providence closed its doors in January, 1908, with liabilities amounting to $350,000 and $40,000 in assets. It had 1,400 depositors.

RAWSON BEATEN

Was Counted Out in Fifth Round

FALL RIVER, Nov. 24.—Freddie Yelle of Taunton won over Tommy Rawson of Boston last night in the fifth round of a bout that was slated to go 12. The climax came when Yelle had whipped a stinging left to the Hubble's stomach.

There was a howl of protest from Rawson and his seconds, for it appeared to many at the ringside that the referee was too speedy in his counting. There is no question but what Rawson was on the mat when the count of 10 sounded. In another instant Rawson was on his feet and eager to continue, but the referee had left the ring.

The spectators protested that Rawson was justified in putting up the kick that he did. In the first four rounds the fighting was terrific at times with Yelle having the advantage in the third round, although a slight one. The other three rounds were even. Rawson was the aggressor but lacked steam in his blows while Yelle's lefts and rights counted in the finishing.

Young Houscar of Attleboro won over Kid Willets of this city in eight rounds, the Attleboro lad being far the more clever and his jabbing won the decision.

Jack Minor stopped Kid Tessier, both of this city, in the third round, Tessier quitting.

LAWRENCE BOUTS
LAWRENCE, Nov. 24.—Three star bouts were the card at the Unity club here last night. Al Limerick of Haverhill and Tom Flanagan of Cambridge fought 10 fast rounds to a draw. Beano Green of Boston quit in the second round of a scheduled 10-round bout to Dick Pollard of Maine. Steve Kennedy of Lawrence and Albert Yelle of Boston ended in the fifth round when Kennedy, it was claimed, fouled Yelle and the latter was awarded the decision by the referee. About 700 fans attended.

HURLEY WINS EASILY
ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 24.—After he had defeated Jim Smith, the Westchester farmer, in a 10 round go here last night, Bill Hurley of Glens Falls was touted as being ready to fight any middleweight in the country. Manager Miller said he would post $1000 forfeit for Hurley to fight anywhere and any time.

Hurley had the better of Smith in the whole 10 rounds and several times the sounding of the gong was all that saved Smith from going down. Hurley sent in the cleaner punches and he also displayed much better ring generalship.

Both men were well cut up. It was a hard battle for both and the claret was sprinkled all over the floor. Smith's eye and nose were cut and his lip split open, while Hurley's nose bled profusely and at times interfered with his work.

BATTLING DOWNEY WINS
ADAMS, Nov. 24.—Batting Downey of Adams got the decision by a narrow margin over Tony Marengo of Boston in 12 hard, fast rounds before the North of Berkshire A. C. here last night. Marengo shaded Downey during the first six rounds, but the seventh Downey took the aggressive and showed improvement.

Marengo used a strong, left jab, which landed on his opponent's face with considerable force and aggravating frequency. Downey, seeming unable to get away from it, Downey's work was more deliberate and his heavy right and left swings to the head and body were landed with telling effect. Downey came up particularly strong in the last round.

Young Foster and Young Lamouroux, both of Adams, went six fast rounds to a draw. Kid O'Neil and Young O'Hearn, both of Adams, went four rounds to a draw.

If elected, James E. Lyle, the jeweler, promises the city the same attention that has made his business a success.

YALE STUDENTS

STARTED FOR CAMBRIDGE THIS AFTERNOON

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 24.—There was a general exodus of students from Yale this morning, all bound for Boston to be early on the grounds for the Yale-Harvard game tomorrow. Yale men are sanguine of the outcome of the contest. Few here were willing to give odds, however, but plenty of spare cash will be carried to Cambridge for wagers.

His father was on the right side and he went over to the left. Officer Lynch arrested him and brought him over to the box. Then the crowd scattered. The three men were intoxicated. Officer Lynch was then called, and he testified to going with the wagon to a call in Centralville at 11:19 o'clock on Nov. 11. He said he handcuffed both Daigle and the father and resisted arrest. The latter also tried to strike Officer Lynch in the wagon, but the son finally quieted his father and they were both taken to the station.

When cross examined by Lawyer Donahue, the witness said Officer Lynch was not intoxicated on that night, for he examined him after Daigle, Sr., had made a charge that the patrolman was drunk. When questioned if anyone struck Daigle, Sr., in the wagon, he answered "No." He also stated that Daigle, Sr., was not staggering when taken out of the wagon.

Captain Atkinson, who does night duty in the station, testified that he saw the two Daigles in the station. Their breath smelled strongly of liquor, they were staggering and they were both drunk. He saw the officer's head which was bruised and said his eye was bloodshot and his coat bloody. Relative to Houde, the captain said he saw him for the first time in the superintendent's office on the following Sunday evening.

Shirley Lynch was then sworn in and he testified as follows: "I saw Houde when he was brought in by Inspector Lafamme and Officer O'Brien on the Sunday following the assault. I questioned him about what happened the evening before and he said the officer struck him. He admitted kicking the officer, but said it was when he was standing, and that he kicked him in the legs. He also said he did not want to be arrested and therefore did not go home that night, but went to a friend's home and spent the night there, drinking about two bottles of beer."

This conclusionary for the government and eight witnesses were sworn in for the defense. The first one called to the witness stand was Ernest Daigle. He said he was talking business with a man named Bazin near the lunch cart in Lakeview avenue. His son Oscar went by and asked him if he was going home, at this point Officer Lynch came along and grabbed the boy and threw him down. Both of them fought for a while and then Officer Noonan came along. Both officers struck my son and then I told them there was no use of killing him, they were coming from the station to the box and then Officer Noonan returned, grabbed me and struck me on the head with his stick. He broke my hat and glasses. I did not see anyone strike the officer, and I did not strike him. The witness then showed marks on his leg and thigh, which were caused, he said, after he was in the wagon. He said he never interfered with the officer or tried in any way to prevent the arrest.

On cross-examination the witness said he took one glass of beer during the evening. He said the officer came along at about 11 o'clock. He also stated he was coming from his shop in Hall street. He denied that his son was drunk. "My son," continued the witness, "was with me about a half minute when the officer came along." He said he did not recognize Houde that night. He did not hear the officer say words before grabbing his son. He admitted being before the court and fined $20 for assault and battery. He said he has been living in Lowell 23 years and that he is a plumber by trade, and he also stated that it was in his shop that Coughlin was murdered. He said the officer struck him with a club in the wagon.

The next witness for the defense was Melrose Houde. His testimony was partly as follows: "I was coming out of the lunch cart on the night of the alleged assault, and Officer Lynch was going up Lakeview avenue with a drunken man. The officer returned and pushed me, saying: 'Move along.' I moved away, and the officer jumped on Oscar Daigle and said, 'I'll take you in.' They both went down. There was no loud talk around the place and young Daigle was not drunk. There were four people near the lunch cart. I tried to get Daigle away from the officer and in so doing, I kicked him on the shin bone. The officer received his injuries on the head when he fell, his head coming in contact with the curb stone. I did not see Daigle strike the officer before the latter caught him." When cross-examined the witness said he had two glasses of beer during the evening, one at 7 o'clock and the other at 10:19 o'clock. He denied kicking the officer in the face, but admitted kicking him in the leg.

Oscar Daigle, testifying in his own behalf, said he was talking with his father near the lunchcart, but was not making any noise or creating any disturbance. "The first thing happened," continued the witness, "was when the officer grabbed me by the shoulder and threw me down. I did not say one word. There were four men talking, but they were not obstructing the sidewalk. I did not strike the officer with my fist; he had hold of me and I had hold of him. Both officers clubbed me, and Officer Lynch called me vile names." As to his injuries, he might have received them when he fell on the sidewalk. "I only had two hours during the evening."

When questioned as to why the officer should cause his arrest, the witness said Officer Lynch has it for him, for about a year ago he (Daigle) prevented the officer from arresting a man in his house without a warrant. The witness also admitted being once fined $20 for assault and battery and $30 for drunkenness.

Oscar Daigle was then called to testify and he said he was standing near the lunchcart when the trouble occurred. He heard the officer say "move" and then he saw him grab Oscar Daigle. The latter was not staggering and there was no noise. He did not see any blow struck on the part of the Daigles. When asked how many drinks he had that night, the witness answered he never touched it. At this point the court adjourned, and the case was continued till Monday morning.

Drunken Offenders

The drunken offenders were not very numerous, five of them were brought before the court and out of this number four were fined $2 apiece, while the other, a second offender, was fined $5. William Tighe, who yesterday admitted his guilt of drunkenness, and whose sentence had been deferred till today, was this morning fined $2 and ordered to furnish bonds in the sum of $100 to keep the peace for a term of six months.

Larceny

Napoleon Lacourse, charged with drunkenness and larceny of a pair of cuff buttons, the property of the Knox Five and Ten Cent store, entered a plea of not guilty. After hearing the testimony of Mr. Chas. H. Miller, manager of the store, and two clerks, the court found the defendant guilty and imposed a fine of $15.

ASSAULT ON OFFICER

Case Was Heard in the Police Court Today

Judge Hadley's time was taken up at this morning's session of the police court with the case of Ernest and Oscar Daigle and Mabel Houde. The two Daigles are charged with drunkenness and assault and battery on Officer Jeremiah Lynch, while Houde is also charged with assault on the officer. Through their attorney, D. J. Donohue, the defendants entered a plea of not guilty. The case was tried with Superintendent Redmond Welch for the government, and after hearing the testimony of several witnesses, it was continued till Monday morning.

The alleged assault took place on Saturday, Nov. 11, when Patrolman Lynch, it is alleged by the government, was trying to place Oscar Daigle under arrest for obstructing the sidewalk. The first witness called was Patrolman Jeremiah Lynch, who testified as follows: "On Saturday night, Nov. 11, between the hours of 11:15 and 11:30, I with Officer Noonan was leading a prisoner to the box in West Centralville. I heard noise near the lunch cart in Lakewood avenue and leaving Patrolman Noonan, I started out to find out what the cause of the trouble was. When I reached the cart, the two Daigles, Oscar and his father, and Mabel Houde were standing on the sidewalk, talking loudly. I ordered them to go home and stop making noise. Oscar Daigle said he would not go and I placed him under arrest by placing my hand on his shoulder. He struck me twice in the face, breaking some of my teeth. I threw him down and put the twisters on him. He kicked me and the whole crowd kicked me. Ernest Daigle also kicked me several times on the head and so did Houde. The latter was the first and last to kick me. I holled for help and Officer Noonan came to my rescue after three or four minutes. I held on to Daigle while the crowd kicked me. I managed to hold my prisoner and came to the station with him. I went to the hospital and there the doctor took seven stitches to close two cuts on my head. My eye was also injured. Oscar Daigle was staggering and his breath smelled strongly of liquor. His father was in the same condition. Houde was also under the influence of liquor but not so bad as the others. I have not worked since."

On cross examination the witness said Oscar Daigle was staggering on the sidewalk near the lunch cart. He also denied striking Oscar Daigle, but admitted striking the father once on the head with his stick. The blow drew blood. I struck the father because he threatened me and tried to strike me. I did not take out my club until I reached the box with the father, who resisted arrest.

Patrolman Patrick Noonan was next called to testify. His testimony in part was as follows: "I was present at the trouble. A few minutes previous I was taking a drunken man to the box in company with Officer Lynch, when we heard hollering, noise and loud talking. Officer Lynch left me to see what the trouble was. Later my attention was attracted by yells from Officer Lynch. I could not see where the latter was and I walked about 10 feet toward Lakewood avenue. I let my prisoner go and I ran to Officer Lynch's assistance. When I arrived near the lunch cart the two Daigles were at the officer kicking him. The officer was on the ground and the men were kicking him on the head. I went into the crowd and saw Houde kick the officer and run away. I got hold of Oscar Daigle and seeing Officer Lynch covered with blood, I would not take any risk and I pulled out my club and struck young Daigle.

14TH ANNIVERSARY
Of the Pawtucketville Social Club
Observed Last Night

The 14th anniversary of the Pawtucketville Social club was observed in a fitting manner last night in the spacious quarters of the club in Moody street, corner of Gershon avenue. The affair was in the line of a social event for the members and their friends and indeed a pleasant evening was spent.

The attendance was not very large, but there were just enough guests for a good social time. The affair was opened by President Josephat Sawyer, who in appropriate terms welcomed the guests and announced the program of the evening which consisted of whist and a literary and musical entertainment.

Lots were drawn in order to couple the players and the game was started. Ten deals were played and the lucky and Alfred Duval were very entertaining with their comic songs. Refreshments were served. Among the guests were many prominent politicians who are seeking office under the new charter, but as this was not a political meeting, they were not allowed to advocate their candidacy. The affair was in charge of a committee headed by the president, Josephat Sawyer.

NEWARK POLICE

DRUGGED VICTIM

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—The Newark police were trying last night to solve a drugging and robbery mystery in which both the perpetrator and the victim were women. Mrs. Alberta Karnofsky, 53 years old, of 323 Norfolk street, Newark, is the woman who was drugged and robbed. The woman who did the job is described as young and tall, was dressed in black and wore a heavy black veil.

Mrs. Karnofsky, who lives on the second floor of the Newark street house, was alone in her apartment yesterday afternoon when the doorbell rang. When Mrs. Karnofsky opened the door the woman in black inquired for a family who had lived some time ago in the adjoining house. Mrs. Karnofsky told the strange woman that the family had moved. The latter then complained of being cold and feeling faint and Mrs. Karnofsky invited her in and gave her a cup of tea, she also taking a cup.

After Mrs. Karnofsky had sipped a little of the tea, she began to feel queerly and lapsed into a semi-conscious state. While she was in that condition, she says, the strange woman stole a small bag that she had around her neck containing $5 and also took her handbag containing her gold watch, gold chain and chain. Mrs. Karnofsky says she knew the other woman was robbing her, but was unable to prevent her or make any outcry.

Mrs. Karnofsky finally lapsed into unconsciousness and fell to the floor, where she was found last night by a neighbor. The strange woman had disappeared. She left a handbag containing a New York subway ticket.

Held at West Centralville Station

A delightful clambake was held last night at the fire station in West Sixth street by the members of Hose company No. 12, when a number of their many friends of that district joined them to discuss some fresh clams. Capt. Herbert Merrill was next to the halloping pot a part of the evening, and the way he served the clams with a little broth on the side, would have made some of our local waiters sick with envy.

The clams were of the finest quality and there were enough to feed all of West Centralville, so stated at first some of the firemen, but when Chief Hosmer, Assistant Chief Norton, Chauffeur Sanders and Inspector of Buildings Dow left the table, these men changed their mind, for it was then thought that another barrel of the sea food would have to be purchased. However, there was enough and the meal was very delicious, for a dish of hot butter, french crackers and potato chips were served on the side.

After the meal a game of cards was enjoyed in the smoking room and a pleasant evening was spent. When the guests departed they assured the captain and his men that they would soon return if invited, and the captain, a jolly good fellow, promised another feast in the near future.

"TO SAVE HIS SOUL"

Woman Says She Killed Her Husband

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—In a whisper that the jury could not hear, Mrs. Frances O'Shaughnessy admitted on the witness stand today that she had shot and killed her husband, George, on the morning of May 15, "to save his soul" when she learned that another woman had replaced her in his affections. She had prayed over the problem for an hour and a half, she said, and had reached the conclusion that it was the only solution. According to her religion, she said, her husband will be in eternal purgatory unless she saved him by ending his life.

STOCK MARKET

WAS WEAK AT THE CLOSE THIS AFTERNOON

The Selling Streaked for a Time—It Was Renewed, However, in the Final Dealings—Lowest Prices of the Day Were Current Towards the End—Other Features of the Trading

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Opening transactions in stocks today revealed no definite trend. Changes were small and irregular. The copper stocks were again active. Amalgamated Copper lost half and American Smelters 3/4 but Utah Copper gained 5/8. Third Avenue sustained a further loss of 1/2. The standard railway shares for the most part were steady.

After the market had digested some of the selling orders which were distributed at the opening the bulls began to work for a strong upward movement and soon had everything rising briskly. Large blocks of the recognized leaders were taken in, stepping took on a tone of unusual cheerfulness.

There was further heavy buying in the railroad stocks toward noon, especially in U. P. and Reading, but before the day's trading was far advanced the market showed the effects of heavy selling orders and gradually fell back.

The high prices brought out large amounts of stock in the second hour and the market gave way sharply. Many of the representative stocks reacted a point or more. A number of issues were fractionally below yesterday's close. Bonds were steady.

The market closed going down, after a midday but there was no effort made to rally prices. Can. Pac. showed exceptional strength, rising 3/4. Local tract securities were actively dealt in.

Selling pressure increased and there were further sharp declines in prices. Union Pacific, St. Paul, Louisville & Nashville and various other standard stocks were quoted a point or more below yesterday's close. Bear operators took advantage of the extreme weakness of some of the local traction stocks to attack the general list in a vigorous fashion.

The market closed weak. Selling slackened momentarily, but was renewed in the final dealings when the lowest prices of the day were current.

Business Conditions

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Advises to Dun's Review from leading cities in the United States continue to report enlarging activity in general business in response to seasonal weather, with an early beginning of holiday shopping. Retail demand is satisfactory at Boston, lower temporary to the movement of winter merchandise. Dry goods jobbers have had a quiet week, as retailers have been occupied with their own trade and were not obliged to materially increase their stocks. A quieter tone prevails in leather, owing to higher prices asked by tanners but shoe factories seem comparatively busy. Both men's and women's wear mills are well employed.

Bank exchanges this week at all leading cities in the United States aggregated $2,332,119,380, an increase as compared with the same week last year of 19.1 per cent.

GERMAN AUTHOR DEAD

MUNICH, Bavaria, Nov. 24.—Dr. Wilhelm Jensen, the well known German author, died here today. He was born in 1837. At one time he acted on the editorial staff of the Nord Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung the semi-official newspaper of the German government. He retired from newspaper work in order to devote himself to authorship and became a prolific writer.

HISTORICAL WRITER DEAD

MUNICH, Bavaria, Nov. 25.—Hugo Von Tschudi, professor and historical writer on art, died here today. Prof. Tschudi was born in Austria in 1851, studied in Vienna, and in 1883 became assistant director of the Royal Museum at Berlin. Later he became curator of the national gallery in that city. He was afterward appointed director of the Royal Bavarian state art gallery at Munich. He published many works on the history of art.

SHERMAN LAW DENOUNCED

HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 24.—The Sherman and trust law, in its effect upon business in this country, was denounced at New London yesterday by delegates to the annual convention of the Connecticut state board of trade.

Clavel S. Luther, president of Trinity college, assailed the law for its effect upon business interests.

The anti trust law was the principal topic of discussion at the convention, in which the delegates joined.

GOLF AT SEA REAL

QUINCY, Ill., Nov. 24.—It was stated here yesterday that the proposed new 1000 foot steamship to be built for the White Star Line will be provided among other things with golf links and a cricket pitch. She is to be named the Gigantic.

THE LOWELL SUN

JOHN H. HARRINGTON, Proprietor

SUN BUILDING, MERRIMACK SQUARE, LOWELL, MASS.

Member of the Associated Press

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilote, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 2, 1911. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.

Chancellor Lloyd George favors woman suffrage and promises that a bill extending the franchise will be passed next year. That should silence the militants for a while.

Already the local stores are getting ready their wares for the Christmas shoppers. They evidently expect the holiday trading to begin early. The sooner the better for everybody.

Governor Foss' stand put republican council has dropped Prof. Drop-pers and several other appointees of His Excellency. The members evidently feel that they don't need any more droppers.

Lowell will hereafter be regarded as a great centre for the woman suffragists. But of what good will the added vote of the women be if they all vote as directed by their husbands, fathers or brothers?

The counters for the primaries next Tuesday will have a tedious job. With 130 officials on the ballot and 27 precincts, the task may be imagined. Then the special ballot for women on the school board will complicate matters still more.

Col. Watterson's advice as to the proprieties of the journalistic profession strikes the ideal that we can hardly hope to see realized. We do not believe that even the Louisville Courier-Journal of which he is the editor comes anywhere near the high standard set by the colonel. But it is well, however, to have a high standard toward which every effort is directed.

THE PRIMARIES IN LYNN

According to the Lynn Item the primary election of last Tuesday did not bring out a large vote. Only a few offices were to be filled and there were less than a dozen candidates. After all we may have reason to rejoice rather than bewail the large number of candidates seeking office under our new charter. There are but two members to be elected to the Lynn council, for the water board and public property department, and two members of the school board. Had there been a contest for mayor there would have been more general interest, although the mayor under the new charter is little more than an ordinary member of the municipal board. His distinction gives him very little additional power.

THE LAUGH IS ON MAYOR FITZ

The whole state is laughing at Mayor Fitzgerald and other officials of Boston who have been entertaining a certain Judge De Clamecy, known as Duke De Nevers. This delightful gentleman came loaded down with French titles of nobility. He even was honored by sitting on the bench with the presiding judge of the municipal court. All went well until it was found that this "nobleman" was having bogus checks passed upon the Touraine hotel where he was an honored guest. After getting into the hotel to the tune of $400 he was brought up before Judge Sanderson, who adjudged him to be a common and notorious thief and sentenced him to not less than six nor more than ten years in prison. It is understood that he had been paying attention to several young heiresses and but for the rudeness of the police who had him sent to prison, he might have "copped off" a whole fortune and got the heiress thrown in. He certainly made a great impression in cultured Boston.

THE LOS ANGELES CONTEST

In the election at Los Angeles on December 5 the women may decide upon the question of experimenting with socialism. The city is committed to very extensive projects of municipal ownership, such as harbor improvements, aqueducts, street railways and plants to supply power. To complete these enterprises eighteen million dollars in bonds must be sold, but if the socialists get control at the next election it is argued that the success of these undertakings will be jeopardized. For this reason there is considerable anxiety as to the outcome of the election as 83,000 women have registered for the purpose of having a share in the decision of these great problems. It is alleged that certain college women in Los Angeles are appealing to the women in favor of the socialistic theory which seems to meet their approval. Job Harriman, one of the attorneys now defending the McNamars, is the candidate for mayor and George Alexander, the present mayor, is seeking re-election with the endorsement of the Good Government Association. There is a sentiment in favor of a change that will be progressive and it is possible that the array of women voters will try to sustain socialism as promising the "municipal Utopia," which the women long to bring about. There is danger that the independence, the initiative and responsibility of the individual may be sacrificed for theories that promise much but which wherever tried are disappointing in results.

PAY OF POLICE OFFICERS

It is not surprising of course that the police officers of this city are agitating for an increase in wages in view of the great increase in the cost of living. No doubt they feel the effect of high prices like every other class of wage earners. At present the policeman's pay is $2.75 per day. A great many cities and towns pay more and a considerable number also pay less. The city of Worcester, we believe, pays the same rate of wages, while Fall River pays $2.92 per day, but neither city has adopted the pension system.

If conditions favored an increase of pay for the police department at the present time, we should be sorry to utter a word against it, but unfortunately the present status of the municipal finances does not warrant higher wages for the employees of any department. It was on this ground that a demand for two dollars a day for employees of the park department was recently turned down. The street department wants more money for necessary work but cannot get it. Besides, there are other employees of the city, including clerks and school teachers, who are entitled to consideration in any proposition to increase wages in the city departments. The time may soon come when this question will be taken up and passed upon with fairness to all concerned, and yet with due regard to the city's financial resources. The police board should let this question of increasing wages await the pleasure of the new city government.

SEEN AND HEARD

Judge Fessenden, who is presiding over the session of the superior court without juries at the local court house in Gorham street this week, is a strict as well as an efficient jurist and yesterday morning surprised those in court by issuing a verbal order excluding all but members of the bar from sitting within the enclosure in the court room.

A clergyman, who is interested in charitable work in a poor quarter of New York, was listening on one occasion with much interest to a woman as she proudly told him of the reformation of her husband's character. "John's not a new job," said she, enthusiastically. "That's good," said the clergyman. "What is he doing?" repeated the woman. "He's boring wormholes in antique furniture."

ing stand him in good stead. Writing two letters, one to a relative, the other to a chum, he enclosed them in wrong envelopes. It chanced that in the second letter he had made some uncomplimentary reference to his relative, and on discovering the mistake he had made he awaited developments with anxiety. There presently came a letter from the uncle. "I have tried hard to decipher your epistle," it ran. "but your writing is so atrocious that I cannot make head or tail of it. I suppose I guess the drift of it to be that you need some money; you rogue, so I enclose a check."

"Yes, dogs are undoubtedly sagacious animals," Jones said to his friends, "but none of your dog stories will beat this. My friend Johnson had a most intelligent retriever. One night Johnson's house caught fire. All was instant confusion. Old Johnson and his wife flew for the children and bundled out with them pretty sharp. Also one of the children had been left behind, but up jumped the dog, rushed into the house, and soon reappeared with the missing child, which he deposited on the lawn. Everyone was saved, but Rover dashed through the flames again. Presently the noble animal reappeared, scorched and burned with—what do you think?"

"Give it up," chorused the eager listeners. "With the fire policy, wrapped in a damp towel, gentlemen!"

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Courier Citizen: The Malden health authorities have inspected the Chinese laundries and ordered five of them cleaned up. Laundries, barber shops and bakeries everywhere should be closely supervised by those employed in look after the public health and kept up to a proper hygienic standard. Modern sanitation demands such inspection and it should be constant and thorough.

LOWELL SUFFRAGETTE FAME

Lawrence Telegram: Lowell promises to be a stronghold for suffragettes. Since the new charter went into effect this fall in that city over 5000 women have registered as voters. The women only vote for school committee but apparently they are desirous of using the ballot and will undoubtedly become active workers in the woman suffrage cause. The women of Lawrence have the same privilege under the new charter here, but apparently they were not as anxious to vote as the fair sex in Lowell. The women will not have an opportunity to register here before the preliminary election as there will be no registration after Nov. 19, consequently there will be few women voters at the preliminary election.

PENNYPACKER'S BOOK

Johnstown Democrat: Ex-Gov. Pennypacker has gratified his enemies by writing a book which is a severer indictment of him than any of them would have thought of attempting. His efforts to extirpate his administration in connection with the building and furnishing of the Palace of Graft is in the last degree an offense against decency and the truth of history.

The great mistake in prosecuting the men involved in that monstrous conspiracy was in failing to make Samuel W. Pennypacker a defendant.

GIFT FOR CHURCH WORK

New Bedford Standard: Cardinal Gibbons has received from James J. Ryan of Philadelphia a gift of $50,000 for the Catholic university at Washington. The money is designed for the establishment of a chair in scripture. Mr. Ryan is a Philadelphia builder who constructed the famous Catholic cathedral at Richmond, Va., and is connected with leading Catholic clubs and societies.

THE RESIDUE MESSAGE

Fall River Globe: Considering that he has but recently delivered some 300 speeches about the country defining his views and attitude on public questions, one might suppose that President Taft would experience some difficulty in finding much that he hadn't already threshed out in public with which to fill up his message to congress.

WANT BEAUTIFUL HAIR? THEN TRY THIS SHAMPOO

(Maid Marion on Beauty) "It is a well-known fact that wet shampoos work injury to both hair and scalp, as all contain more or less potash and 'froid' alkali, necessary to create a lather. These two chemicals reduce the vitality of the hair glands and delicate tissues, and drenching the head to remove the lather usually aggravates the condition. "A very fine dry shampoo that is cleansing and beneficial to hair and scalp can be made by mixing 4 ounces of either orris root or corn meal with 4 ounces terebinth. A tablespoonful sprinkled on the head, then brushed well through the hair, cleanses and exfoliates the scalp, takes every particle of dust and oil from the hair, and leaves it soft, glossy and easy to do up."

EX-SENATOR DRYDEN OF NEW JERSEY IN CRITICAL CONDITION

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 24.—The family of former Senator John F. Dryden, president of the Prudential Insurance company, who was operated on for gallstones Friday last, are very much alarmed by his condition. After he was operated on he showed remarkable vitality for two days, but later had a change for the worse. He is 72 years old.

Little Mary Recites for Anty Drudge.

Anty Drudge—"Now say it again, Dearie. It's every word true."

Little Mary—"See my nice, new party frock, So clean and fresh and bright. Anty washed it with Fels-Naptha; That's why it is so white."

So Much Less Work.
"Through Mrs. Dr. Robinson, I learned first of your naptha soap and must admit I tried it without much hope of success, but I was surprised at the result. The following week I tried it on a large washing and was delighted beyond measure. I will use no other soap as long as I can get Fels-Naptha. I tell every lady about it that I come in contact with, for I feel it is a duty I owe every working sister. I laughingly told a gentleman that a man did not love his wife if he did not provide her with Fels-Naptha soap. My family says I am full of soap about it, but I have no much less work, so much more time for other things and so much less fatigue when my washing is done that I feel I cannot speak too highly of Fels-Naptha soap or speak of it too often. All my neighbors will endorse every word I have written and I could write pages."

Mrs. J. B. MAGNUS,

Clothes Whiter Than Ever Before.

"I have been using Fels-Naptha soap for almost six months and consider it the only soap for dining room, kitchen and laundry. My silver and glass never looked so bright and beautiful as it does since using Fels-Naptha soap, and the clothes, table linen, etc., are whiter than ever before."

KATHARINE HARMAN,

Fels-Naptha Don't Injure the Clothes.

"On account of the illness of my washwoman, I had a chance to give Fels-Naptha soap a thorough test and I wish to say that I am more than pleased. It doesn't injure the clothes in the least. It just makes the dirt let go and leaves them clean and white as snow. Several highly advertised and labor-saving soaps have come under my notice, but none seems to fill the bill like Fels-Naptha. My husband just asked me if I was trying to make a name for myself as a washwoman. I said no, but with Fels-Naptha soap I can be independent of a washwoman if I wish."

Mrs. G. N. SIZOO, Louisville, Ky.

Fels-Naptha Soap Did It.

"There are so many worthless soaps (especially of the laundry variety) on the market now that I feel it is a duty to you, and it certainly is a pleasure to tell you how highly we appreciate Fels-Naptha. I have used the soap since first introduced to us by one of my agents, nearly five years ago, and feel safe in saying that it is superior to any upon the market to-day. When we have an unusually large washing and comment upon how nicely I have accomplished the task, my husband invariably says Fels-Naptha did it."

EMILY APPLE, Johnston, Pa.

Boon to Housekeepers.

"Never before in my experience as a housekeeper have I felt called upon to write my thanks to any of the numerous firms who have 'Aids to Housekeepers' on the market, but since I first used Fels-Naptha soap I have been filled with gratitude to the person who gave to housekeepers this great labor-saving soap. I have sung its praises until my friends think it is really quite a joke, because for everything my answer is 'Use Fels-Naptha soap.' I want to thank you for the great comfort and pleasure its use has brought to me and say sincerely that you have introduced an article which will be a boon to the housekeeper."

Mrs. BARNETT, Dayton, Ohio.

Every Spot Came Off.

"I never before wrote a testimonial for anything, but my sense of what is due you prompts me to send you this unsolicited statement of the worth of your splendid soap—Fels-Naptha. During the winter our stovepipes sprang apart at one of the joints (in the hallway) and the snow melted and ran into the soot forming a sort of creosote water. I suppose which splattered out on the floor and washboards. It was a most unpleasant mur on an otherwise clean floor. We had supposed we should have to hire a painter to scrape the floor and washboards and then revarnish and paint, as we had tried soaps in vain and other things too—to remove the unsightly, black, spotted stain. Imagine my surprise and delight when my girl applied Fels-Naptha soap. Every spot came off and the wood was as clean as new. I appreciate the value of such a household friend, and gladly commend it to all housekeepers who want a good thing."

Mrs. M. D. McKENZIE,
Grand Rapids, Mich.

Only Soap He Could Use.

"Crossing the continent last summer, I noticed a boy on a train in Arizona in the wash room with the private soap box. I asked him if ordinary soap was not good enough for him and he replied that crossing through alkali country Fels-Naptha was the only kind that could be used without cracking the hands or face and he advised me to never travel without it. My wife uses Fels-Naptha soap for washing and told me that it was the most satisfactory soap she had ever used."

THE YARD TEAM

NEW YORK POLICE THINK BUTCHERS' FEUD IS ON

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—An hour after Levi Goldstein and Samuel Feinberg, composing the butcher firm of Goldstein & Feinberg, Eleventh street and Avenue A, left for home last night a bomb exploded in front of their shop and blew out three of their windows and two windows of the firm next door, the Black and White Trading Stamp company. In the excitement that followed some one stole six hams left in the butcher shop window for display purposes, and from the trading stamp company's window six dolls.

The bomb last night is the third which has exploded on the block in the last eight weeks, and the police think other butchers in the neighborhood are the cause of them. The first bomb muscled up the store of the United Beef Supply company on the same block. The second was dropped down the chimney of the tenement in the basement of which is the Goldstein & Feinberg concern and greatly disturbed the family of Basile Le Barbare, who lives on the fourth floor, exploding as it did at supper time.

THREE SET FREE

The Men Were Accused of Murder

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 24.—John L. Lee, counsel for Rev. C. V. T. Riehe, son, the Boston minister, accused of murdering Miss Anna Linnell, succeeded yesterday in freeing three men of the charge of murder after each had been twice convicted and sentenced to die.

He attributes his success largely to the fact that he was shrewd enough not to introduce the testimony of Geo. Bolton, a merchant-farmer of Buckingham county, who claims to have witnessed every detail of the murder in a dream the night it occurred three years ago.

At both the other trials Bolton was used by the defense and on each occasion his testimony seems to have had anything but the desired effect on the jury because of its weird, uncanny nature.

When the name of Bolton was called today in court, Lee announced that he would not put him on the stand.

"But the prosecution may use him if it cares to," he suggested.

"We don't care to have anything to do with dreamers," retorted State's Attorney Folkes.

In the previous trials the defense made use of Bolton's testimony with a view of showing that the two alleged witnesses for the prosecution fabricated their testimony largely on the basis of the dream which was repeated about Buckingham county for several weeks before they came forward and offered their services to the state as witnesses.

The case involved the murder of the Stewart brothers in that county, who were robbed and then burned to a crisp along with their home. It was tried here on a charge of venue.

Three men were accused of the crime, Edward Jones and Richard Perkins, negroes, and Dallas Wright, a white man of prominent connections in the county. Jones was acquitted yesterday morning soon after the case against Perkins was not pros'd.

Yesterday afternoon Gov. Mann promptly pardoned Wright, who had failed to get a new trial on a technicality in the county jail, where Wright has been confined for safe-keeping, he chummed for a while last summer with Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., condemned wife murderer, who paid the death penalty in the electric chair this morning. Wright frequently cheered up Beattie with the assurance that there was hope so long as there was life.

THE DEATH PENALTY

Will Not be Restored in Rhode Island

PROVIDENCE, Nov. 24.—Capital punishment in this state is not to be restored, the legislative committee on the revision of the criminal laws declining to recommend it.

The new laws which have been in course of reconstruction for the past two years will be presented to the incoming legislature early this winter.

The demand for the resumption of capital punishment for murder was made by ex-Assemblyman Bullock of Pawtucket soon after the slaying of a merchant in that city by William Trent, a highway robber. The proposition was strongly opposed by leading citizens of the state, including ex-Chief Justice John H. Stinson.

With a weighty majority in the new house of representatives, a stubborn contest looms up for the speakership

ZEMO MAKES ASTONISHING ECZEMA CURES

"WE PROVE IT"

Every day ZEMO gives relief and cures men, women and children in every city and town in America whose skins are on fire with torturing ECZEMA rashes and other itching burning, scaly, and crusted skin and scalp humors.

ZEMO and ZEMO (antiseptic) SOAP, two refined preparations, will give you such quick relief that you will feel like a new person.

We give you three reasons why we recommend and endorse ZEMO and ZEMO SOAP for all skin and scalp eruptions.

1st. They are clean, scientific preparations that give universal satisfaction and are pleasant and agreeable to use at all times.

2nd. They are not experiments, but are proven cures for every form of skin or scalp affections whether on infants or grown persons.

now held by William C. Bliss of East Providence.

In the light against Speaker Bliss, who is a candidate for re-election, is ex-Speaker Roswell B. Burdick of Little Compton, who held the chair for three years. Another aspirant for the honor is Richard W. Jennings of Cranston, for whom several leading republicans are making a fight.

In the event of a compromise, it was stated last night that Speaker Bliss might withdraw if the position of republican leader of the house was conceded to him.

Five cities are to seek biennial municipal elections, provision to be incorporated in the charters of the cities by the general assembly. Newport may not be included in the sweeping movement.

Newport has a city charter unique in this state, and elects its municipal officers in December. Mayor Fletcher of this city is in favor of biennial elections in Providence. In Pawtucket it is said that the sentiment is equally as strong. Woonsocket, Central Falls and Cranston are also reported in line.

USED $1000 BILL

REAL ESTATE MAN WANTED TO LIGHT HIS CIGAR

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 24.—Sigurd Hartig, a real estate dealer, formerly of Cincinnati, accidentally lit a cigar with a $1000 bill here yesterday. He intended to burn only the end of a bit of yellow paper at the edge of the bill for the edification of his friends. Samuel Haller joined the group just as Hartig lit the cigar.

"Give me a light, Sib," said Haller, seizing the bill. Before Hartig could recover it the bill was in flames. The two men quarreled and were separated by a city detective who reported the incident to the police. A small corner of the bill and a few ashes were recovered and will be sent to the treasury department at Washington by Hartig in an attempt to have the loss made good.

COLLEGE CLUB

HELD MEETING AT THE WHISTLER HOUSE

The November meeting of the College club was held yesterday afternoon at the Whistler house in Worthen street, there being a large attendance of members. Mr. Harry Kimball, of Boston, spoke on one of the recent economic plans for the prevention of poverty, the giving of insurance to the people at the lowest cost by the savings bank. Under the state law prominent banks of the commonwealth have the system in full working order, and many employers in large concerns have influenced and taught their employees to provide for themselves by this method.

It was announced that at the December meeting of the club, Mrs. Christabel Kinder will give a dramatic reading, and guest tickets will be sold for the benefit of the playground fund. Mrs. Olney and Miss Spear were hostesses.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

That this is a day of clean plays is amply demonstrated by the success of the new comedy, "Introduce Me," that is to be presented at the Opera House on Monday, Nov. 27th. It has been said of this play that it is as sweet as a clover field in full bloom. There is not a jarring note to it, there is said to be a genuine wealth of laughter to the story and the ingredients of heart interest and romance have been happily blended. The piece was written by Della Clarke, the well known author-actress. She will appear here in the leading character and will be surrounded by a picked company of actors, all of whom are well known on Broadway.

TEN NIGHTS IN A BARROOM

Five acts and eleven scenes, covering a period of ten years in the lives of Simon Slade, Sample Swichee, Joe Morgan and the other characters, are portrayed in "Ten Nights in a Barroom," which comes to the Opera House next Tuesday, Nov. 28th, for an engagement of one day, matinee and night. Popular prices will prevail, and seats are now on sale.

BILLY TIE KID

"Billy the Kid" comes to the Opera House Wednesday and Thursday, Nov. 29 and 30. Like "Uncle Tom's Cabin" this play will find a warm welcome, and the advance sale of seats already foretells its great popularity. Seats for all performances are now on sale.

CY WHITAKER

All of the humorous characters introduced in the novel have been reduced in the dramatization of "Cy Whitaker's Place," prominent parts being given to Little Italy, Annie Phinney, Asaph Tiddit, Bailey Bangs, Herman Atkins, Phoebe Dawes and Henry Thomas. All of the quaint characters will be admirably played by a cast of uniform excellence.

MAUDE ADAMS

Above all else, "Chantecler" must be acted by a person able to disclaim verse, capable of interpreting the lyric note so predominant through each of the acts. Very few English actors possess this quality and who but Miss Adams is at hand with the subtlety, delicacy and fineness of method needed to reach such a note and to keep it from seeming out of key. In France their great actor Guitry's chief difficulty in the role was to fight against a perfectly well intentioned but equally perfectly misplaced laugh, which such as his comes as these brought from the audience. For when these passages of tenderest charm were spoken by this actor, who is over six feet tall, a huge figure of a man, the awkwardness of his movements invariably ruined the beauty of the lines. Miss Adams, on the other hand, physically is absolutely suited to "Chantecler" and can never strike the eye of the spectator as being grotesque. Indeed, with a little thought, it can be well understood how Miss Adams remained always the undoubted choice.

KEITH'S LOWELL THEATRE

The Elks turned out in large numbers last night in honor of the Red Sox quartet and the boys gave a few extra numbers in honor of the Elks. Only a few more performances remain and none should miss this week's strong bill. In addition to the ball player-vocalists the bill includes the four bards in one of the most wonderful acrobatic acts ever presented on the stage. Their lofty work is simply marvelous. Lucille Laverne, the dainty comedienne and her company which includes James Thatcher, a former Lakeview theatre favorite presents a fine comedy sketch entitled "How Jasper Fixed It," a most ingeniously funny playlet. Madden and Nugent have a laughable bit entitled "Too Many Darlings." Carlin and Penn got a divorce in German dialect and sing funny parodies. Monroe and Mack as "The Two Recruits" have a roaring black face act that gets the audience everything. Paul LeClerc is a mad hatter indeed for the stunt he does with a collection of silk flies beggars description, and last but by no means least the Elliotts present one of the finest musical acts in vaudeville. The most attractive of all musical instruments, the harp is seldom attempted by the vaudeville performer, but the Elliotts are real artists on the harp and they are excellent singers into the bargain. Their act is a high class offering and is greatly enjoyed by all who have witnessed it. There are also new pictures. Manager Stevens has arranged for a particularly strong bill for Thanksgiving week.

Thanksgiving Day Seats
Seats for the Thanksgiving day performances at Keith's are now on sale and may be secured by applying at the box office. On account of the great demand for holiday seats no mail or telephone orders will be received. As you desire seats for the holiday must secure them at the box office.

FLESHY PEOPLE SUFFER FROM SKIN TROUBLES

Fleshy people are often troubled with itching and irritation of the skin caused by perspiration and chafing, which frequently develops into eczema or other skin trouble, and if neglected, may become chronic. It matters not how long you have suffered or what kind of skin troubles you have, the new remedy Cadum should be given a trial. It has proved a blessing to thousands who have suffered for years from distressing, stubborn and inflaming skin diseases. Cadum is soothing and healing wherever the skin is discolored, irritated or diseased. It is antiseptic, and prevents infection from disease germs. It acts quickly upon eczema, pimples, sores, eruptions, ulcers, rashes, rough skin, chafes, itching piles, etc. All druggists sell Cadum at 10c and 25c.

No Need for a Pastry Flour

If you buy flour from low-grade wheat—

Flour imperfectly ground—

Flour not properly sifted—

Then you'll need another flour—a better flour—when you come to make dainty desserts.

But, if you buy Gold Medal Flour—

Made of premier wheat—20 times ground—sifted 10 times through silk—

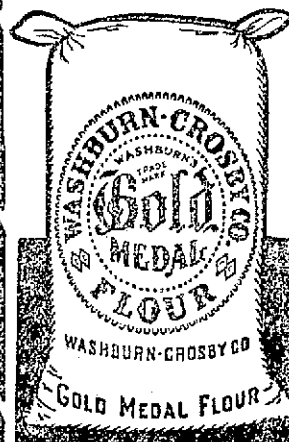

You'll need no better flour for anything. You can't get any better.

It's a bad mistake, for any purpose, to get inferior flour.

You save nothing by it. You get less bread—immensely poorer bread. And part of it can't digest.

Flour is all-important.

are just as advertised, and as good, if not superior, to all other vaudeville offerings in the city, is the fact that the daily attendance at this popular playhouse continues to hold at its maximum figures. If the show wasn't superior in quality and quantity, price considered, than any other local offering, it is only natural to suppose that its patronage would drop. Local theatres are particularly about the entertainment provided them, more so than in many other cities of the east. The fact that is fully realized by the management of the Merrimack Square theatre. The offering for this week is only one of the long series of successes which has characterized the regular bills at this playhouse, and will continue in the future. The Seven New York Hippodrome Lions, directed from a long and successful run at the metropolis. Our Stock company, Melvin and Thatcher, Ah Ling Foo are some of the bright features. The photo-plays are the best shown. Next week's bill will again be unusually entertaining. Patrons are reminded that there are 250 seats, including the orchestra chairs and all reserved chairs, on sale at every matinee, with the exception of Saturdays, Sundays and holidays, for 10 cents. Box seats, 25 cents. Reserved seats for Thanksgiving day, afternoon and night, are now on sale. The first show on Thanksgiving day will start at 12 o'clock noon.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

"The Struggle," Anthony Willis' great comedy drama, appears to have suited all comers at the Hathaway thus far this week, judging from the favorable comments that have been passed on it, although the patrons of the theatre would like to see Mr. Meek have a little more to do. Still, he works hard enough in his great fight scene with William Walsh to make up for the time that he is not in the dialogue. The first fight of the hero and the villain is a novelty in the line of stage fights which as a general rule run to swords and pistols. In "The Struggle" in accordance with the custom of the East Side in which the scene of the play is laid the two men go at it with bare knuckles, the villain getting his quietus through the medium of a plain democratic punch on the jaw. "The Struggle" tells a story of real life with its varying lights and shadows and reminds one of a fact that is fully realized by the management of the Merrimack Square theatre. The offering for this week is only one of the long series of successes which has characterized the regular bills at this playhouse, and will continue in the future. The Seven New York Hippodrome Lions, directed from a long and successful run at the metropolis. Our Stock company, Melvin and Thatcher, Ah Ling Foo are some of the bright features. two husband for his daughter without her knowledge or consent and who turns his daughter from his home upon her refusal to carry out his wishes. This part is played by Mr. Chas. Stevens whose cleverness as a character actor is well known to the patrons of the Hathaway. Mr. Meek is seen in a pleasing comedy role. Elaborate preparations are being made for next week's production of the sterling comedy, "Our New Minister" which scored such a tremendous hit upon its last presentation in this city. Mr. Meek who is directing the presentation of the play is giving its requirements special attention and it will be one of the biggest productions thus far this season.

FOUND IN CELLAR

Starved Man Died After Removal to Hospital

LYNN, Nov. 24.—Starvation and old age are given as the cause of the death early yesterday in Lynn hospital of Peter McCall, a wealthy hermit, whose home was at 46 Wardwell avenue.

Wednesday noon McCall was found by Miss Anna McCall, his niece and neighbor, in a helpless condition at the foot of a flight of cellar stairs in his home, gasping for want of water and food. His non appearance about the yard of his home during the two days previous led the neighbors to become anxious and start an investigation.

They were unable to gain entrance to the house by the front or rear doors. Then they called the 83-year old man. Their answer came faintly from the cellar. He said he would let them in. After an anxious period of waiting at the rear door, the niece again called to her uncle and he told her to enter by way of her bulkhead.

As she stepped into the cellar she found the aged man lying in a heap at the foot of the stairs, unable to move. It is supposed that he fell there sometime Sunday evening while looking up for the night and had lain there, unable to summon help, nearly 60 hours.

Wednesday afternoon he was conveyed to the Lynn hospital where it was found that in the fall Mr. McCall had sustained injuries to his back and spine, which had completely crippled him.

McCall had lived alone 10 years. Although he seldom mixed with his neighbors he was well liked. He came from Ireland about 1848.

He leaves two nephews, the Rev. Michael J. McCall of St. Joseph's church, Salem, and the Rev. Peter McCall of Hingham, also several distant relatives in Boston suburbs.

CAUGHT IN GALE

SLOOP DRIVEN INTO A REEF AND FOUND

MACHIASPORT, Me., Nov. 24.—The sloop Bertha B. in which Lee Libby left Winter Harbor before the gale of Nov. 12 for this port with a load of lobster feed and has not since been seen, has been raised in Flint Island passage, where she was lost, but Libby's body was not found. It was supposed the sloop took the gale while anchored at Flint Narrows, was driven onto a reef and foundered, saving her tender and having her horses washed clear of the deck. Captain Libby was the sole occupant of the sloop and probably was washed overboard while endeavoring to save his craft. Libby was 50 years old and leaves a widow and four children.

ANITA CAMPERS

HELD DANCING PARTY AT PAW-TUCKET BOAT HOUSE

The Pawtucket boat house was last night the scene of a pretty gathering, the affair being a social and dance by the Anita Campers, an organization composed of well known young men whose headquarters are at Mountain Rock, where they own a beautiful camp.

Clark's orchestra furnished music for the occasion and a varied dance order was rendered preceded by a charming concert.

The officers of the dance were: Joseph Chouinard, general manager; Miss Jennie Payette, assistant general manager; Adair Payette, floor director; Miss Bertha Payette, assistant floor director; Amalie Duval, chief aid; Adolphe Brassard and Wilfred Robillard, assistant chief aids; Edmond Matte, treasurer; aids, M. Lavallee, E. Dumont, J. Payette, L. Lavallee, B. Pontaine, W. Robillard, A. Brassard, J. Pavreau, J. Malte, A. Cantin and T. Leblanc.

SAM WALTER FOSS CLUB ENTERTAINS FAMILIES

The members of the Sam Walter Foss literary club entertained their families at Highland hall, Wednesday evening. A 7 o'clock banquet was served. The tables were cleared away, a fine program was presented, which included: Songs, by Mr. Walter Bruce; readings by Mrs. Chas. Lovejoy; remarks by Rev. Dr. Wood, who, with Mrs. Wood, were guests of the club for the evening. An orchestra consisting of Mrs. W. H. Downs, violin; Miss Grace May, piano; and Mrs. Frank Hadley, piano, rendered some fine music during the supper hour, also later in the program.

The hall and tables were beautifully decorated, the work of Mrs. Albert French, chairman; Mrs. Frank Cheney, Mrs. W. H. Upham, Mrs. Harry Cady and Mr. C. E. Doty.

WAR PICTURES

EVENING

An exhibition of Civil war paintings executed by Paul Philippoteaux, one of the greatest of modern French artists and painter of the famous picture, "The Battle of Gettysburg," was given in the Armory last evening under the auspices of Company C, Sixth regiment. The paintings, each of which is 28 feet by 18, were arranged along the wall.

Among the subjects shown are: Battle of Belmont, Battle of Fort Donelson, Battle of Shiloh, Battle of Robinsville, Battle of Corinth, Surrender at Vicksburg, Lee's Surrender, Inauguration, Bay of Naples, Oriental Market Scene, Water Carriers of the Nile, On the Road to Siberia, Scene at North Cape and Congress of Nations.

The exhibition lasted from 8 to 9 o'clock and during that time war time melodies were played by Miner's orchestra.

A LINEN SHOWER

A linen shower was tendered Miss Mabelle Rogers at the home of Miss Elizabeth Sharkey, 224 Concord street, Wednesday evening, by friends who wished her happiness in the new sphere which she is about to enter. Those who entertained were the following: Piano selections, by Mr. Richard Carlin, Master John Sharkey, Misses May and Margaret O'Brien and Loretta Rogers; songs, by the Misses Lillian Shea, Madeline Bolan, Benoit, Mary Kelly, Elizabeth Sharkey and the Misses Mabelle and Emma Rogers. A buffet luncheon was served and the party came to a close at a most enjoyable evening.

The Heinze Electric company of this city opened a branch office at Detroit, Mich., this week with Mr. Pierre J. Legare, brother of Postmaster Joseph A. Legare, in charge. Pierre Legare has been connected with the Heinze company for several years and inasmuch as he is conversant with the business there is no doubt but that he will be able to build up a big western trade.

Bronchitis Cured

MISS MAE RODGERS

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is invaluable for all throat and lung troubles. It gets at the cause and cures—gives permanent, not temporary, relief. The experience of Miss Rodgers is an example of its marvelous remedial qualities.

"For some time I was a sufferer from bronchitis and spent a great deal of money doctoring, until I heard through a friend of the wonderful merits of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey."

"Early in the fall I began taking it and since then have been entirely free from the bronchial attack. I consider it my duty to thank you but I have not enough words to say in praise of this wonderful Pure Malt Whiskey as a medicine that is good for every one."

—Miss Mae Rodgers, 202 S. Grove St., East Orange, N. J.

has to its credit fifty years of success without a question as to its merits as a curative agent. It cures all weak-ness, wasting and run-down conditions of the body, brain and muscles, giving the system power to throw off and resist colds, coughs, grip, catarrh, bronchitis and asthma and it is a wonderful remedy in the prevention and cure of consumption, pneumonia, stomach troubles, malaria and low fevers, taken as directed. Prescribed by doctors and recognized as a family medicine everywhere.

Sold by druggists, grocers and dealers in sealed bottles, price $1.00. If you can't procure it, let us know and we will tell you how to obtain it. Write for free doctors' advice and book of recipes for all ailments.

The Heinze company is now preparing for its exhibits at the automobile shows in New York, Chicago and Boston this spring as well as at the motor and engine show to be held in New York in February. It is expected that the company will have a number of new appliances to exhibit at the different shows, the principal one being that of a high tension magnet, up to the present time the Heinze company has made a specialty of low tension magnets, but the demand for the high tension has caused the experts in the employ of the company to turn their attention toward the high tension magnets.

Parish Reunion
The members of the Sacred Heart parish are making monster preparations for the parish reunion which is to be held in the school hall in Moore street on November 28 and 30 and December 1 and 2. Considerable enthusiasm is being displayed, especially among the women of the parish, and it is expected that the reunion will be one of the most successful affairs ever conducted by the parish.

New Buildings
That section of the city in the vicinity of upper Lawrence street known as the Grove is being built up very rapidly, many new structures being under the course of construction at the present time. The large building at the corner of Lawrence and South Whipple streets belonging to Mr. Crockett is rapidly nearing completion and the new three tenement flat which is being erected at the corner of Agawam and Griffin streets by Patrolman Patrick J. Conroy is well under way. The building which occupied the site of the new structure has been moved to the adjoining lot on Griffin street.

In Wretched Condition
Traffic through Lawrence street between Watson and South Whipple streets is greatly discommoded owing to the condition of the street, though after the many improvements now under way have been made the street will be put in a better condition than it was before the improvements were started.

That portion of the street where the new bridge was put in is in wretched shape, inasmuch as the street has not been repaved and the electric car tracks are higher than the roadway it is dangerous for traffic. The sidewalk on the east side of the street has not as yet been put back into its former condition, and pedestrians, especially on rainy days, find it very inconvenient walking.

In the vicinity of the firehouse, one side of the street is blocked by the work on the sewer and it is necessary for those who use the electric cars to change at the corner of Agawam and Lawrence streets and walk several hundred yards to the cars at the other end of the sewer.

THE CHURCH DEBT

Presbyterians Hold Bazaar to Reduce It

A bazaar, the proceeds of which will be used to reduce the church debt, opened last night at the First Presbyterian church in Appleton street. There was a large audience present at the opening and the sales tables or booths told a rushing business.

The candy booth was in charge of one of the classes of girls in the Sunday school, and the chairman was Miss Bell, their Sunday school teacher. The other members of the committee were Misses Jessie Buchanan, Bessie Scott, Amelia Holmes, Jennie McDowell, Maude Torpin, Mary Butcher, Mary McCoy, Jennie McFadden, Ethel Barris and May Blakeley.

The needlework booth was in charge of the Norman club, the chairman being Mrs. J. M. Craig, and her assistants, Misses Alice Ramsey, Mattie Macdonald, Cora Harris, Grace Barris, Agnes McCord, Charlotte Buchanan, Margaret Taylor, Emily Winders, Violet Russell, Abby Hitchins, Barbara Hitchins and Jennie Ray.

A booth that was a veritable grocery store was in charge of the boys in Miss Russell's Sunday school class. The members in charge are J. B. Caddell, chairman; H. R. Dick, J. A. Taylor, William Caddell, James A. Finley, Gray, Bob Green, David McNaughty and others of the class.

The apron booth was under the auspices of the Willing Hand society. The chairman of this booth committee is Mrs. S. T. Farrell and her assistants are Mrs. Frank George, Mrs. Thomas Lees and Mrs. Thomas Sutherland.

There was also a tea parlor where tea and chocolate with genuine Scotch old-fashioned oatmeal cakes were served; also fancy cakes if one desired.

The committee in charge of this booth was: Mrs. John McDonald, the chairman; Mrs. Paul McDonald and Mrs. John Griffin, and they were assisted by Miss Florence Ramsey and Miss Louise Gemmel. They also had for sale many handkerchiefs and sorts of Scotch and Irish teas.

A class of boys had a "bucket shop," where one was given three rubber balls to throw into three buckets placed at the end of an alley about 20 feet in length. The boys in charge were Bernard J. Kirk, Robert Buchanan, David Rooney and Lewis Daniels.

The ice cream booth was in charge of the C. E. club. The chairman was Hugh Rooney and the others on his committee were Norman Scott, Adam McOuley, Donald McOuley, Magnus Sutherland and William Jamison. At 8 o'clock a play was given by the young people of the Partickel Congregational church. The play was entitled "Mrs. Oakley's Telephone," in which the role of Mrs. Oakley, a bride, was played by Mrs. A. S. Parker; Constance, her friend, Mrs. L. A. Ayer; Mary, the cook, Miss Cora Cummings; and Emma, the maid, Miss Grace Mansfield.

LOWELL CHORAL SOCIETY
The Lowell Choral society held a rehearsal last night at the Y. M. C. A. hall in Hurd street. The organization shows great improvement in each succeeding rehearsal and the members are very enthusiastic over the concert which is to be given on Jan. 23.

The directors met at the conclusion of the rehearsal and voted to engage a number of exceptional soloists for the concert, the names to be given "out later. Effort has been made by a number of members to bring in necessary members, and this has proven so successful that the number now is very large.

CONGRESS

Photographs of Champ Clark, Henry D. Clayton, Robert M. La Follette, senate office building and United States Capitol copyright by American Press Association.

By CHARLES N. LURIE.

NOT in lightness of heart or elevation of spirits does the Sixty-second congress of the United States assemble in Washington on the first Monday of December this year for the first regular session of the Sixty-second congress. There are several grave and pressing matters to fill the minds of the members, and before them looms the shadow, cast before, of 1912.

Well or ill as the senators or representatives act in the coming months of the session, they will be blessed or cursed in the campaign of next year, in which a president will be made—or, perhaps, unmade. The acts of the present session will figure very prominently in the pages of the campaign text books, in the editorial columns and in the stump speeches. It behooves the lawmakers to look sharp to their deeds and utterances. By such will they and their parties be judged when the great decision is made in the coming summer and fall months. It is no wonder that the furrows of care are already discernible on the brows of the statesmen gathered under the big dome.

That much for the general situation in Washington. Of specific questions to be acted upon there is no lack, although their importance, individual and collective, exceeds their quantity. In other words, the important subjects to be considered are not numerous, but they are weighty. Among them are the revision of the tariff, monetary reform, international arbitration and the ever present trust question. The last named has been brought into prominence by the nation wide discussion of the Sherman law and the suits against the big corporations. The steel trust and the sugar trust have been investigated by congressional committees.

The Tariff Revision Question.

First in order to be laid before the house of representatives (in which, according to the constitution, all measures for the raising of revenue for the government must originate) is the tariff. The tariff board appointed by President Taft in 1909 in accordance with the act authorizing him "to employ such persons as may be required to secure information to assist the president in the discharge of the duties imposed on him by this action [section 2 of the tariff act of 1909] and the officers of the government in the administration of the customs laws," has ended its labors so far as the wool and cotton schedules are concerned and has completed its report to the president. Its head is Professor Henry C. Emery, professor of political economy in Yale university.

Of course the text of the report or reports has not been divulged in advance of submission to congress, but it is known that the documents are exhaustive and contain a great mass of information covering the two industries. It will be recalled that President Taft vetoed three tariff bills—the wool, cotton and farmers' free list measures—the work of the special session called to consider the subject of reciprocity with Canada, on the ground that he had received no information from the tariff board in regard to the schedules involved, which are some of the most important of them all.

1.—Opening of house of representatives. 2.—Champ Clark. 3.—Oscar W. Underwood. 4.—James R. Mann. 5.—Henry D. Clayton. 6.—Senate office building. 7.—Robert M. La Follette. 8.—The Capitol.

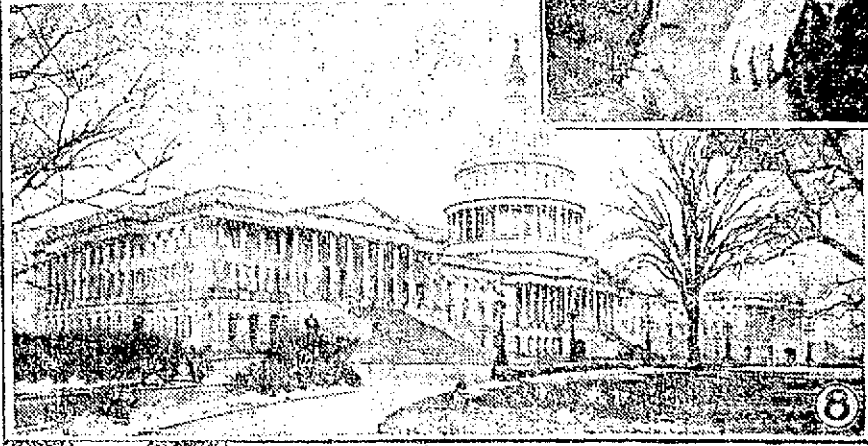

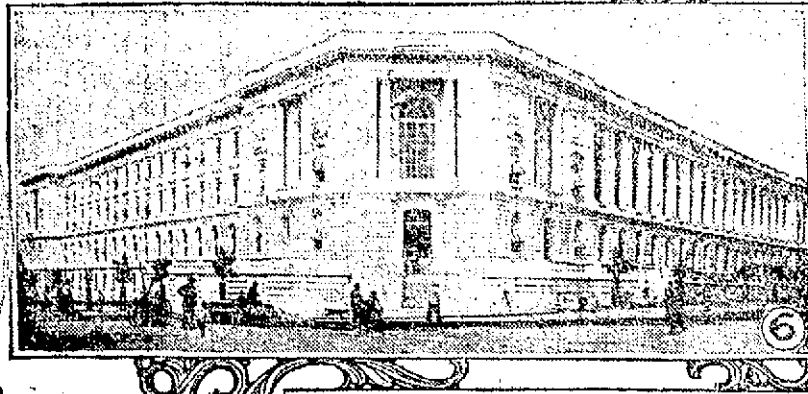

The house is Democratic, the senate is Republican—at least nominally, for no man knows just how some of the men in the upper national house classify themselves. It is fairly certain that the house will not send to the senate a bill providing for a general revision of the tariff, but will attempt to attain the same end by means of a series of bills, each revising a separate schedule. The policy will be fought by the standpatters, the conservative Republicans, in both houses. They have already raised the cry of "no tinkering with the tariff," asserting the danger to business of long continued agitation.

View of a Protectionist.

One of their spokesmen said recently: "If another revision of the tariff must come it should come in the shape of a general tariff bill framed with just regard to the interdependence of the producing interests and with such an adjustment of rates and schedules as shall secure uniformity, consistency and fair play. If the country wants more tariff revision and if it wants that revision to be in the direction of free trade the country has the right to have and the power to compel the enactment of such a tariff. If, on the contrary, the country wants a tariff that shall be adequately protective of all forms of American labor and industry the country will say so and get that kind of a tariff. In any case the country should decide this question as a whole and not in chunks. This is the only safe and sensible and equitable way of settling the tariff question."

The Democratic attitude is simply

Their viewpoint is well illustrated by the statement made a few days ago by the head of one of the big manufacturing companies that has been attacked savagely. He said:

"The Sherman law is now twenty-one years old. During the greater part of its life its vast potentialities for good or harm seem to have been forgotten alike by the corporations and the government. The twenty-one years that have elapsed have witnessed revolutionary changes in the underlying business conditions of the United States. It ought not to be too much to ask of the American congress to urge it to recognize in some new, precise and effective legislation that the country and the world have moved."

Sherman Law Upheld by Democrats.

Such is the view of a critic of the Sherman anti-trust law who holds, with others, that the decision of the supreme court, reading the word "reasonable" into the act to precede the words "restraint of trade" has not made it entirely clear how much combination or which form of combination is permitted or prohibited by the law. But it is an interesting fact that the Sherman law, fathered by old John Sherman, one of the staunchest Republicans of his day, and passed by a Republican congress, now finds some of its strongest and ablest defenders among the Democratic members of the senate and the house of representatives. One of them is Speaker Champ Clark.

The currency reform matter, brought to the attention of the country by the national monetary commission, headed by former Senator Aldrich, will engross the attention of our serious minded lawmakers.

But after all, this session will probably be one of personalities rather than of measures in the opinions of many close observers of men and affairs in the national capital. The presidential bees are buzzing loudly on both sides, but more numerous, it should be said, in all fairness, on the Democratic than on the Republican side of the two chambers. That may be due, in part, to the fact that there is a Republican in the White House now, and open aspiration to the honor of nomination might savor somewhat of disloyalty to the nominal chief of the party. In the senate there is La Follette of Wisconsin, one of the progressives' leaders, recently endorsed for the presidency in a convention of the men who see a breakup in the Republican ranks. In the lower house one of the most conspicuous Republicans is James R. Mann of Illinois, the floor leader of the minority and one of the ablest parliamentarians that have ever sat in the historic chamber.

Three Influential Democrats.

On the Democratic side there is Champ Clark, who sits in the "seat of the mighty," the speaker's chair, that was shorn of some of its power in order to curb Uncle Joe Cannon. Working with him on the floor are his two influential Alabamian colleagues, Henry D. Clayton and Oscar W. Underwood, the latter of whom might be said to be looming in Democratic councils, if the word looming were not somewhat out of date. But Underwood is a big figure, nevertheless, in his own quiet, efficient way, and there are men on both sides who say that if the Democratic nomination goes to a southerner next year it will go as far south as the gulf state in which the Democratic floor spokesman has his home. But that is a question on which the proceedings of the Sixty-second congress, second session, will have an important bearing.

SOVEREIGNS, PRINCES, ELEPHANTS AND GEMS AT DURBAR

MAKING FLAGS, FIREWORKS AND SOUVENIRS FOR THE DURBAR.

FOR thousands of years India has had its durbars of varying degrees of magnificence. Nine years ago its record for splendor was surpassed when the formal assumption of the crown of Hindustan by Edward VII was proclaimed in Delhi. But the durbar which is now engrossing the attention of India's three hundred millions of persons is the first the seat of the grand moguls and the scene of much Indian history, but in Calcutta, the modern capital of the country, a chorus of protest arose from Ceylon to Cashmere. Unchanging oriental India would not hear of the transfer, which amounted, in its tradition weighted mind, almost to sacrilege. In Delhi all the durbars had been held and in Delhi should be this one, the greatest of them all. Great Britain, rendered wise in its estimate of the Indian mind by centuries of experience, yielded the point.

It is to Delhi, then, that King George and Queen Mary have gone with their suits, setting out from England in the steamship Medina, converted into a royal yacht. In India they will travel in special trains and in automobiles. Especially built for durbar use, at Delhi have concentrated the long trains of the semi-independent and tributary princes, each with his host of retainers, clad in the kaleidoscopic colors which delighted the eyes of Britons and foreigners at the coronation of King George. And in Delhi have been gathered also the hordes of burden bearing elephants which play so important a part. By the size of the elephant which you ride are you judged if you are an Indian prince at the durbar.

The durbar is the solemn, stately assumption by a sovereign prince of India of his dignity as head of his house. Every one of the great lords of India, such as the Maharajah of Mysore, the Nizam of Hyderabad, the Maharajah of Baroda, etc., has his durbar, or similar ceremony. But the greatest of all durbars is the proclamation of the king of Great Britain and Ireland as emperor of India. Queen Victoria was the first British sovereign to assume the crown of India. In 1877, on New Year's day, 1877, the proclamation of Victoria as empress of India was made at Calcutta, Madras and Bombay, but the scene of the chief ceremony was in Delhi. The features of the durbar then, as were those of the ceremony in 1903 when King Edward was proclaimed, are virtually those of the present durbar. A great assembly of native princes, nobles and gentry, with a great concourse of other folk, the massing of the military as symbolical of British might in India, the ascension of the throne by the viceroy (in the present case by the sovereign himself), the sounding of trumpets, the reading of the proclamation and the firing of salves of artillery. These are the formal, official features of the durbar. There are others of a more social nature.

King George and Queen Mary are the first British sovereigns to visit India and receive in person the homage of their Indian subjects, although King Edward and King George both visited India as Princes of Wales.

A great camp city has been built near Delhi for the accommodation and housing of the throngs at the durbar. Naturally, the durbar in Delhi is a far less exclusive function than the coronation in Westminster Abbey, and there will be many American and foreign visitors in Delhi. It is estimated that nearly a quarter of a million persons will be assembled in Delhi by Dec. 12, when the festivities begin. On Dec. 14 comes the investiture, and in January a great court will be held in Calcutta.

No feature of the durbar has attracted more attention and received more advance notice than the great display of jewels that will be made by the very wealthy Indian princes. Some of the most famous diamonds, pearls, rubies, etc., in the world are owned in India, and they will be displayed for the behoof of the onlooker and the envy of rivals. King George and Queen Mary are taking the crown jewels, including the Kohinoor.

ARTHUR J. BRINTON.

ECHO OF GETTYSBURG AFTER NEARLY HALF A CENTURY

ALMOST fifty years after the last shot was fired in the frightful carnage of the three days' battle at Gettysburg, the greatest battle ever fought on American soil, the echoes of the battle are still rolling still. They were heard loudly a few days ago, when the Loyal Legion rejected the name of Major General Daniel E. Sickles, United States army, retired, on the ground that the criticisms of his conduct at Gettysburg were justified by the facts.

For forty-eight years the Meade-Sickles controversy has afforded material for the writers of history. One of the principals passed away almost forty years ago, the other is an old man, one of the three surviving corps commanders of the Union armies, and certain, despite his vigor of mind and body, soon to take his place with his fathers. But the questions involving these two men are hinged upon matters of individual judgment, and as such they are immortal. As long as men talk and write about the titanic struggle at Gettysburg, with opportunity for the expression of opinion upon men and measures, so long will they range themselves upon the side either of the commander of the Union army at Gettysburg, George Gordon Meade, or the commander of the third corps (until he received the wound which cost him a leg), Daniel Edgar Sickles.

The dispute concerns the defense of the left of the Union line at Gettysburg from the attack by Longstreet and Lee. Geary's division of the twelfth corps had been ordered by Meade, for reasons of military exigency, to take up a position at Little Round Top. This was on the first day of the battle. The division remained there until the following day, when it was withdrawn to rejoin its corps, the twelfth, on the right of the Union line. Sickles was then ordered to occupy the ground formerly held by Geary, but, being dissatisfied with the position, moved to the front about three-fourths of a mile, remaining there until, later in the day, after heavy fighting and great losses, the corps was driven back to the main line by Longstreet's attack. It is admitted by General Meade's defenders that the orders to Sickles were vague, but they assert also that Sickles was slow in obeying orders and that his delay was responsible for much loss of life.

The revival of this historic dispute, one of the bitterest growing out of the great war is another chapter in the history of a long life marked by the attainment of high honors, but also by disappointments and troubles. General Sickles was born in New York city Oct. 30, 1825. As far back as 1851 he was prominent in public life, being a member of the convention which nominated Franklin Pierce for the presidency. In the life of New York city he was a conspicuous figure for very many years. As corporation attorney he drew up the bill authorizing the extension of Central park, which has been a possession of the city since 1857. In 1853 he held federal office as secretary of legation in London. He spent several years in the diplomatic service.

General Sickles entered the Union service as colonel of the Seventeenth New York infantry in June, 1861, and war effaced it from the public mind. This was his shooting in a Washington street of Philip Barton Key, United States attorney of the District of Columbia, whom Sickles accused of guilty conduct with his wife. Sickles was a member of the house of representatives at the time. He was indicted on the charge of murder, tried and acquitted, the trial lasting twenty days. The affair made a tremendous sensation at the time owing to the high standing of the persons involved. Key was the son of Francis Scott Key, author of the left the army in 1869 as major general on the retired list. In 1897 he received the congressional medal of honor "for most distinguished gallantry in action at Gettysburg, July 2, 1863, displayed on the field of battle before and after the loss of his leg while commanding the third army corps."

On Feb. 27, 1869, occurred the event which overshadowed the life of Sickles until the rapidly moving tragedy of the

"Star Spangled Banner," and a member of a prominent Maryland family. The future general forgave his wife fully, and they were reconciled. Three years after the shooting she died in retirement. In 1871 General Sickles was married again to a young Spanish woman, but the marriage proved an unhappy one and the couple did not see each other for many years until they met recently.

AMBASSADOR BRYCE

May Succeed Sir Edward Grey in British Foreign Office

LONDON, Nov. 24.—The belief prevails in political circles that Sir Edward Grey, secretary for foreign affairs, will retire from the cabinet after his eagerly awaited exposition on foreign relations on Nov. 27 in the house of commons, and that Rt. Hon. James Bryce, ambassador to the United States, will succeed him.

The resignation of the foreign secretary will almost certainly be handed to the prime minister should any lack of confidence be shown in his policy during the debate which will follow his statement on Monday.

Sir Edward Grey, who during the earlier years of his occupancy of the foreign office had the almost unanimous support of all parties, has recently been the object of continuous attack, not only by the opposition, but in his own party, or rather the extreme radical element in that party.

The secretary with which diplomatic negotiations have been carried on has aroused the ire of the radicals, who lately have received some support from the more moderate liberals.

The disclosures regarding the Anglo-Moroccan conversations with respect to Morocco and the statement that these two countries were on the verge of war have given the radicals another opening.

Other Resignations
Now it is understood they are pressing for the retirement of Sir Edward, and declaring: "We won't be drawn into war without knowing the reason why."

The radicals favor an Anglo-German understanding and accuse Sir Edward of balking their efforts in this direction either by his own design or through the influence of anti-German officials in the foreign office.

Should Sir Edward resign, Viscount Haldane, secretary of war, and Reginald McKenna, the home secretary, will probably follow him.

James Bryce is the man thought most likely to be his successor, because Mr. Bryce would be supported by the entire party, as he was when the Unionists attacked him for the part he took in the negotiations on the subject of reciprocity between Canada and the United States.

Some Impending Troubles
By a tacit understanding the Unionist leaders support the government's foreign policy, or at least refrain from criticizing it. They, like the moderate liberals, argue, Why turn a brilliant diplomatic victory into defeat by sacrificing the victor in order to secure the good will of vanquished Germans?

The lobby is full of rumors of other troubles besetting the government. It is said in Unionist quarters that the cabinet is not able to satisfy John Redmond's home rule demands, which have increased owing to fear of the growing O'Brien strength in Ireland.

The laborites are dissatisfied with the findings of the royal commission last August with respect to the railway strike. They blame the cabinet for failure to secure recognition for the unions.

The prime minister, it is true, is under moral obligation to avoid a crisis during the king's absence, but it may be beyond his power to do so.

BURGLARS AT WORK

They Crossed "Dead Line" in New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Burglars for the first time in recent years crossed the famous "Dead Line" and entered two jewelry establishments Wednesday night on early yesterday. With skeleton keys they opened doors to the shops of Theise & Co. and Sheff & Kantor, on the 11th floor of No. 49 Maiden lane.

Detectives are trying to figure out who the audacious culprits were and what became of them.

The burglars got nothing for their trouble, and it is thought by the Wall Street Detective bureau they were scared away before they had a chance to break open the office safes, in which the jewelry was stored.

The two jewelry establishments are situated on a turn in a corridor leading from the elevator shaft.

Sheff & Kantor has $25,000 worth of gems in their safe, while in the Theise safe was almost as valuable a stock. Both firms had taken in an extra supply of gems for the Christmas trade.

When the two offices were opened yesterday morning, evidence of the invasion was discovered. From the appearance of the burglars' tools in the office of Sheff & Kantor, it was plain the Theises establishment was entered first. The burglars used jimmyes on the doors in both establishments. In leaving they dropped a jimmy which was found beside the Sheff & Kantor safe.

The night watchman made the rounds of the building several times during the night. Yet he heard no unusual noise. The police theory is that some one familiar with the offices is responsible for the burglary plot.

THREE CONVICTED

Men Charged With Conspiracy to Defraud

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—George Schuchman, a wagon builder, of No. 332 East Forty-first street; George Reinemann, of No. 20 W. Thirtieth street, and Frank J. Kelsey, of No. 26 Shore avenue, Union Corners, Staten Island, were convicted before Justices Zeller, Moss and Slenner yesterday on a charge of conspiracy to defraud.

The complaint, presented by George Gordon Battle on behalf of James A. Hearn & Son, of West Fourteenth street, charged that the firm has been swindled out of $40,000 in the past four years.

The evidence tended to show that Reinemann and Kelsey, former employees of Hearn & Son, conspired with Schuchman to charge the firm for work which had never been performed and to charge excessively for work which had been done by Schuchman.

The chief witness was John J. Filero, a former employee of Schuchman, who testified that Kelsey and Reinemann, who had charge of the outdoor equipment of Hearn & Son, frequently sent wagons to Schuchman's shop for repairs when no repairs were needed, and that he had seen Schuchman paid bills for repairs.

Acting upon information given by Filero, Hearn & Son dismissed Kelsey and Reinemann and placed Filero in charge of the outdoor department.

After conviction on the conspiracy charge, Schuchman, Kelsey and Reinemann pleaded guilty to violating the anti-tipping section of the Penal Laws.

The defendants were remanded to the Tombs to await sentence.

ADMITTED KILLING

To Save Boy Witness From Going on Stand

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Rather than have his eight-year-old grandson go on the witness stand and testify against him, Harry Ingham, 63 years old, a well-to-do farmer of Milwood, who killed his wife on May 22, during the middle of his trial for murder in the first degree yesterday, at White Plains, suddenly told his lawyer to enter a plea of guilty of murder in the second degree. Asst. Dist. Atty. Davis accepted the plea, as he said he believed the ends of justice would be accomplished by having the aged prisoner confined in prison for the balance of his life.

Bowed down with grief and anguish he has suffered since he shot his wife, while he was intoxicated, Ingham was a picture of misery. The plea caused surprise to the spectators, and many bowed their heads as the white haired murderer faced Supreme Court Justice Tompkins, who sentenced him to Sing Sing for the remainder of his life.

MADONNA PAINTING

STOLEN FROM FLORENCE HAS BEEN RECOVERED BY POLICE

FLORENCE, Nov. 24.—Fra Angelico's painting, Madonna Della Stella, which was stolen last Sunday night from the monastery of San Marco, now used as a museum, has been recovered by the police, according to the authorities. Beyond the statement that the work was discovered, no other particulars of the recovery have been given.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. George Clifford Dunn and Miss Gertrude Melvina McQuesten were united in marriage Wednesday night, the ceremony being performed at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. John McQuesten, 89 Washington street, by Rev. Arthur P. Wedge, assisted by Rev. Theodore L. Frost, D. D., of the Worthen Street Baptist church, the double ring service being used. The best man was Mr. Harry Lawrence Wheeler. The bride was escorted by her brother, Mr. Albert W. McQuesten, and attended by her niece, Miss Alberta McQuesten.

Mr. and Mrs. Dunn are enjoying a wedding tour to New York and Washington, and they will be at home, 89 Washington street, after Feb. 1.

SEVERAL CHANGES

TO BE MADE IN U. OF P. FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 24.—The University of Pennsylvania will make several changes in her football schedule for next year in an effort to get a more attractive program. It will not be possible to obtain a game with any member of the Yale-Harvard-Princeton triumvirate, but Dartmouth will probably be added as a drawing card.

for the latter part of the season. This game with the fixtures against Cornell and Michigan will constitute the climax of the schedule, which will be introduced by a series of carefully graded games against lesser opponents.

BEATTIE ADMITS GUILT

with a stethoscope had listened for another faint beating of the heart that for less than sixty seconds ago had lived. He stepped back and said:

"He is dead."

Beattie passed a fairly peaceful night, although his sleep was broken. When he awoke this morning he dressed with his usual care and ate sparingly. He did not appear either nervous or apprehensive.

During the reading of the death warrant, the doomed man maintained his composure.

When the deputy wardens fell in on either side of him he bowed his head a moment.

"I am ready, gentlemen," he said simply and the death march was begun.

Just before Supt. Wood and his men appeared, Rev. Mr. F. K. Kneel in prayer with the condemned man. He prayed for divine forgiveness for him and for the family of the deceased.

No member of the Beattie family was present at the execution nor at the penitentiary when the death march was begun.

"After the execution the body of Beattie was removed from the chair and taken to the mortuary room and placed in a casket. It was left there until the coming of the coroner, who arrived shortly afterwards.

There is some doubt as to just where Beattie will be buried. It was thought by the Beattie family that the body would be buried in the family plot in the cemetery, South Richmond. The family, it is said, had planned to place the husband as near as could be done to the body of his murdered wife.

But no permit for the burial has yet been issued by the trustees of the cemetery. This may or may not be an oversight, but none of the officials of the cemetery association would discuss it today. The city ordinance forbids the interment of the bodies of executed criminals in city cemeteries, but Councilman Patrick, a friend of the Beattie family, put through the city council a special permit suspending the ordinance in the case of young Beattie.

That the cemetery association does not recognize the right of the council to take this action is suggested by the fact that so far no steps have been taken to prepare the grave.

Beattie's death was instantaneous, according to the prison surgeon. In his home in South Richmond Beattie's father, surrounded by his other son, Douglas, his daughter Hazel and two aunts of the condemned man, awaited word that all was over.

The Richmond afternoon papers appeared on the street soon after the execution with full details and it became evident that the Virginia statute forbidding the publication of details of an execution was being entirely disregarded or at least badly stretched throughout the state. The statute contains no provision for penalty in case of violation.

BEATTIE FAMILY CONSENTS

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 24.—The Beattie family has consented to allow the Rev. Benjamin Dennis to make public the statement which Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., gave to the preacher before his death. Douglas Beattie says the statement is very brief. He refuses to indicate if it is in the nature of a confession. Luther Scheper, the detective who built up the case around Beattie, declares it is an admission of guilt.

TO CARE FOR BEATTIE BABY

DOVER, Del., Nov. 24.—The execution of Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., today found the Owen family going about their usual routine as though no tragedy had ever entered their quiet lives. R. G. Owens, the father of Beattie's murdered wife, who is the manager of a large plant in this city, was at work when the news that the law had taken his son-in-law's life was flashed to him.

"I thank you for the news, but I have nothing to say."

But he would talk about the baby, the six months old son, now an orphan. "My wife," he said, "was naturally much wrought up after the death of our daughter, and our doctor told us it would be better for her to care for the child and relieve her mind. We brought the baby to Dover and it is with us now. We will keep it and raise it."

BEATTIE'S CRIME

ONE OF THE MOST SENSATIONAL IN VIRGINIA'S HISTORY

RICHMOND, Va., November 24.—The crime for which Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., was executed today was one of the most sensational in the criminal history of Virginia. Interest in the murder was country-wide owing to its unusual features and the swift movement of justice.

On the night of July 19 last, Beattie drove his automobile into Richmond, carrying with him the body of his wife which had a gaping shot wound in the head. He declared that a tall bearded man had accosted him on the Middlethian turnpike, five miles from Richmond and when he had requested the man to make room for him in the road the stranger, without warning, had fired the shot which killed Mrs. Beattie. He added that he had grappled with the man, but was overpowered, and that the murderer had fled leaving the gun behind. This story of the crime was maintained by Beattie to the end.

For a brief time Beattie's story was given some degree of credence, but within a day or two suspicion began to point to him and he was kept under closest surveillance. Bloodhounds, taken to the scene of the crime, refused to leave the place, circling around the bloodspot on the road.

Beattie, it eventually transpired, had thrown the shotgun into the tonneau of his automobile after the shooting, but in passing over some railroad tracks not far from the scene it had been jolted out and was picked up later by a negro. This gun, which Beattie alleged had belonged to the mysterious highwayman, proved the means of sending the young man to the electric chair.

At the coroner's inquest the weapon was identified by Paul Beattie, a second cousin of young Henry, as the weapon he had purchased for Henry with money furnished by the latter. Beattie was arrested immediately after the inquest. This was on July 21, and on August 19, one month after the day of the murder, the trial was begun before Judge Walter A. Watson, in the picturesque little Chesterfield county courthouse, sixteen miles from here.

The jury was made up almost entirely of farmers, and on this fact Beattie based his claim that he had been convicted, not for the murder of his wife, but because of his relations with Teulah Binford, a notorious young woman. He insisted to the last that a jury of city men would have freed him. Beattie was defended by H. M. Smith, Jr., and Hill Carter. The prosecution was conducted by L. O. Wendenburg and L. M. Gregory.

The trial moved swiftly, though many witnesses testified, and on September 8, after 55 minutes of consideration and prayer, the jury in chorus, instead of through the foreman, declared Beattie to be guilty of the murder of his wife. Motion for a new trial was denied and November 24 set as the day for the execution.

On November 13 the Virginia supreme court of appeals refused to grant an appeal on a writ of error, and two days later Governor Mann, who had been appealed to for commutation or reprieve, issued a statement declaring that the interests of the people of Virginia demanded that Beattie should die in the electric chair.
